DAYS FLY FAST ABOARD CRUISE LINER TO HAWAII

What do you do on a ship all day? Sit around in a deck chair with a good book, waiting for the next meal to be announced?

Not likely. At least not aboard this luxury liner. Of course, the fact that you're bound for the happy, colorful port of Honolulu has a lot to do with the prevailing party spirit. (As you're sure to discover if you accompany the Suburbia Sea Party tour, sponsored by this newspaper this spring.)

Outlining the day's shipboard activities each morning is "The Polynesian," the ship's newspaper, which also reports important world news, compiled by radio and edited by the chief purser.

The listing of activities generally covers at least 32 different events, running from 7 a.m. (early riser's coffee) right through to midnight (dancing).

On your mid-morning promenade, you're bound to encounter a steward with clip board in hand, selling tickets for the daily mileage pool. A day's run on a ship is measured from noon to noon. You win if the number you choose happens to be the last digit in the mileage scored in the next 24 hours.

Another favorite of many passengers, young and old, is the daily horseracing.

The "horses" (wooden ones, about a foot high) move according to the toss of dice in a variety of ways. None of the six races is run just alike. Some take four dice, some take two. The first make require two hurdles, a double to jump and a double to finish, to win; the last is likely to be a mule race, with a single to start and a double to finish, and the last mule is the winner.

It's pari-mutuel betting, and it's all explained in your score card. But one thing for sure—you need know nothing about real horse racing to participate.

Another shipboard sport, popular with women as well as men, is trapshooting. You stand at the fan tail with one or two other passengers, banging away at the cry of "Pull!" at clay pigeons launched out over the sea.

Other activities include free photo clinics, hula lessons, inspection of the bridge, table tennis tournaments, progressive bridge games in the lounge, bingo, canasta, travelogues and travel lectures, first-run movies and a passenger talent show, the captain's dinner and the ship's champagne party.

From Schooner To Liner

The year was 1882 when a bristly-moustached young Swedish-born captain sailed his little 300 ton schooner, Emma Claudina, into Hilo Bay, Hawaii.

Capt. William Matson, 33, who had worked his passage from Europe to his chosen home, San Francisco, while still in his teens, had big ambitions.

Hardly had the Emma arrived in Hilo than he had her loaded with sugar and sailed back for the mainland just as fast as he could make it.

By 1885, Capt Matson's sugar carrying business was so good the Emma couldn't handle it all. He sold her and, in 1887, with the financial help of associates, launched the Lurline I which could carry twice as much sugar as the Emma Claudina.

Four years later, he bought another ship, the wooden barkentine, Harvester, with capacity for ten passengers and a crew of 13. A few years later, he followed up with a ship equipped with the wonder of the day, electric lights, and shortly thereafter another sensation — a ship that showed movies at sea.

So began what is today one of the most luxurious passenger ship fleets on any ocean; Matson Lines, whose SS Lurline (number three), Matsonia, Mariposa and Monterey ply the pleasurable sea routes between California, Hawaii and the South Pacific.

The Lurline is the flagship of the fleet, and, along with the Matsonia, calls weekly at the port of Honolulu, sailing alternately from San Francisco and Los Angeles. Both ships will host members of the Eastern Review "Suburbia Sea Parties" to Hawaii this spring.

The moment you step aboard either ship, you feel as if you were already in the Islands. Their decor is Polynesian throughout, with warm, sunny colors and an abundance of lush tropical plants and fresh flowers adding further eye-appeal.

All staterooms are living rooms by day, and both ships have several "lanai suites" — rooms with a porch-like area for entertaining Hawaiian-style. "The Polynesian," the ship's daily newspapers, which has a round-up of worldwide news received by radio the night before, is slipped under everyone's door at breakfast time.

"The Polynesian" also contains a daily summary of activities aboard ship — activities that run the gamut from inspection of the navigating bridge to bingo.

The cruise host and hostess on both ships are native-born Hawaiians. By the time passengers leave the ship (often in sentimental tears), they are well versed in the ways of the hula, the malihini, the kamaaina, le'a le'a, with a good smattering of hoomalimali besides.

You don't have to be very old to remember some things that are no longer with us . . For example: When most every family had the kid's shoes half soled at least once before they bought a new pair . . . When the garage was built at the rear of the house rather than at the front entrance . . . When all "pop" was a nickel wherever you bought it . . . When a kid could go to the movies for a quarter . . . When cars had running boards . . . When kids got paddlings in school when they misbehaved . . . When your groceries were delivered to the home . . . When it was a much looked forward-to-pleasure to go with the family for a Sunday afternoon ride in the country . . . When a boy was satisfied with a bicycle rather than an automobile.

Mark Tuesday On Calendar

Tuesday is a very important day for most of us. Nearly every community has an issue to be voted upon or candidates to be nominated at the May Primaries. Mark this date on the calendar now and be on hand to vote. The best men cannot be elected in November if they are not nominated in May.

President Charles H. Kurtz, Jr., mentioned, "Does a funeral home meet the definition of office space as outlined in the ordinance?"

In the next breath, Kurtz answered his own inquiry. "If the funeral home plans meets with the approval of the planning commission, council would be willing to go along with placing the home under the office classification."

Woodyard told council that plans call for parking space to be available for a minimum of 23 cars and a maximum of 30.

You'd never guess how much garbage the average American family produces every day. Suburbia Today gives you the complete rundown on garbage in the May issue!

Bond Issue Endorsed By Groups

Local civic organizations, community leaders, Republicans and Democrats alike have rallied to support the $1,100,000 school bond issue scheduled for vote next Tuesday in the primary elections.

Harold G. Fleck, president of the Whitehall Boys Baseball Association with a membership of 800, pointed out that "The officers and members of our association feel that the education of our children is first and foremost. The building of new schools is a sign of progress, growth and betterment in our educational system. Therefore, our association does hereby endorse this school bond issue."

Leonard Haas, president of the Whitehall Chamber of Commerce, also stated "We, the members of the Whitehall Chamber of Commerce, do hereby endorse this bond issue."

The Whitehall Community Ministerial Association, Rev. Lloyd Tuttle, president, emphasized that "Our public schools should keep pace with our growing community in order to provide the opportunity for the best possible education for every child. We heartily endorse this bond issue"

The Whitehall Garden Club, Mrs. Bart Bare, president, declared that their organization adopted by unanimous vote the proposal to endorse and support the school bond issue.

Both the Whitehall Democratic Club and the Whitehall Republican Club endorsed the school issue. Lewis S. Bower, president of the Democratic Club, stated that "The greatest asset of any community or nation is the condition of its children. Thus, this is the soundest investment for our tax dollar. We must provide them with the best training and dare not offer less."

William LaRue, chairman of the Republican Club, also emphasized the need to provide our children with sound educational opportunities and to provide the school facilities necessary for a growing community.

Among the civic leaders endorsing the school bond issue are Walter B. Moling, mayor of the city of Whitehall; Robert Mickey, service director of Whitehall; J. Craig Wright, safety director of Whitehall; and Raymond Shipley and Kenneth McIntosh, members of the Whitehall City Council.

Robert W. Crabbs, Whitehall Superintendent of Schools, has emphasized that the continued growth of the Whitehall School District during the past, as well as the anticipated future growth, necessitates the school bond issue. "At the present time there is not one unused classroom in all of the buildings of the district, and approximately 250 children are housed in local churches.

"By September of 1961, a minimum addition of 250 children is anticipated, which will necessitate that additional children be housed in churches for the 1961-62 school year. It is estimated that this number will total nearly 500 children.

"If additional school fatilities are not available by September of 1962, it is possible that curtailment of certain aspects of the school program may be necessary in that it would seem unlikely that the number of children who might be housed in local churches could exceed the estimated 500 that will be housed in these facilities during the 1961-62 school year."

Shipley—

the reasons for the inflation is that utilities know what they request "will be pulled down. If we get 50 to 60 per cent of what we ask for, we call it a success."

In a special meeting Tuesday night, Whitehall lawmakers, passed three informal resolutions for specifications of sanitary sewer lines.

Areas affected are Elaine-rd, E. Mound-st and Bernhard-rd.

Richard Hyatt stated he would like the city to pick up part of the tab if estimates indicate that the improvements would place a hardship on property owners.

Ken McIntosh, however, pointed out it would not be fair to the city or other property owners to give reduction in rate.

Loren Mason added "when it comes to sanitary sewers, they must go in regardless of where they are at."

LIONS PROWL NEXT WEEK

The Bexley Lions Club will be on the prowl three nights next week, May 1 through 3, from 6 to 9:30 for the annual light bulb sale.

more building to their respective elementary buildings. In order for the Beechwood School to house the additional sixth grade children, it will be necessary to add two to four classrooms to the Beechwood School.

However, upon the relocation of the Broad Street building at some future date, these additional rooms at Beechwood may have to be utilized for kindergarten classes only.

Addition to the Etna Road School —

In order to more nearly comply with State recommended standards of operation, the Etna Road Schools needs a multi-purpose room.

These additional school facilities, School Superintendent Crabbs stated, are "not only necessary to house the additional pupils, but also to insure that Whitehall Schools will be able to provide at least the same quality of educational program as offered in the past. Continued growth without increased facilities usually calls for curtailment of some specific portion of the existing program or at least a watering down process of the same."

This also seems to be a good period for building, Crabbs continued, in that construction prices have not increased during the past few months as rapidly as before, and at the same time interest rates have improved during the past year. Thus it would seem possible to obtain maximum results for each dollar invested.

The County Auditor has estimated that the $1,100,000 bond issue will require an average tax rate of 1.65 mills. This amounts to 16½ cents per $100 of assessed value or $1.65 for each $1,000 of assessed values.

"Actually," Crabbs continued, "real property in Whitehall is assessed at about 40 per cent of its true value; therefore, if a property is worth about $15,000 it would be assessed for tax purposes at approximately $6,000. Thus, the bond issue would cost $1.65 for each $1,000, or $9.90 for the year.

This amount is payable in two installments of $4.95 each time tax bills are presented for payment. Thus, the bond issue would cost the average Whitehall taxpayer less than 3 cents per day or a quarter a week."

"School taxes in Whitehall have been reduced from 23.10 in 1959 to 22.10 in 1961. This past reduction has been possible," Crabbs said, "due to the continued growth of our tax duplicate, as well as the reduction in the funds required to pay the principal and interest on previously voted bonds.

"Actually, the bond issue will require but .65 of a mill over the school tax rate paid in 1959, or a total of about $3.90 more each year for the average Whitehall taxpayer than his school tax of two years ago."

Boosters Set Record Hop

The Whitehall Band Boosters will throw a giant record dance Friday, Apr. 28, at Whitehall-Yearling High School for the benefit of the school's athletic fund.

Cloverleaf Record talent director Joe Benedetti will be the master of ceremonies for the event which is slated to get underway at 7:30 o.m. It will run until 10:30 p.m.

Featured in person will be the Deanaires — an Eastmoor High School rock-and-roll group and Joe and the Neutrons, plus other popular vocal and instrumental outfits.

Booster Club president Carl Short announced the plans for the dance, along with vice-president Richard Evans, secretary Evelyn Snyder and treasurer Mrs. Phillip Justice.

Honking—

lumbus horn-blowing ordinance. But, in checking the city code he found many sections which make excessive horn blowing illegal.

One section of the code 2327.01, under the heading of "Disorderly Conduct" says that no person shall disturb the good order or quiet of the city by any clamor or noise to the annoyance of any of the citizens.

Section 2327.14 has this to say: "No person shall knowingly disturb or annoy any person or assembly with bells, horns, drums or by any other noise or by ringing doorbells."

And, if these two sections aren't enough to curb your horn blowing urge these spring days, consider this one:

Section 2327.13: "No person shall emit or cause any loud noise within 150 feet within the ground limits of a hospital."

Numerous service garage doors in the city carry the instruction "sound horn" for admonishments instruct motorists to "sound horn for service."

At least one radio announcer advises his listeners to "honk as you drive by." And, there's that automatic reaction to seeing a friend.

One that poses a bit of a question is the legend on the rear of many large trucks, "Sound horn to pass."

But, remember, you can be fined up to $300 or imprisoned up to 90 days or both for excessively tooting your horn at a pretty girl.

Ah, spring!

School Hosts Band Contest

The state Class AII band and chorus competitions will be held at Whitehall-Yearling High School Saturday, Apr. 29, from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. There will be 16 bands and 15 choruses participating from schools all over Ohio.

The central Ohio schools that will be represented are the Whitehall-Yearling and Columbus-Eastmoor bands and the Westerville, Worthington and Wilmington choruses.

Chairman Warren Wesler, the Whitehall band director, says there will be 2,463 musicians performing in these 31 musical organizations. The public is welcome to attend.

STEEL "WIZARD" helps Ohio Fuel serve you better!
An analog computer that rapidly figures complex engineering problems helps Ohio Fuel determine how best to meet the ever-increasing demands for natural gas in Ohio communities. Studies made using this steel "wizard" provide Ohio Fuel engineers with accurate information on what facilities are required to meet the needs for gas in a community. Construction of many miles of new pipelines, and other facilities built by Ohio Fuel has been based on conclusions of the "wizard". These added facilities have made it possible for the gas company to provide the greater volumes of gas now needed by Ohio homes, stores, and industries. The "wizard" is an important tool used in Ohio Fuel's constant program of progress to serve you.

BATBOY ADAMS SAYS:

It's All Work And No Play With Jets

BY JOHN AUBLE, JR.

Jack Adams is fast finding out that being a bat-boy for the local Jets is, for the most part, all work and no play. But as long as the Jets' are happy, this 16-year old lad is sitting right on top of the world.

Adams is a 16-year old Whitehall-Yearling High School student and will become more of a familiar face to Columbus Jet baseball fans as the year progresses.

He was selected from a host of youngsters for the bat boy post and, he says, "it's just great."

The whole bat boy bit started for Adams about a year ago when he saw an entry blank in a local newspaper. He clipped it and sent it and the Jets rushed him an application blank.

"I told them that I'd be the best bat boy they've ever had" Adams stated Monday. "I said I wasn't too good at baseball but it is my favorite sport."

This positive thinking, evidently, paid off.

Chuck Wareham, Jet Business Manager, thought so at any rate, and phoned the Adams lad notifying him that he was among the ten finalists.

The Jets threw a big luncheon wingding for the finalists at the local YWCA and, at this time, an interview of each candidate was conducted.

"That's about all there was to it," Adams said. Luckily, I was selected. Boy, I couldn't have been happier."

Incidentally, Jim Tice, a student at Hilliard High School, was selected runner-up and the Tice youth serves as the bat boy for the visiting team.

"I like working with the fellows," Adams smiled. "They are all easy to get along with."

Naturally, he has his favorites. Heroworshipping is a big thing when youth and baseball get together.

"Did you see that Johnny Powers Friday night," he asked, referring to the Jet opener with the Syracuse Chiefs. "He sure looked great.

"So did third baseman Dick Gray . . . and Ed Sada . . . and, wow, that Tommy Parsons . . . and . . ."

Needless to say, he's enthusiastic about the whole thing. He was quite proud over the fact that he got to wear Sada's warm-up coat.

Evidently the coat wasn't warm enough, however, cause Adams ended up the evening with a cold, a cough and an upset stomach in the runs, hits and errors department.

In fact, he missed a day or two of school because of the cold and, even, was on the absent list at the Jets second game with the Chiefs.

"I guess that night air was too much" he said. "And all that yelling I did didn't help matters any, either."

Adams lives at 3768 E. Main-st. He played some ball for Crestview Junior High School in the ninth grade and participated in Babe Ruth ball last year.

He was born in Cleveland and moved to Portsmouth shortly after where he played some softball with a team there. "I hit a couple of home runs," he grinned.

He has a brother, Bob Newsome, 25, and keeps mighty busy during his spare hours swimming and playing ping-pong.

He got off to somewhat of a bad start in the opener, he remembers, when in the first inning he was given a quick lesson in field etiquet by home plate umpire Augie Guglielmo.

"I ran out in front of the plate to retrieve a bat after Don Leppert smashed that home run. He straightened me out quick!" he says.

Adams plans to go to Ohio State University after graduating from Whitehall. He wants to study motel management and will take some business courses.

But, right now, his big business is with "his" Jets.

Chills And Thrills For JetsOpener

Baseball fans turning out for the opening night ball game at the Jets' stadium were treated to a fine exhibition of baseball.

Fans, happy at the prospect of a new season of baseball were quick to warm up to the many new faces on the Jets roster and gave a mighty cheer for the many ex-Jets on the Syracuse roster.

Style of dress was not considered by the fans as they turned out in every style of clothing you could name. Blankets, sheepskin coats and anything else that was warm.

Hot dogs and hot coffee, were hard to reach at the concession stands for the lines were long and hungry. Even after the game there were still a few lines trying to be served.

Excitement in the game was evident as the Jets gave out with one of the best exhibitions we have ever seen on opening night.

Many little league players of Columbus were on hand to see this game. They saw for themselves that a team can play hard and still win with no arguments or other disturbing temper tantrums.

The Jets are at home this week and it is a perfect time to get out and watch the Jets in action and to shake hands with old friends. They will be there.

One thing we would like to know about. Who is the guy who sits behind the umpire rubbing baseballs and catching them as they roll off the screen and occassionally runs out and gives the umpire advise.? I have never heard his name and he is seen more than any ball player on the field.

ESTIMATED ENROLLMENT INCREASES AND ADDITIONAL CLASSROOMS NEEDED 1960 - 1969

Classrooms needed to accomodate increase enrollment.

Increase in enrollment over that of school year previously indicated.

This chart may be read as follows: In 1961-62 the Whitehall Schools will increase in enrollment by approximately 187 pupils; in order to house these additional pupils and yet maintain a pupil-teacher ratio of 30-1, at least six additional classrooms will be required in addition to the number of classrooms utilized during the 1960-61 school year.

Seek—

more building to their respective elementary buildings. In order for the Beechwood School to house the additional sixth grade children, it will be necessary to add two to four classrooms to the Beechwood School.

However, upon the relocation of the Broad Street building at some future date, these additional rooms at Beechwood may have to be utilized for kindergarten classes only.

Addition to the Etna Road School —

In order to more nearly comply with State recommended standards of operation, the Etna Road Schools needs a multi-purpose room.

These additional school facilities, School Superintendent Crabbs stated, are "not only necessary to house the additional pupils, but also to insure that Whitehall Schools will be able to provide at least the same quality of educational program as offered in the past. Continued growth without increased facilities usually calls for curtailment of some specific portion of the existing program or at least a watering down process of the same."

This also seems to be a good period for building, Crabbs continued, in that construction prices have not increased during the past few months as rapidly as before, and at the same time interest rates have improved during the past year. Thus it would seem possible to obtain maximum results for each dollar invested.

The County Auditor has estimated that the $1,100,000 bond issue will require an average tax rate of 1.65 mills. This amounts to 16½ cents per $100 of assessed value or $1.65 for each $1,000 of assessed values.

"Actually," Crabbs continued, "real property in Whitehall is assessed at about 40 per cent of its true value; therefore, if a property is worth about $15,000 it would be assessed for tax purposes at approximately $6,000. Thus, the bond issue would cost $1.65 for each $1,000, or $9.90 for the year.

This amount is payable in two installments of $4.95 each time tax bills are presented for payment. Thus, the bond issue would cost the average Whitehall taxpayer less than 3 cents per day or a quarter a week."

"School taxes in Whitehall have been reduced from 23.10 in 1959 to 22.10 in 1961. This past reduction has been possible," Crabbs said, "due to the continued growth of our tax duplicate, as well as the reduction in the funds required to pay the principal and interest on previously voted bonds.

"Actually, the bond issue will require but .65 of a mill over the school tax rate paid in 1959, or a total of about $3.90 more each year for the average Whitehall taxpayer than his school tax of two years ago."

Boosters Set Record Hop

The Whitehall Band Boosters will throw a giant record dance Friday, Apr. 28, at Whitehall-Yearling High School for the benefit of the school's athletic fund.

Cloverleaf Record talent director Joe Benedetti will be the master of ceremonies for the event which is slated to get underway at 7:30 p.m. It will run until 10:30 p.m.

Featured in person will be the Deanaires — an Eastmoor High School rock-and-roll group and Joe and the Neutrons, plus other popular vocal and instrumental outfits.

Booster Club president Carl Short announced the plans for the dance, along with vice-president Richard Evans, secretary Evelyn Snyder and treasurer Mrs. Phillip Justice.

lumbus horn-blowing ordinance. But, in checking the city code, he found many sections which make excessive horn blowing illegal.

One section of the code, 2327.01, under the heading of "Disorderly Conduct" says that no person shall disturb the good order or quiet of the city by any clamor or noise to the annoyance of any of the citizens.

Section 2327.14 has this to say: "No person shall knowingly disturb or annoy any person or assembly with bells, horns, drums or by any other noise or by ringing doorbells."

And, if these two sections aren't enough to curb your horn blowing urge these spring days, consider this one:

Section 2327.13: "No person shall emit or cause any loud noise within 150 feet within the ground limits of a hospital."

Numerous service garage doors in the city carry the instruction "sound horn" for adlishments instruct motorists to "sound horn for service."

At least one radio announcer advises his listeners to "honk as you drive by." And, there's that automatic reaction to seeing a friend.

One that poses a bit of a question is the legend on the rear of many large trucks, "Sound horn to pass."

But, remember, you can be fined up to $300 or imprisoned up to 90 days or both for excessively tooting your horn at a pretty girl.

Ah, spring!

School Hosts Band Contest

The state Class AII band and chorus competitions will be held at Whitehall-Yearling High School Saturday, Apr. 29, from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. There will be 16 bands and 15 choruses participating from schools all over Ohio.

The central Ohio schools that will be represented are the Whitehall-Yearling and Columbus-Eastmoor bands and the Westerville, Worthington and Wilmington choruses.

Chairman Warren Wesler, the Whitehall band director, says there will be 2,463 musicians performing in these 31 musical organizations. The public is welcome to attend.

Democrats—

at-large seats: Loren Mason, Carl Wieffenbach and Richard C. Flath.

Helber, in fact will be the next auditor, a post he already holds, since the Republicans are offering him no opposition.

Besides the mayor post, contested battles include Council, Ward 1, between Richard Hyatt, the incumbent, and Clyde B. Hartman; Council, Ward 3, between Charles W. Harcourt and James M. Toomey.

The Democratic Line-Up:

For Mayor
LEWIS BOWER

Bower's rallying cry to his supporters is based upon "experience, education and a desire to serve the community with progressive leadership, dignity and an administration devoted to the service of all citizens in Whitehall."

An attorney and businessman, Bower, 47, is a graduate of Ohio State University with a bachelor degree in business administration and in law. During World War II he was in command of a naval unit ammunition ship.

He has held offices in the Whitehall Lions Club, president of the local Democratic Club, and is a member of the Whitehall Band Boosters, the PTA, American Legion and Chamber of Commerce.

In addition, he served a short stint as councilman at large.

ROBERT GARNON

Garnon, 38, is the present 2nd Ward councilman and, according to his supporters, would present an administration that is "firm, yet flexible."

He is a graduate of Kent State University with a bachelor degree in education. He has served with the Army in Europe, is married and has four children.

He belongs to the PTA, is active in the Cub Scouts and in the Whitehall Boys Baseball Association. Before assuming the council post, he was second ward Democratic committeeman. His occupation is that of sales manager for a builder-developer.

For Solicitor
PAUL HAYTCHER

Haytcher, 37, is an attorney-at-law. As for seeking the office of solicitor, he believes that "temperment" is the best qualification.

"The position of city solicitor," he says, should be one of directing the legal activities of the municipalities and should not be used for promoting the political fortunes of particular cliques and creeds."

He is a member of the Ohio State Bar Association, and a member of the Board of Trustees and vice president of the Multiple Sclerosis Society.

Council, Ward 1
RICHARD HYATT

Hyatt, 43, has lived in Whitehall for nearly 40 years. He is the incumbent First Ward councilman, and because of this and of his nearly life long residency in the community he feels that he knows the needs of the area.

Hyatt is a real estate salesman and belongs to St. Philip the Apostle Church, the Whitehall Democratic Club, the Columbus Board of Realtors, the National Board of Realtors and the American Legion.

CLYDE HARTMAN

Hartman, 53, states he is running for "good, clean government." He is an engineer with Jeffrey Manufacturing Co., and was previously employed with North American Aviation.

He is a member of the Masons and of the Eastview Methodist Church.

Council, Ward 2
HENRY MAXFIELD

Maxfield, 45, believes he has enough knowledge of city government and enough initiative to see that the job is "done properly."

He is a credit manager for Gary Jewelers and in active in the Whitehall Little League.

CHARLES HARCOURT

Harcourt, 78, claims he is the only candidate that has campaigned hard by knocking door to door, that he is the only one with a platform to try and save the taxpayers some money, to get better service.

Harcourt is a retired blacksmith and belongs to the Holy Name Society.

JAMES TOOMEY

Toomey, 38, is a claims attorney, belongs to the Ohio State Bar Association and is a member of the Knights of Columbus. His education and experience as an attorney qualify him, he believes, to seek the Third Ward post.

Council, Ward 4
GILBERT O'SHAUGHNESSY

O'Shaughnessy, 60, is a World War I veteran and has worked for the C&O Railroad for 40 years.

He says that "Good sense and intestinal stamina" are needed in government along with the "fortitude to back it up."

Council At-Large
CARL WIEFFENBACH

Wieffenbach is a member of the Democratic party in Whitehall and has served as a ward committeeman.

LOREN MASON

Mason, 44, says he has a "vital interest" in what happens to Whitehall.

He lists his occupation as a salesman.

RICHARD FLATH

Flath is 31 years old. He is a merchandise control manager for Abel Corporation, belongs to the Democratic Club and has been a councilman at Wadsworth, O.

He has served on various council committees including recreation, industrial development, safety, public service, finance.

Republicans—

"Without raising taxes," he states, he has been able to "put back into the city capital improvements of $245,000. In January of 1961 the city had a surplus of over $150,000 in the general fund."

Among his records, he includes the construction of over 10 miles of new streets, nearly 10 miles of sanitary sewer lines, over nine miles of water lines and six and a half miles of storm sewers.

During his administration, bus service has been extended to the eastern portion of the city, the police department has risen from nine men in 1956 to 24 at the present time. The city now has 11 paid firemen compared to one in 1956.

The mayor is a charter member of both the Eastern Kiwanis and the Whitehall Masonic Lodge. He belongs to the Eastview Methodist Church and is active in the Scottish Rite and Shrine.

ALFRED C. MOLNAR

Molnar, 60, claims in his campaign pledge to "quit playing Big Town and raising taxes, but build together a community of pride and achievement."

He is a former councilman and belongs to the Eastview Methodist Church. He tries to find time to hunt and fish and is a farm owner in addition to being president of Molnar's Appliance Center, Inc. and manager of Dealers Liquidating Company.

KENNETH McDOUGAL

McDougal, 40, says his success as a businessman qualifies him to seek the office of mayor. He and his supporters have instigated a 10-point platform for better service in the community.

He is a member of the Lions Club and of the Eastview Methodist Church.

For Solicitor
JAMES MAXWELL, JR.

The incumbent City Attorney, Maxwell, 36, says he will continue to strive for "a government of laws, and not of men.

"It has been my experience in two years of government work to find that some people have a complete disrespect for the constitutional laws under which a government operates.

"The Democrats," he contends, "have attempted to twist the law to establish a political machine.

"My deep respect for the law has forced me to object strenuously at any attempt to bend the law to establish such a machine.

"I will continue to strive for good government based upon sound cinstitutional principles."

Maxwell is a member of both the Ohio and the Columbus Bar Association.

For Treasurer
JOHN H. COYLE

Coyle, 41, is a member of the Whitehall Blue Lodge Masons, is secretary of the Ach Bar Grotto patrol and is a member of the Whitehall Eastern Star Chapter.

His occupation is that of salesman.

FRANCIS F. SHAEFFER

A former councilman, Shaeffer, 48, seeks to obtain a "dignified group of civic minded officials."

He is an inspector at North American Aviation.

For Council President
WALTER SIEMER

Siemer is the incumbent council president, fulfilling the term of E. D. Willis who resigned during the year. His supporters feel that he is doing a "top-notch" job.

Siemer's occupation is that of attorney.

DONALD G. WADDELL

Waddell, 40, has a "sincere desire for good government." He is a foreman at North American Aviation, belongs to the Lions Club, the Masons and is active in the Boy Scouts and the PTA. He is a former Marine.

Council, Ward 1
LESTER BALLENGER

Ballenger, 56, has lived in Whitehall for 17 years. He is "interested in good government."

Ballenger is operation manager, at Columbus Goodwill Industries and is a charter member of the Eastview Methodist Church, a charter member of the Whitehall Eastern Star, a founding member of the Whitehall Masonic Lodge and Past Monarch of Ach Bar Grotto.

RALPH H. PROUT

Prout, 43, has an MA degree from Bowling Green State University. He entered the Air Force in 1941 and rose from private to captain.

He is a member of the Beechwood PTA and is employed as an inspector at North American.

RAY UPPERMAN

Upperman is employed at the Hughes-Peters Electric Co.

He has two sons and was a member of the Whitehall Armory dedication committee. He is also active in the Whitehall Little League and in the Scouts. He has had previous legislative experience as a councilman at Williamsport in 1950.

(The Eastern Review regrets that it was unable to contact Charles Kibler, the other aspirant for the 2nd Ward slot. Mr. Kibler resides at 4290 Yearling-cl.).

DONALD GORRELL

Gorrell, 37, is the present Ward 3 council incumbent. He believes in "good streets and in building Whitehall for the future. Keep in mind," he says, "that our present sound financial condition must be preserved.

"Lastly, I believe in keeping quiet."

Gorrell is a maintenance engineer at the Kroger Company.

HAROLD E. WOOD

Wood, 39, is interested in making "Whitehall a better city." He is a member of the Lions Club and of Faith Lutheran Church. He is employed as a leadman at North American Aviation.

DARRELL M. TODD

Todd, 30, feels that "young blood is needed to aid Mayor Moling."

He is an engineer at North American Aviation and is a member of the Masons and is treasurer of the Eastview Methodist Church.

ESTHER L. MOLNAR

Mrs. Molnar has lived in the community for 18 years. She is employed at Molnar's Appliance Store and her business experience, she says, gives her an insight into the needs of the people.

She vows to spend only "what I think the city can afford and not to tax the citizens to the extent they would want to leave Whitehall."

She is vice-president and treasurer of Molnar's Appliance Center, Inc. and a "homemaker." She is a member of the Eastview Methodist Church, the Lorrain Chapter of the Eastern Star, Delta Tau Business Women's Sorority, and has served on the Whitehall charter commission.

RAYMOND SHIPLEY

Incumbent Shipley, 42, will continue to base his legislative duties on experience and "good common sense." He has already served four terms as councilman. Shipley is a member of the Norton Church of Christ.

KENNETH E. McINTOSH

McIntosh, 33, is another council incumbent. His re-election bid is based on his council experience and he had previously served as safety director for the city.

He is a research engineer at North American Aviation and attends Eastview Methodist Church.

Davis, 67, is seeking an at-large post after serving one term as Ward 4 councilman.

Other public offices found him serving as secretary-treasurer of the board of education in Byesville. Davis is a retired meat cutter.

He is a charter member of the Eastview Methodist Church, a charter member of the Methodist Men's Club, chairman of the pastor relations committee and numerous other organizations.

ROBERT SPICER

Spicer, 33, thinks that his experience in public relations and a desire to serve the people qualify him for a council-at-large post.

He is employed as an advertising and public relations director.

He is a member-at-large of the Sales Promotion Executives Association, a member of the National Association of Home Builders, past director of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, chairman of Cub Scout Pack 124, and an associate member of the National Swimming Pool Institute and the Advertising Council.

He has served in the U.S. Army.

HAROLD MAGGIED

Maggied, 31, is employed in the auto parts business and is striving to achieve a degree in educational psychology at Ohio State University.

He is a Mason and has served with the U.S. Army. Maggied is a member of Jewish War Veterans and seeks the office of councilman-at-large, dedicated to seeing that the people get "a dollar's worth for a dollar's worth of tax money."

VOTE MAY 2, TO HELP BALANCE THE SCHOOL GROWTH IN WHITEHALL

The School Bond Issue Will Provide . . .

★ New 16-18 Room Elementary Building

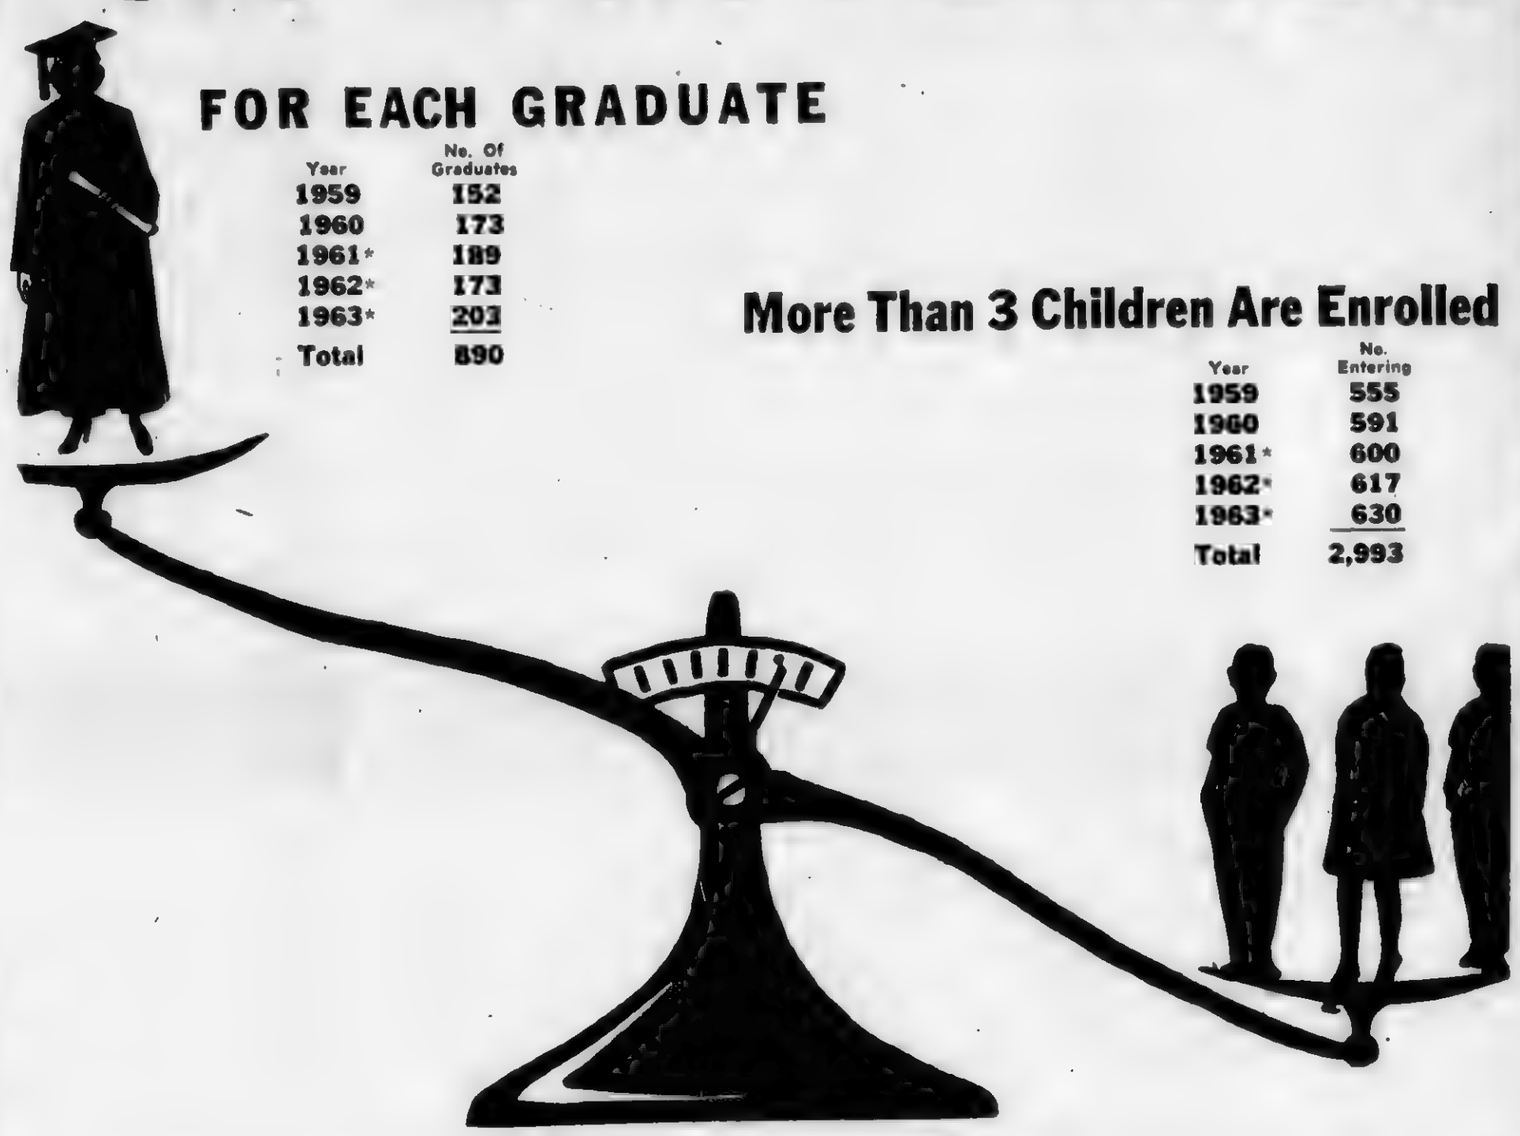
To be located north of the Rosemore Junior High School. This new building is necessary to provide rooms for children in this area when the 6th grade, now housed in Rosemore, are returned to their respective buildings. This should take place by September, 1962.

★ Addition to Rosemore Junior High

Continuing growth of our high school enrollment suggests that the high school will not be able to continue to house grades 8-9-10-11-12 after September of 1962. Thus, the 8th grade will be transferred to Rosemore and this building will function as a two year junior high containing the 7th and 8th grades. To meet the recommended minimum standards by the State of Ohio we must provide facilities for

1—Industrial arts shops and home economics area
2—Additional classrooms and special areas

★ Addition to Beechwood Elementary School



When the 8th grade is transferred to Rosemore from the high school, the 6th grade, now housed at Rosemore must be returned to their respective elementary buildings. Beechwood will need from two to four classrooms in order to house the 6th grade children from this area.

★ Addition to High School Building

Continued growth of the high school will require the 8th grade to be transferred to the Rosemore Building. The expanded high school enrollment in grades 9-12 necessitates additional shop facilities and vocational education areas.

★ Addition to Etna Road Buildings

In order to more nearly comply with State recommended standards of operation it is necessary to provide a multi-purpose room.

The Cost of the School Bond Issue Is Not Great!

The $1,100,000.00 Bond Issue will require an average tax rate of 1.65 mills. County Auditor's estimate, or $1.65 per $1000.00 of assessed property value. Property in Whitehall is assessed at approximately 40 percent of its true sale value.

True Value	Assessed Value	Cost Per Year	Semiannual Payment If Issue Approved
$17,000.00	$6,800.00	$11.22	5.61
$15,000.00	$6,000.00	9.90	4.95
$13,000.00	$5,200.00	8.58	4.29

During the past two years the Whitehall School tax rate has decreased by one mill.

1959 School Tax Rate	23.10	mills
1961 School Tax Rate	22.10	mills
Reduction of	1.00	mill

In Reality the Bond Issue Will Require but .65 Mill More Than the 1959 School Tax Rate. Or $0.65 per $1000.00 of assessed value. A cost to the average tax payer of 3.90 per year more than paid in 1959. About 1 cent per day.

Mr. Bill Stringfellow, of 1062 Twenty-second Avenue, says this about the great sound of Radio on WRFD...
"I have travelled from coast to coast, and am an avid car radio listener. I have tuned in to many stations. I find that WRFD's variety programming is as thorough enjoyable as any I have heard. It makes driving a lot more pleasant."

Gallery Players Seeking Help

Gallery Players, now in rehearsal for the May production of "Cold Wind and the Warm," will require the services of a choreographer for "Bits and Pieces," an outdoor summer revue of American music and sketches which is on the group's schedule for some time in July.

Persons interested in this undertaking are requested to call Harold M. Eisenstein, Gallery Players director, at the Jewish Center, BE. 1-2731, or Eddie Kaye, Gallery Players governing board member, BE. 7-2721.

First tryouts for this musical revue will be held Thursday, May 4, in the auditorium of the Jewish Center, at 8 p.m. A second and final tryout will be held Sunday, May 7, at 2:30 p.m.

Backing into a curbside space, says the Columbus Auto Club, requires a sharp lookout through the rear window for approaching traffic. Often, in crowded areas, the driver following you doesn't know you're going to park, so be sure to signal him.

Too long have we thought of The Way of the Cross as the "sad way." There may be sad moments along every noble path, but not all great ways are sad ways. The path of motherhood may have sad turns but it is a satisfying path. The path of education climbs some difficult and steep places but it is a thrilling way. Isaiah talked about the highway of God, where faithful servants passed on good errands. The way of the Cross is the way one takes when he serves God. It is not the "Sad Way" but rather the "Glad Way." Jesus came by way of the Cross, and the Book of Books on which the cross is planted, tells us to "take up our cross and follow." Whether atop the church steeple or on the highest mountain, it is The Glad Way. Heaven and God are at the end of that way. It is today aglow with the light of forgiving grace. It challenges the weak to walk by faith and offers pardon to those who fall at its foot. It is where Jesus prayed, "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do." It is The Glad Way.

YOU IN THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH IN YOU

Character is a by product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions that fortify and influence for a better citizenship and a stronger democracy. In the church the constructive and enduring religious character that women today declare that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then see with our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday. You in the Church and the Church in you form a combination for good. Be a regular CHURCH GOER and a daily BIBLE READER.

Is Ours A Course Of "Intellectual Idiocy"?

We have received a four page folder entitled "A Message To Our Legislators and Community Leaders" written by R R Fling 245 Overbrook dr. It contains some worthwhile food for thought While space does not permit the printing of the entire message today, we are reprinting herewith the first portion and will follow it with others

Take heed. Those of you who do not, may not even rate the dignity of a firing squad if it happens here as it has in our sister republic only a playboy's weekend to the south.

When one stops to think about it, our attitude in Ohio toward education is fantastically unreal For example

1. Since WW II Ohio has lost the half billion dollar yearly nucleonics industry to other states. Why? Because other states had the centers of scientific culture about which the industry developed

2. California gets back 70 per cent of every dollar of Federal taxes of all kinds Ohio 16 per cent Rub your eyes over that one

3. Cal-Tech has the laboratories and the scientists to get yearly research grants 15 times as much as Ohio State. M.I.T. gets more subsidy for research than Ohio State gets

Moling Ticket In Romp; Dem Nod Goes To Bower

Come November, the leaves and a dozen Whitehall office aspirants will have all but been crumpled underfoot But for the time being, all those on the majority side of the voters' good will are winners

The Republicans, from a voter turnout standpoint, were a happy camp Tuesday night especially the Walter B Moling slate.

The Grand Old Man and his legions pulled off a nearly complete coup de grace over their GOP opposition, losing only the treasurer post by, according to unofficial count, a scant 10 votes.

Democrats faithful to Lewis Bower saw their candidate down an expected strong bid by Robert Garnon by a comfortable margin of 150 votes

Republicans and Democrats are both assured of having one winner going into November: Walter Siemer retained the council presidency and Walter Helber is still the auditor

Unofficially, out of 1189 Republican votes cast, Moling polled nearly 70 per cent. The mayor counted 801. Opponent Kenneth McDougal had 230; Alfred C. Molnar, 158

For the Democrats, Bower topped Garnon 499 to 349

Top Republican vote getter was incumbent solicitor James Maxwell, Jr. with 950 being edged only by those voting for the school bond issue. Maxwell ran unopposed.

For the Dems, Helber notched 699, followed closely by councilman-at-large Loren Mason with 691 and solicitor seeking Paul Haytcher with 688. All ran unopposed.

Francis Shaeffer broke through the Moling majority by nudging John Coyle 563 to 553. Shaeffer is a former city councilman.

$1,100,000 SCHOOL BOND ISSUE OKAYED

By a more than adequate amount, Whitehall voters have endorsed their city's $1,100,000 school bond issue The issue passed by a 67 44 per cent margin. 60 per cent approval was needed.

Unofficially, of 1594 votes cast, 1075 were "for," 519 "against."

At one precinct, the 4th at the St. Edwards polling station, a 100 per cent approval was given with 16 voters in favor of the bond

Unofficial breakdown according to polling places the favorable vote

East Broad Street School—63 per cent;
Whitman's Garage—54 per cent;
East Main Street School—56 per cent;
Whitehall-Yearling—63.5 per cent;
East Baptist Church—81 per cent;
Fire House—76 per cent;
Holy Spirit Church—61.5 per cent;
American Legion—83 per cent;
St. Edward's Church—70 per cent;
Etna Road School—61 per cent.

Whitehall Endorses Utilities Probe; Sets Zoning Hearings

June the 6th will be "zoning night in Whitehall council chambers Seven public hearing have been set for the evening

Hearings will concern changes on the zoning map for Yearling rd between Broad and Main the addition of a commercial apartment-office district.

The Harold Kelley plot at 83 Robinwood-av; Morris L. Mattlin properties at 482 and 478 S. Yearling; six lots in Bernhard's second addition; and the Gottlieb Reiner property along E Main-st

One zoning request went down to defeat at solon's hands Tuesday; no filling station will be going in at the southwest corner of E. Broad and Fairway-blvd.

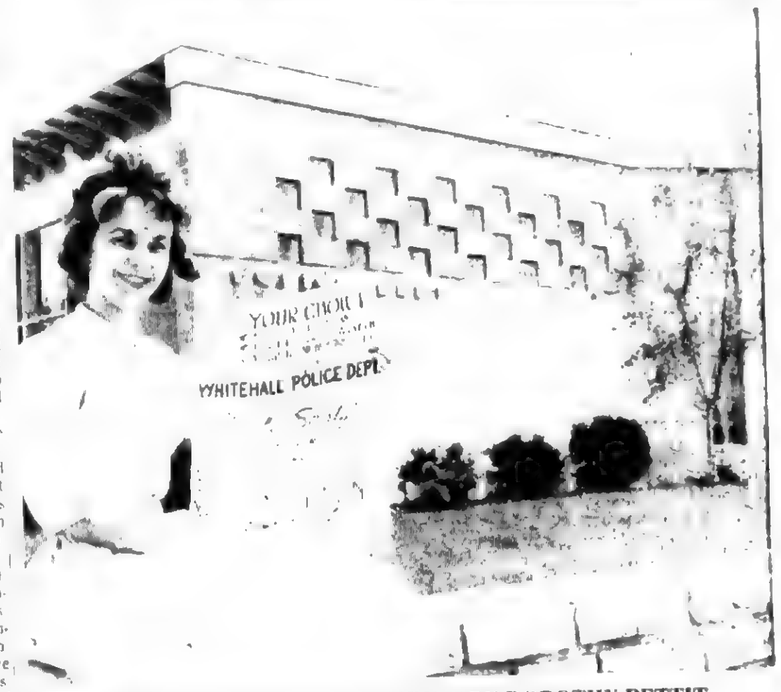
The main target of Tuesday's meeting was the endorsement of a resolution urging the State Assembly to investigate rate-making formulas of public utilities.

Sponsored by Ray Shipley, the resolution urges all villages and cities in Ohio to take similar action

The resolution states that the "accounting methods used by public utilities are not clearly understandable. Public utilities negotiate with the city from a position of strength, protected by antiquated legal requirements The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio seems to favor the requests of the companies for rate increases without making proper study of accounting methods. The rate-making procedure is so cumbersome that it always works to the disadvantage of the consumer."

The resolution calls for the General Assembly to make a "complete examination of all laws dealing with rate making with the objective of making the procedure less favorable to public utilities companies and more fair to consumers"

Shipley said he wants the clerk to send copies of the resolution to "every village and city" in Ohio, commenting, "It is well known that in areas where rate experts have been hired to negotiate with utilities, the rates are lowered"



The making of the resolution stemmed from an announced probe by the State Assembly into rate-making "inflation" accusations by Democratic House Representative Richard M. Christiansen. Christiansen has apparently based his charges on a letter to a New York securities firm by George B. Quatman, head of Telephone Services, Inc

The Whitehall measure may have come too late Reports indicate that Christiansen's request may be turned down by the House Rules Committee

On other matters, Safety Director, J. Craig Wright reported that it may be possible within three weeks to have the operation of the police force on a 40-hour work week. Wright reported that he needs replacements for two men before putting the order into effect.

Solons okayed the authorizing of a mutual aid contract between the Whitehall and

This realistic film of slaughter on the Ohio highways is being programmed with an all-out safety campaign in the city The entire program is under the direction of Sgt. Richard Wells.

On tap for the evening are such speakers as Judge Wilbur L. Shull, of the Municipal Court; Grant Keyes, Ohio Highway Safety Director; Wayne Byers, TV newscaster; J. Craig Wright, Whitehall Safety Director; Father Robert Harwick of Holy Spirit, and Rev. David Risch, of Faith Lutheran Church

In addition, Mayor Walter Moling will hand a trophy to the outstanding school safety patrol in Whitehall.

The film, 27 minutes long, is produced by the State Highway Patrol. Admission is free.

Door prizes are being offered. The top item is a one week expense paid trip for two to Miami, Fla. Other prizes include a trip to New York City or an Ohio River Cruise on the Delta Queen. Prizes are being donated by local merchants.

ONE DAY'S WORK ON 'OZ'

Whitehall Recreation Board Docked For $66 Janitor Fee

By John Poeppelmeyer

A one-day janitorial fee of $66 has been submitted to the Whitehall Recreation Department.

The announcement, from Recreation Director, George Chamblin, stunned board members at a special Wednesday night meeting.

The bill was for services rendered during the recent department financed "Wizard of Oz" production April 1

A breakdown of services, Chamblin said, was not included

In all, Chamblin reported, "Oz" cost the city $184 82. Budget for the production called for an expenditure of $130

The $66 fee was for service rendered by two janitors during an alleged 11 hour duty. Chamblin said Janitors he said usually receive $3 per hour for outside school functions.

What puzzles Chamblin and the board is that the evening of the performance mothers stayed to aid with the clean-up

The recreation board decided to hold up payment of the bill. One member called the submitted fee "outrageous."

Chamblin also has on tap plans for a "Whitehall Day" spring festival picnic and dance. He coined the term "familiness" to bring together parents and youngsters as a kick-off salute to the summer recreation program.

Tentative date for the event was set for June 10

The department was also given permission by the Whitehall school board to lease the school owned land in the vicinity of Beechwood Elementary for a recreation picnic site. Two other tracts are also under construction, at East Baptist Church and behind Whitehall high school

It Really Works

Never underestimate the power of advertising, particularly if it is in the Hartley Newspapers. How do we know? Away From It All

Town And Country Shopping Center Will Offer 'Survival Test' Rewards To Enterprising Family

Feel like getting away from it all for a week?

Want to erase that feeling that comes from rushing pell-mell to the office each morning? Drown out the ringing of telephone bells? Skip going to that organization meeting just once?

You can. Or at least some family can

No you're not being asked to be the next man in outer space.

Just live, or exist in a disaster shelter for a seven-day survival test at Town and Country Shopping Center beginning May 26

Two family disaster fallout shelters, manufactured by Life master, Inc., will be displayed through June 3.

One shelter is an underground type while the one in which the family will be housed is an indoor basement type.

But that's not all. You will not be asked to do it for free Merchandise and gift certificates in the value of several hundred dollars, contributed by T&C merchants await you on your return.

All of the conditions under which a family would seek shelter against radioactive fallout will be simulated in the test.

A two weeks supply of food will be stocked along with water (½ gallon per person per day), transistor radio, light, sleeping bags, winter weight clothing, first-aid kit, sanitary supplies, and items for recreation.

A window in the shelter makes it possible for the public to observe the progress of the family who volunteers for the test.

A classified ad in today's Eastern Review invites a husband, wife and child to apply for the chance of undergoing the "survival test"

Who knows? You may be one step ahead of your neighbor in the long run. Nothing like a dress rehearsal, eh?

WHAT LIES AHEAD?

THE BOY IS MARTY—A CHILD WITH A PROBLEM

WHAT LIES AHEAD for Marty and his friends? Theirs is not a pretty story. It involves a problem the solution of which is vital to the well-being of any community.

By Ron Pataky

Marty is the boy in the picture He's seven years old

Like other young fellows his age, Marty is pretty unpredictable He has his ups and downs, his likes and dislikes, his good and bad moods. Marty likes things like hamburgers, fishin', baseball, parades, cowboy movies, kite-flying and dirt

Marty can't stand school, takin' a bath, "dressin' up," goin' to the dentist nor girls, very often

And like many other boys his age, Marty's personality is a winning one . . . not hurt one bit by the blonde "butch" haircut he sports, nor by his sparkling blue eyes that always give you the impression he knows something you don't

He has a soft voice which he sometimes uses to pack a whole lot of talking into just a few words. His smile would melt a blast furnace

Sounds a lot like any other kid in the block, doesn't he? Well in many ways he is just like any other youngster Many ways, that is, other than one . . . Marty's not in the block any block

Yes, there's one big difference between Marty and the other kids. Marty doesn't have a home.

Marty is one of the more than 100 children who live in the receiving facilities of the Franklin County Child Welfare Board, 1951 Gantz rd Most of them are boys and, like Marty, are there only because there are no foster homes for them.

No . . . these kids are not "juvenile delinquents." They're just young people who haven't been quite as lucky as most of the kids we know . . kids who once had a home and family of their own In most cases, this home and family were broken up by tragedy Many of the children have lost a parent . . . . others have had a parent stricken with a permanently crippling disease which made them unable to keep their family together

The brutal facts are these death or disease could conceivably put your children into a position similar to that of Marty and his friends . . one day, a happy home . the next day, tragedy and a broken home

That's unfortunate, you admit, but perhaps ask "What can I do about it?" The answer from the Child Welfare Board is that there is something that can be done.

The need is desperate for foster homes in which to place these youngsters. The frightening lack of response to this need leads to many questions. Are there really so few families in the community who would welcome a child like Marty into their home? Perhaps it is that people are unaware of this need. Or is it the age-old misunderstanding and fear of dealing with "welfare" agencies . . . of the "red tape" involved?

To be sure there is some "red tape" involved in becoming a foster parent, but there are good reasons for these personal investigations by the agency . . . specifically, that Marty and others like him must be protected, as far as is humanly possible, from further disappointment and tragedy in their young lives

Homes are needed . . . desperately needed. Perhaps you will want to investigate the possibilities of taking a child into your home. Or perhaps you know of a family that would welcome the opportunity.

The Child Welfare Board has explained its need and has put forth this call for help in the community. The Home Finding Department will welcome inquiries. Their number is BR. 6-3541.

And as stated in an agency bulletin, perhaps ". . . Marty and all his playmates will thank you from the very bottom of their hearts."

Center Sets Sunday As Registration Day

Sunday, May 7, from 2 to 5 p.m., all Center teenagers will have the opportunity to register for a wide variety of summer programs, including VASE (Vacation and School-year Employment, TOSS (Teenage Outdoor Summer Sports), a special trip to Washington, D.C. and a wide range of classes in tennis, sailing, golf, etc.

TOSS headlines a complete five-day week, for four weeks, program teaching horseback riding, sailing, tennis, golf and other sports activities. The feature of the program will be a week long trip to Louisville, Cincinnati and Mammoth Cave with lots of side-trip sightseeing. TOSS is open to all those who will be in grades nine through 12, next fall.

The cost for the entire program will be $75, and this will cover all expenses for classes, transportation, special admission fees, and all food on the trip. Working directly with TOSS will be the Center Teenage Director Marv Bienstock, and his wife, a high school teacher with numerous skills in art, sports and camping.

A five-day trip to Washington is also offered for late in August. This is a strictly luxury trip with the teens staying in air conditioned comfort and spending their time seeing the sights of the National Capital and those interesting locations between Columbus and the East Coast. Advance registrations for this trip will entitle the teen to first choice among the limited openings. Entire cost for the five days will be $75.

The entire physical education program, featuring classes in tennis, swimming, sailing, golf and three-man basketball leagues, will also open for sign-ups on this day. Registration in all these is limited and will be on a first come, first serve basis.

Finally, the Center has been allotted five openings on a trip sponsored by the National Jewish Welfare Board which will take 40 teenagers from all over the Midwest for a month in Mexico. The trip will be in the nature of an experiment in international relations with the teens spending two weeks in the homes of parents of teenager from the Mexico City Jewish Center, one of the largest and finest Centers in the world, and two weeks traveling around the country to such places as Taxco and Acapulco. Persons interested in this trip should contact Marv Bienstock at the Center immediately.

Reddy says the "Quint" is the newest and best piece of mobile apparatus that the Seagraves Corporation manufactures. The new trtuck cost $48,320, according to Reddy.

LETTER TO EDITOR:

Republicans Appreciative

Speaking for all of the successful Republican candidates, we extend our sincere thanks and appreciation to the voters who supported us in the primary election. We are indeed honored to be selected as the standard bearers of the Republican party.

We shall, to the best of our abilities, prove to the people that we are worthy of this honor.

—Walter B. Moling
Mayor of Whitehall

Bicycles will be awarded to five winners of a poster coloring contest among pupils in grades one through five.

A portable record player will be issued to the winner of the sixth and seventh grade poster contest.

A clock radio will go to the winner of a safety slogan contest in grades eight through 12.

All of the activity and prize letting will take place May 10 starting at 7:30 p.m. at Whitehall-Yearling High School.

Election—

In the race for councilman-at-large on the Republican ledger, Raymond Shipley, Ken McIntosh and Orton Davis brushed aside opposition from Esther Molnar, Harold Maggied and Robert Spicer.

Unofficial count Shipley, 844; Davis, 741; McIntosh, 708; Spicer, 323; Molnar, 284; Maggied, 220.

Mason, Carl Weiffenbach and Richard Flath were all unopposed in the Democrat primary.

Of four solons presently on council, Shipley, McIntosh, Davis and Mason, one will not be back next January. Davis at present occupies the Fourth Ward seat.

The only other two Democrats with opposition were Richard Hyatt, Ward 1 councilman, who tallied 154 votes to 126 for Clyde Hartman, and in Ward 3, James Toomey, with 138, overcame a bid by outspoken Charles Harcourt, with 88 votes.

Other unofficial results Tuesday:

Republicans:

Council president, Siemer, Mason, 691; Weiffenbach, 614; Flath, 573.

Ward 1, Lester Ballenger, 299; Ralph Prout, 104.

Ward 2, Charles Kibler, 98; Ray Upperman, 75.

Ward 3, Donald Gorrell, 162; Harold Wood, 118.

Ward 4, Darrell Todd, 178.

Democrats:

Treasurer, John Ramsey, 653.

Henry Maxfield, Ward 2, Henry Maxfield, 139.

Ward 4, Gilbert O'Shaughnessy, 150.

Two things became evident Tuesday night as the results came in. This November's mayoralty battle will be an encore between Moling and Bower. Bower lost two years ago by a scant 26 votes.

And 4th Ward Democratic aspirant Gilbert O'Shaughnessy, who had threatened to resign his committeeman post if Garnon had beaten out Bower, will not have to do so now.

Mifflin Twp. Fire Departments and approved $27,119 worth of assessments for the improvements of Fairway-blvd from Broad-st to Hamilton-rd.

On the last measure of the evening, the issuance of notes in anticipation of assessing improvements along Westphal-av from E. Main-st to McAllister-av, Ward 1 councilman Richard Hyatt had a few choice remarks to lay before the council.

Hyatt complained that bill was worded wrongly. The people on Westphal-av were given to believe that no sidewalks would be included. I know, because I live there. This is going to have repercussions."

Fellow legislators, Shipley and Robert Garnon quickly huddled with Hyatt, explained that the bill would only provide for payment to the contractor in event that sidewalks are installed.

When it came to vote, Hyatt grudgingly uttered "yes."

from legislative appropriation for "all" colleges. Maybe we in Ohio are too dumb.

4. One section of Ohio contains the greatest center of population on the continent that is without a major university. Page the politicians.

5. University professors' relative pay is only about 70 per cent of what it was 20 years ago. This is the era of "Sputnik."

6. Thousands come to Ohio every year too unskilled to justify even the lowest laborers' wages. We can't let them starve.

Which is better — training or a dole?

7. The shortage of good teachers is appalling. In one profession (city planning) lack of skilled workers is costing society hundreds of millions of dollars yearly. In transportation alone, savings could foot the bill for our entire educational system, grades through college, including free scholarships to capable students. Chew that one.

We want Ohio to be a leader, in all lines, equal to, not necessarily above but along with the best in the land and the world. Pedantry is no problem in Ohio. The loss in dollars alone is so great that one is inclined to feel our present course is one of "intellectual idiocy."

Those connected with our education systems are obliged to speak with restraint, dignity and reserve. We outsiders can say what our hearts dictate. We cannot much longer afford the luxury of blissful ignorance.

Give the American people a job worth doing and they will do it. Inform them of a need and they will meet it no matter what the sacrifice, and woe to the public servant who gets in their way!

Our legislature ought to resolve to stay in session or on quick recall until this problem of our educational needs is solved. It will require some new tax, some pain, some objection, some sacrifice. But the sporting spirit in Ohio is high. All classes have a will to win. Everybody wants near the top place. If we spread the cost so that all feel it, and each knows what it is for, the job will not be to get the money but how to use it wisely.

What are you going to do about it?

Picnic tables and a fireplace will be located at the Beechwood location at a cost of $100. The board plans to expand to the other two areas "in a year or so" if the selected site brings a favorable response.

In other matters, Chamblin reported the recreation program at present consists mainly of 2/3 girls, since with Spring in the air, the boys are headed for the baseball diamonds.

The evening's meeting closed with a discussion of policy questions outlining the duties of the recreation director.

'Parents Without Partners' Plan To Be Explained At Meeting

Parents Without Partners has come to Columbus. Designed to handle a specific type of child-parent situation, the local chapter is to be part of a national organization.

Unconventional as most organizations go, it is strictly a "self help" group. The basic stated idea behind Parents Without Partners is to provide counsel for parents who are widowed or divorced and who expect to do the utmost for their children.

Children who must grow up without the benefit of two parents need special care and a very sensitive kind of understanding. It is the hope of the group to offer the experience gained by older members to those whose children are still very young, or who have suddenly found themselves in this situation.

Guest speakers in the fields of child psychology and social behavior work to aid the project.

An associate member of the national organization, Mrs. Martha R. Croft, is working to organize the local chapter. According to her, three meetings have already been held, and a charter will be applied for soon. She states that she will welcome any questions about the group or its membership, and can be reached at her home (TU. 5-8230), or at work (AX. 4-3381).

Dr. George Borelli, psychiatrist at the Columbus State Hospital, is scheduled to speak to the group in June. The group meets twice a month, on alternate Tuesday nights at the downtown YWCA. The next meeting is scheduled to be held May 9.

HONEY HUG

If that name sounds "Charles tonish" to you, you're right, for the style's supposed to capture the jazz age's snug fit and imaginative flair. The "Hug" comes from the close-fitting sides, but more especially from the nape, which really gets "embraced." The style is soft and feminine with waves that undulate all over the head, never coming to rest in any deep wave pattern that's definite. This simplicity of line is designed to give an open-faced, uncluttered look.

You know it's just about time that you had a "new look" all your own. Make an early appointment with beauty. Iva's Beauty Salon, 3978 E. Broad Street, Columbus. BE. 5-5474.

They are: Ronald D. Culbertson Sr., 872 Vernon-rd; Richard H. Lash, 135 St. Christopher-ln; Donald J. Miller, 1587 Gratton-rd; Robert S. Ury, 503½ Berkley-rd, and Walter A. Wynd, 793 College-av.

Make Your Reservations Now For The Big July 16 Great Lakes Pleasure Cruise

Reader response to the July 16 Hartley Newspaper Great Lakes pleasure cruise already has exceeded expectations as hundreds of calls and numerous reservations have been received to date at the Hartley offices.

As of today, May 4, there are still reservations available for the full-day cruise aboard the S.S. Aquarama from Cleveland to Detroit and return, but the supply of tickets is limited and a sell-out is expected.

Chartered buses will leave Columbus early in the morning Sunday, July 16, in time to arrive shipside by 9 a.m. Passengers will board the luxury liner by 9:30, and we're off for a full day of fun and relaxation.

Special arrangements also have been made for Hartley readers, who desire, to drive to Cleveland.

Features of the S.S. Aquarama include movies and bingo, comfortable deck chairs for lounging in the warm sun, four restaurants serving delicious food, two cocktail lounges, floor shows in the Grand Ballroom and a playroom where the children can play under the watchful eye of a trained staff.

Both Protestant and Catholic Church services are available Sunday morning for those who desire them.

Entire cost for this cruise is only $18.50 for adults and $12.50 for children, which includes round-trip transportation to Cleveland itself. For those who wish to drive to Cleveland and back, the price has been reduced accordingly to $12.50 for adults and $7.50 for children. There is no charge for children under six (and they will have a wonderful time in the glass-enclosed playroom).

I would like to reserve space for ... adults and ... children on the July 16 Hartley Newspapers Great Lakes Pleasure Cruise. Enclosed you will find check or money order for ..., which is the full amount for these reservations. (Note: fares are $18.50 for adults who travel on the chartered buses or $12.50 for adults who drive. Children's fare is $12.50, bus included, or $7.50 if driving). My party will include ... children under six years of age. My party will (please check one) travel by bus ...; drive our car ...

Bexley Group Awards 10 Scholarships

The Bexley Woman's Club has announced it has given 10 scholarships this year.

Money for these presentations was made on the annual club scholarship project, a style show and luncheon given in March.

Recipients of these awards were Carolyn and Cathryn Witker, twin sisters from Braden; and Anna L. Trump of Canton. These girls attend Capital University. Also, Yvonne Karg of Nevada and Mary E. Kennedy of Bellefontaine, who attend Ohio State University, received awards. Judy Holt, of Bexley High School, received the Flora Lewis Underwood scholarship.

Lorna Jean Lange, Parma Heights, attending Ohio State Nursing School, received a scholarship. Each of the above seven scholarships was for $200. Peggy Gregg, Buckeye Girl's State Representative, received $35. Two camp scholarships for $25 each were presented to the Triple S Camp for two children from the South Side Settlement area.

Mrs. Ralph Howell, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Alvin Ahrens and Mrs. W. Emory Hartman, made up the scholastic committee that worked with the Deans of the various colleges.

Tween Drama Group Slates May 9 Party

In celebration of the final session of the spring term of the Jewish Center's Tween Age Drama group, a party will be held in the Adult Lounge Tuesday, May 9, at 4 p.m.

Preceeding the entertainment and refreshments will be a short meeting, led by Harold M. Eisenstein, Drama Director, during which time plans for the fall season involving a production of "Hansel and Gretel" will be discussed. At that time, the name of the group will be officially changed to the Gallery Tweens.

Actively participating in this group have been Roger Copeland, Arlette Grigst, Karin Kletecka, Ann Levine, Barbara McCool, Samara Sokol, Robyne Finke, Katherine Wells, Steve Hofheimer, Mike Grayson, Peter Bidney, Kathleen Canty.

Courses—

so those promoted from the eighth grade who wish to have more preparation for Algebra before beginning the formal classes in this subject. This course will be called Basic Mathematics and has no relationship to any other course presently being offered.

The second course is called Intermediate Algebra and will be made available for all those who have already had one year of Algebra but who have not taken Advanced Algebra. Again this course also will be an entirely different offering from any course presently given in the high school curriculum.

Enrollment and registration must be complete by residents of Bexley before Wednesday, May, 17.

All enrollments, registrations and payment of fees must be made at the office of the Bexley Board of Education, second floor, south side, High School Building, 348 S. Cassingham-rd. No enrollments or reservations by phone or without full payment of fees.

An innovation in fees is a provision which adds an extra $3 to the cost, which $3 fee is then refunded if the student is enrolled and in attendance at the end of the course.

IDLE HOUR GUIDE . . .

Will Rogers, Jr.–Pioneer On 4; Railway Museum Recorded

By Stan Robinson

Will Rogers, Jr., is the host narrator of a new series entitled "The Pioneers" on Channel 4, Wednesdays at 7 p.m. From the very rim of history come stories of a legendary land to the West — a wondrous place where the whole tired human race might start again and do things right now depicted in "The Pioneers." In this Westward surge, thousands upon thousands of men and women developed a peculiarly American trait, the pioneer spirit and they have handed it down as the birthright of every American alive today.

Robinson

CHUCK NUZUM, CH. 6, is the voice behind the sounds of the gas, electric, steam engines and trolleys and interurban cars for a new album. The recording sessions took place at the Ohio Railway Museum and the idea was conceived by Photographer Jim Frank of WTVN-TV when he realized that the many rail relics would make a great tape recording.

The results were very gratifying and the result now is a 10-inch record in stereo LP. Photographs used for the album cover were made by Channel 6's Dave Bunge. It will be made soon in monaural record and in tape. Several record departments and the Ohio Railway Museum have copies for sale.

"The Dave Garroway Today Show" on NBC and Channel 4 will have a rotation of personalities in order that a fresh, new appearance be given to the show, according to Producer Fred Freed. This week a leading fashion model Patricia Scott is leading the guest list of young ladies to be seen. The idea is to maintain a routine that is stimulating and lively for the morning audience, said network officials.

NEWS DIRECTOR ASSISTS POLICE . . . Joe Harper, WTVN-TV news director, and Channel 6 photographers covered a recent accident on Demorest-rd in which a little boy was fatally injured and his ten-year-old sister remains in "fair" condition in Children's Hospital.

The Columbus Police Department thought the coverage so good they have requested a two-minute filmed story of the accident with Newsman Harper handling the narration. This will be used in their educational program and viewed in many Franklin County schools.

SPECIAL SPRING FORECAST from Woody Hayes on Channel 10, Friday . . . WBNS-TV will present O.S.U. Coach Woody Hayes and three leading coaches Friday night at 6:30, all with a special spring forecast. Coaches Doyt Perry of Bowling Green and Bill Hess of Ohio University and as a filmed "extra," Earl Flora will interview head football coach Frank Boyles of the University of Arkansas, Fayetteville, Ark. Next season for the Bucks looks like a tough one with such opponents as UCLA, Illinois, Oregon, Texas Christian and others.

"LET'S GO BOATING proves very popular on Channel 4 and is extended . . . A stimulating audience response to the first couple of shows, entitled "Let's Go Boating" has caused a revised schedule. The original four programs have been moved up to a 13-week series.

This panel-type show Mondays at 10:30 p.m., has hosts Clark Smith of Channel 4 and advertising man Robert Slatzer visiting with three guests who discuss various phases of this fast-growing sport. Studio displays boats, motors and other equipment along with local and national film clips are all part of the 30-minute show. This is for the beginner or the "Old Salt" himself, whichever category that you may fit.

THE KENTUCKY DERBY and all its colorful behind-the-scenes activity will be carried by Channel 10 Saturday at 4 p.m. The Derby is the first jewel in the "Triple Crown" races which will be presented exclusively on CBS-TV and Channel 10 this summer.

"Venitian Way," won last year, an event worth more than $125,000 with the nation's top jockeys astride their entries. Bryan Field and Chris Schenkel will handle the description. Other big events for the summer are the Preakness, May 20th and the Belmont Stakes, June 3rd, all set for Channel 10 viewers.

VIEWING IN THE FUTURE . . . "Are Labor Unions too Powerful?" is a debate that will take place between James Hoffa, Teamster's Union president, and Arthur Motley, president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, on NBC's "The Nation's Future," Saturday, 9:30 p.m., Chs. 4 . . . Add renewals for ABC-TV's 1961-62 season, "Cheyenne," "Surfside 6" "Hawaiian Eye," "The Roaring Twenties," "77 Sunset Strip" and "Lawman."

NBC-TV's "Project 20" unit is working on "Merrily We Roll Along, a one-hour special dealing with the impact of the automobile on America. It will be a DuPont Show Of the Month early in the Fall . . . Comedian Joey Bishop will emcee for the New York-originated portion of the "Emmy Awards" show Tuesday, May 16, scheduled for 10 to 11:30 p.m., Ch. 4, locally . . . "Bell and Howell Close-Up", for next Tuesday on Ch. 6 is a report on reaction to Kenya's first common role election . . .

Length Of Line, Not Its Size, May Determine Fishing Success

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROD COCHRAN

"The average fisherman worries too much about the pound test of his lines, and not enough about their lengths," says R. W. Recob, West Jefferson. He should know, for he's sold a few lines in his time.

I agree with him, especially when carp and catfish anglers are concerned. The general theory is to get a heavy rod and some chalk line and horse in any and all fish. This works out fairly well, except that such fishing eliminates a lot of sport. But when the really big one comes along — perhaps the catch of your lifetime — something has got to give and you will lose him. You just don't horse in a 30-pound fish.

The secret is to have a fairly light line and plenty of it. You must let such a fish run. He may run 100 yards before he decides to turn. Maybe he'll run more. But you have got to let him go, reel in when he's in the mood, and then let him go again. Only by tiring him out will you land such a trophy.

Two experiences come to mind along this line, one close to home and one that occurred on Lake Erie. There are some pretty fair-sized catfish inhabiting Little Darby Creek, and every year some are taken. The largest are shovelheads or flathead catfish and when hooked they usually strip the average reel and then something pops.

Used Wrong Approach

Last year a man and his wife kept coming to Recob's and each time would buy a 50-yard spool of heavier line. The last trip they bought the heaviest he had and have never been back. He told them to buy more line to land the fish they were hooking, but they didn't heed his advice. They quit fishing, convinced some sort of monster lived in Little Darby.

The other experience involves my fishing buddy Al Staffan. He was casting artificial lures around the Bass Islands and hooked a carp. This fish was not really large, but hefty enough to swim in any direction for as long as he wanted to. About 40 minutes later Staffan landed him and the fish scaled 15 pounds. The significant part is that ultra-light spinning tackle and six pound test monofilament proved to much for the carp to handle.

So you have on one hand fish that could not be caught with the heaviest tackle, and on the other hand a gossamer thread that took a big fish.

Line Sizes Suggested

Going out specifically for catfish and carp you should have more than six pound line, however. It should be tough enough to stand contact with brush, logs and rocks. Something like 10 or 12 pound line will take a lot of punishment, and your reel should hold 100 yards. Or, you might use 50 yards of heavier line up front and a lighter line for backing. With this arrangement you might get nearly 150 yards of line on your reel.

This seems like a lot of line, and chances are you will never use it. But when you hook that dream fish, the extra line will give you the confidence you need to successfully play and land it. As far as I know that largest carp I ever hooked is still swimming in the Walhonding River, although he may be about to die of old age. I taught him the lesson of never to pick up a gob of sweet corn, and he taught me that you can't have too much line when playing a big fish. It is not a good feeling watching line melt off a reel and knowing the fight is over almost before it started. Then there's one final blow — the "pop" when your line is gone and you watch the frazzled end of it go shooting out your guides.

Plenty of line is the cheapest big fish insurance you can get.

FIRST GRADERS GET TB CHECK AT BEXLEY

The Tuberculosis Society reports that first grader participation in the tuberculin-testing for Bexley schools ran 98 per cents, 12 per cent higher than the average for the other 35 schools tested this year.

One positive reactor was found among the first-graders tested and one among the students qualifying for food handler permits. Another permit seeker's test was questionably positive and will be readministered.

A total of 161 first-graders and 60 student cafeteria workers were tuberculin-tested.

All close contacts of the tuberculin positives over age 15 will be X-rayed and those under 15 skin tested to uncover the source case of infection. A positive reaction indicates TB germs in the body, but not necessarily active, contagious disease.

Big Brother President Ernest G Fritsche reported the men would be assigned a fatherless boy as a Little Brother. He will actively advise and help him become a better citizen as part of the work of the association which is a United Council-United Appeals agency in Columbus.

Drainage Project Opposed Monday At Council Meet

The Columbus City Council Monday night was informed that Berwick residents were opposed to a $600,000 drainage project for Bliss Run.

The group had asked for city action to stop flooding in the area.

Acting on a recommendation by Service Director Ernest Stork, the council agreed that a different plan should be prepared.

Residents opposed the original plan because it would destroy trees, officials said.

In other action, the council rejected requests for commercial zoning permits for a tract northwest of Main-st and Noe-Bixby-rd; and for 1097 Oregon-av and 1107 E. Mound-st.

BEST In Schools Doesn't Cost . . . It Pays!

Following is another installment of the article by R. R. Fling, containing some food for thought regarding education:

If we avoid frills and froth, the best in schools doesn't cost, it pays. Bloated Budget is a bogey man.

The need starts in the grades, especially in the less prosperous communities. Below college level is where most dollars should be budgeted.

We could begin by: raising starting salaries, or where accomplishments justify it, or to compete with other states, or other employment; we could provide equipment needed now; we could prepare to start technical institutes; we could raise our academic standards at all levels (The crackpots, pedants, and subversives would soon go elsewhere.); we might find means of aiding our private colleges; we could lower student fees; we could begin state aid to city colleges, (Cincinnati, Toledo, Akron); we could plan to start new universities (Cleveland, Dayton, Canton, Youngstown, etc.); we could provide scholarships. (Some of us know that a poor boy from the hill country or slum district, no matter how smart he is, still faces an almost impossible task in getting a higher education.)

Money alone does not nurture greatness. But Ohio has had great educators who might have brought untold reward if they had been given

SCOUTS WERE PREPARED

EAST SIDE BOYS FIRST AT SCENE WHEN PARTY BOAT GOES DOWN

Six East Side Boy Scouts and their Scoutmaster lived up to their Scout motto Saturday afternoon when an excursion boat jammed with Denison University students and their dates went to the bottom at Buckeye Lake.

The Scouts were "prepared."

And they were the first at the scene after the double-decked sternwheeler, "Queen Of The Lake," hit a stray log and sank in eight feet of water some 200 to 300 yards from its pier.

The youths, members of Troop 75, from St. Paul's Methodist Church, were:

The Scoutmaster was John Gibbons, 3008 E. 6th.

The group arrived at Buckeye earlier in the day for an outing aboard a powered raft owned by the Scoutmaster.

The first inkling of trouble, according to Gibbons, came "while we were cruising on the lake and noticed that the paddlewheel of the "Queen" had stopped turning."

He said the group sped over to the $12,000 craft "to find out what was wrong."

The captain, Jack Carlin of Buckeye Lake, "asked us to take his boat in tow."

"We hooked-up and got about half a mile before she sank," Gibbons said.

The Scoutmaster explained that he and the boys didn't realize the "Queen" was sinking "or even in any real trouble" until it went to the bottom.

After the sinking, the group on the raft "stuck around" and with the help of about a dozen small boats rescued the 100 passengers and crew.

Plans On Tap For Whitehall Headquarters

Architects have proposed a gleaming, modern structure for the future Whitehall Municipal Building.

Designed by Kellam and Foley, the new city headquarters are to be constructed so as to unite all city activities at the South Yearling-rd location.

Cost of construction will run approximately $290,000 according to City Service Director Robert Mickey.

Mayor Walter Moling hopes to have legislation dealing with the construction ready for council "ayes" by July. Moling has said that the municipal building should be ready by Spring of 1962.

(See Pix of Interior on Page 8)

One of the ideas to be incorporated in the construction, according to the architects, is a gleaming white solar screen, that "not only projects an interesting exterior, but also shades the glass areas of the offices from the direct glare of sunlight. It will also provide an air of privacy from passing traffic."

Behind the screen are the enclosing walls of brick pierced at the various offices by plate glass in aluminum frames.

The air conditioned structure, consisting of two units joined by an enclosed connecting corridor, a block-"T" type structure, provides 26,784 square feet on two floors of administration and storage space and 2788 square feet for the council chamber.

The city offices will occupy the front unit, while the council chamber is reserved for the east unit.

The reason for the connecting corridor between the two units, instead of constructing the building into one structure, is that an obstructing sewer line was in the way, according to Mickey.

The basement, according to Recreation Director George Chamblin, will house the recreation facilities.

The present municipal building and the tax department will be torn down to make way for parking facilities.

CSG Offers Summer Education

The Columbus School For Girls Alumnae Association will, for the fourth summer, offer a six weeks summer program.

An approved and accredited course in driver education will be offered for the first time this summer. Robert Ringer, who teaches this course at Bexley High School, will be the instructor. Ringer uses a dual control car. Requirements for a credited driver education course are 36 hours of classroom instruction and 18 hours in the car with a minimum of six hours behind the wheel.

A 10 per cent reduction in automobile insurance is available to all young men passing this course. Students must be at least 15 and one-half years of age by June 19 to be eligible for instruction.

Ringer obtains temporary permits for all students under 16. He holds these permits, for a permit is valid only when he is instructing the pupil. Classroom instruction will be at 10 a.m. Monday through Friday. Driving instruction will be scheduled, three to a class, afternoons.

Russell Owen, of Bexley High School, will teach typing, 9 a.m. Monday through Friday. Classes

Ground-Breaking Takes Place Sunday For Grace United

Something old will be carried over into something new when construction of the Grace United Church of Christ gets started.

The something new will be the church. The something old will be the cornerstone of the old church — the Wilson Avenue Evangelical and Reformed church — to be installed when construction begins.

But first things first and this Sunday groundbreaking ceremonies will take place at 1226 Shady Lane-rd, for the new sanctuary and administrative area of the Grace United Church of Christ (Evangelical and Reformed).

Rev. Marcus S. Buehrer reports that the new $153,000 sanctuary and first unit will be built with stone and cedar to blend into the rustic wood setting.

Seating capacity of the sanctuary will be over 300, Rev. Buehrer said.

Grace Church, formerly called the Wilson Avenue Evangelical and Reformed Church, was relocated from the corner of Wilson and Fair-avs in 1960. Since that time, services have been conducted at the Shady Lane Elementary School.

Included in the new church will be the same $14,000 pipe organ retained from the Wilson Avenue Church.

Also, Rev. Buehrer, stated the cornerstone from the old church will be removed and installed in the new church.

Inside the new church will be an 11½-foot wooden cross taken from an oak tree on the site where the new building will be established.

The present building committee consists of Stewart Frey, chairman; Ray Gornall, Willard Kranzley, Richard Maisenbacher and Paul Runkle.

Architects are Holroyd and Myers. Contract for construction was awarded to Lehman and Gerstner.

Rev. Buehrer states that the Grace Church's history dates back to 1893.

Grade Crossing, Gould-rd.

Bexley-Columbus Projects Studied

By John Poeppelmeyer

A couple of joint projects concerning the City of Bexley and the City of Columbus are still in the planning stages, according to Columbus City Engineer Robert Werner.

The projects: the widening and repaving of Gould-rd, between Broad and Main-sts, at a cost of $150,000, and renovation of the Cassady-av railroad crossing, at an approximate cost of $1,000,000, according to Werner.

The matter was brought up Tuesday night at the Bexley council meeting. Mayor William Schneider reported to councilmen that he understood the Gould-rd project had been delayed and understood the Cassady-av grade crossing was still under consideration.

Contacted Wednesday, Werner said the Gould-rd improvement depends upon the "rapidity of legal procedures." He added he did not know if the project would be started this year.

On the Cassady-av project, Werner reported that the services of a consulting engineer had been employed. Various plans are under consideration, Werner said. As yet, it has not been decided whether the renovation will include an underpass or an overpass.

Cost to Bexley, Schneider said, will be in the neighborhood of $250,000. Both the B.&O. and the Pennsylvania railroads operate on the track.

On other Columbus projects, Werner reported that the extension of Livingston-av from James-rd to Hamilton-rd as a

Expansion Scheduled At Hartley

The stage has been set for construction of a $250,000 addition to Hartley High School.

Contracts for the new wing at the school, located at Zettler-rd and Livingston-av, were awarded this week.

The addition will parallel the existing main wing on the west side, creating a court effect, according to Father Robert White, principal. It will increase the capacity of the school to 1,400 students.

James J. McCarthy Co. was awarded the general contract; Wuellner and Theado, the mechanical contract; Electric Power Co., the electrical contract.

Architects for the new wing were Emerick, Albert and McGee.

Construction will be financed by the Diocesan Development Fund. The expansion will be completed in time for classes next September, Father White said.

Included in the addition will be two biology laboratories, lounges for lay teachers and for the Sisters of Notre Dame, who staff the school.

Father White explained that expansion of the cafeteria will be completed at the same time as well as the relocation and enlargement of library facilities.

Hartley, which opened its doors in 1957, will graduate its first senior class this June.

Two Projects Aid Area Campfire Girls

Residents of the Canal Winchester, Reynoldsburg and Whitehall areas will benefit soon when two projects —two big projects—are completed south of Winchester.

One of the projects, a beautified 33-acre wooded area in Bloom Township, has been slowly taking shape for some 25 years. The second project is a Camp Fire Girl Day Camp slated to be built on the wooded tract.

The Camp will serve girls in the South-East District which includes many villages and cities in the South-East-of-Columbus area.

Both camps which serve the Whitehall, Reynoldsburg, and Canal Winchester areas are too far away from the homes of residents to make daily travel practical. The Hoffmans envisioned a new camp that could take advantage of community resources.

Although day camp periods are July 10-15 and 17-22, activity will not be limited to these dates. The group hopes to use the camping grounds until sometime in late November, when the dryer Indian

Reactivation Of AF Association Planned

Recalling the "famine years of the 1920s and 30s, when airpower hungered for public backing" a group of Air Force men formed the Air Force Association.

"The need for members is still upon us," according to Howard C. Warner, temporary chairman in charge of reactivating the Columbus AFA.

"After nearly 40 years of bitter controversy, the significance of airpower was proved beyond question in World War II," Warner stated. From experience in this conflict, he went on, two conclusions seemed obvious:

"Airpower must be actual, not on paper. And never again will an enemy give us time to build air strength after war has begun."

The Air Force Association is an independent airpower organization, founded by Air Force men—the majority of whom would soon return to civilian life after WW II.

"We have no personal, political, or commercial axes to grind," Warner emphasized.

"We are dedicated to keeping America strong in the air."

Its objectives: To assist in obtaining and maintaining adequate airpower for national security and world peace.

To keep its members and the public informed of developments in aviation.

To preserve and foster the spirit of fellowship among former and present members of the Air Force.

Warner signified that there are almost 400 active men AFA members in the Greater Columbus area. "A good part of them are still on active duty and stationed at Lockbourne." Nationwide, AFA consists of 45,000 former and present Air Force men, he pointed out.

State organizations come under the title of "Wings," and local units are "Squadrons."

"At one time," Warner said, "there was an active squadron here in Columbus. But, for some reason, not known to me, it ceased to be active. We are not

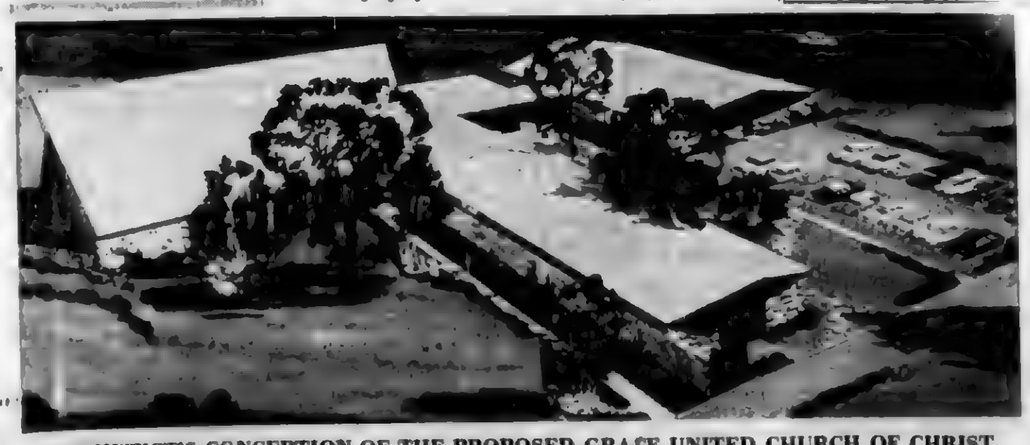
Bexley Legion Post Distributes Books

A second distribution of books on Communism to public and school libraries in the area has been completed by Bexley Post 430, American Legion.

Receiving them were the Bexley and Whitehall public libraries and the libraries of Capital University, Bexley, Eastmoor, St. Charles and Bishop Hartley High schools, according to Commander Victor J. Funtjar.



The book distributed and now available is Volume II of the "Facts on Communism" series produced by House Committee on Un-American Activities. Sub-titled "The Soviet Union, from Lenin to Khrushchev," it is basically the work of Dr. David J. Dallin, now of the political science department at the University of Pennsylvania, but educated at the Universities of St. Petersburg, Berlin, and Heidelberg.

He lived in Germany and France in the 1920's and 1930's, and emigrated to the United States in 1940 and became a citizen, Funtjar stated.

The post's previous distribution was of Volume I, subtitled "The Communist Ideology."

Alfred Darst, post Americanism chairman, noted that the high schools named and all others in this county are soon to receive copies of the new book, "You Can Trust the Communists (to Do as They Say)," by Dr. Fred Schwarz.

Through the Christian Anti-Communism Crusade which he heads, Dr. Schwarz announced during his seminar last Saturday at Central High School, 37,000 copies of the book are to be distributed to high schools in the United States.

"Moonlight Ecstasy," the theme of this year's Junior-Senior Prom, was held for the juniors, seniors and their dates on May 10 in the school auditorium. The Classmen supplied the dance music.

Hartley's first Social Science Fair was partly televised by the Chet Long program over WBNS-TV May 9. Over 150 projects were judged.

The Sharkeys, Mary Ann and Susan were awarded renewable scholarships at Ohio State. Mary Ann's scholarship was for home economics. Susan has decided to study dramatics and theatrical arts. They both will enroll this fall.

Janet Van Balen, a junior, has received grants from two universities for this summer. She has been invited, from June 11 through Aug. 4 to study physics at Western Kentucky State University in Bowling Green. A university in Magnolia, Ark., also awarded her a grant in math. Jan has not yet announced which school she will attend.

On May 2 "College Night" was observed. "It is time to plan for college" was the theme. A panel discussion was held, with representatives from various types of colleges speaking.

Representatives included Mrs. Beverly Ellis, small Liberal Arts College; Mrs. Patricia Gibboney, Catholic Girls College, an alumna of Saint Mary's of the Springs; Mrs. James Reid, State Universities, Ohio State University; and Mrs. Martin, Catholic Boys' College, Xavier University.

The baseball team dropped games to Watterson 4-1, May 3, and to Marysville 6-3, May 2.

Whitehall Zoners Okay VFW Move, Store Location

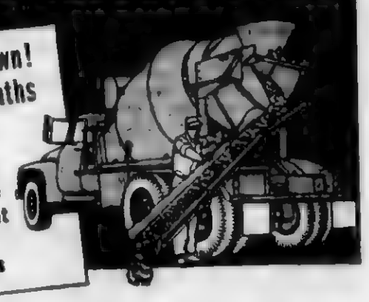
Things looked good for the VFW and the proposed $560,000 department store after this week's planning and zoning meeting in Whitehall.

The commission recommended that the rezonings be authorized. The VFW plans to relocate its club to a building at 4100 E. Main-st, according to Commander Ralph Brown.

The store is planned for a 70,000 square foot location at 4661 E. Main-st. Other particulars are not known at the present time.

But while accommodating these two requests, the zoners turned down appeals for a trampoline center at 4500 E. Broad-st and one for a used car lot at 4220 E. Broad, Mayor Walter Moling reported.

The denial to the trampoline court came as a result of a 2 to 2 deadlock, since one commission member was absent, Moling said.



'ROOM FOR ONE MORE' AT WHITEHALL

AT INDIANOLA SCHOOL

The Deaf 'Hear', The Dumb 'Speak'

READY TO BEGIN a lesson in using connected language, Mrs. Myrtle Smith, Indianola first grade teacher, gains the attention of her class. Pupils are (l to r) Jack Katenbach, Amlin; Steve Herriott, Delaware; Rebecca Stein, 202 Fenway; Tom Schluep, 4875 Fisher, John Williamson; 580 Rhoades, and Jerry Beckelheimer; 1123 S. Highland.

THIS IS THE WAY you make the sound; handicapped-hearing teacher Mrs. Margaret Johnson, 1802 E. Long-st, shows Thomas Rose of Sunbury how to form a word as Joann Mattingly, 2776 S. Fifth watches intently.

Warmth, Patience Seen Foremost Teaching Aid

By Taylor Gregg

The Indianola Avenue Public School is to all appearances much like the dozen or so other elementary schools in Columbus.

The children too, seem to act and play like any others. It is only when you enter one of six special classrooms that you know some of them are deaf.

The world of a deaf child is a hard one to understand. He has never heard normal sounds. Some of them have never heard any sound, others only a distorted and unintelligible hum.

These children were called "deaf and dumb." To many people the dumb meant more than just that they could not speak. It meant "dumb — stupid."

It has taken a long time to educate "normal" people to the fact that a deaf person is as intelligent and sensitive as anyone. At the Indianola school deaf children learn too.

Serves Totally Deaf

The program there was begun in 1925 as the "Columbus Day School fo. the Deaf and Hard-of-Hearing." Gradually the program was changed to include only children who were completely deaf. Walter Bohl is the present director of Special Education for the Columbus School Board and Aimee Healy is his principal at the Indianola school.

Students served by the school come from every area of Columbus and Franklin County, and their transportation is provided by the Columbus School Board.

In a world without sound, it is very difficult to learn to speak. A baby listens to his parents and then imitates. For the deaf, this is impossible. Without the sensation of sound he cannot even hear his own words.

If he wants to speak he must watch other people. He must see how they form their lips and he must touch his fingers to the mouth and the throat. This process must be repeated over and over. Eventually his hoarse rasping may take the form of intelligible words.

All this requires kind and patient teachers, equipped with faith and special teaching aids. They have had special training and are certified to teach the hearing-handicapped.

The children go first to the Neil Avenue school, where they are tested and taught to lip-read.

Saturday from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m.

After this nursery school period, usually from ages three to five, they begin kindergarten at the Indianola School.

The classes number from six to 12 pupils, who sit in small chairs with special earphones on their heads. With these sets the children are able to hear what are termed "gross" sounds. They still do not hear as we do, but they hear enough to make some small distinctions.

It is hard for any child to begin school. How hard it must be for one who cannot hear or speak! Their faces though, are like the faces of all children. They do not know how hard it is.

This school's PTA is sponsoring a conference on Education of the Hearing-Handicapped, to be held at Everett Junior high school Friday and Saturday, May 12 and 13, in conjunction with National Hearing Month, which began on May 1.

48 FAMILIES APPLY FOR 'SURVIVAL TEST'

Any enterprising souls volunteer for the Town and Country survival test?

According to Bill Grover, the man in charge of the week-long attraction, some 48 families have already submitted their application.

The test, to take place at T & C May 26 through June 6, consists of confining a family in a fall-out shelter for a period of one week. Rewards will come in the form of merchandise and gift certificates from T & C merchants.

All applicants, according to Grover, will be screened and the test family is due to be announced next week.

All of the conditions under which a family would seek shelter against radio active fallout will be simulated in the test.

GAA is having its annual picnic May 16 at Blacklick Woods. The senior members will be the honored guests. Next year's officers will be announced at that time.

The Junior Y-Teens picnic will be held Saturday, May 13, at Hoover Dam.

Senior Teachers Day was observed yesterday by the senior class. Those having a 2.5 average or better had the opportunity to take over for the teachers.

The Eastmoor varsity baseball team lost its first game of the season to the North Polar Bears by the score of 4 to 2.

The team also lost its tournament game to Grandview with the final score, 7 to 1.

Eastmoor will be host to 12 teams, Saturday, May 13, at the Eastmoor Invitational Track Meet. The finals will begin at 7 p.m. with an admission price of 50 cents.

"Gay Paree" has been chosen by the 1961 graduating class as its prom theme. Entertainment for the prom, which will be held June 3, will be provided by Jerry Johnson's band.

Mari Werlin was chosen to be Eastmoor's candidate for queen at the Park of Roses. One girl from each school is selected annually to compete for the title.

Student Council members are asking for suggestions for a school crest. This crest will appear on the stage curtain, bookcovers and school stationery.

It's difficult to tell which comes first in coiffure beauty—the color or the style—for they are more truly mated this season than ever before. No longer is a style or a hair-tone chosen separately — each pretty in its own way. They must complement each other perfectly or the partnership is off. Some of the coifs are purposely chosen in a very simple arrangement to accent the color tone

THE PRESIDENT SHOT AT THE THEATRE LAST EVENING

ESCAPE OF THE ASSASSINS

Intense Excitement In Washington

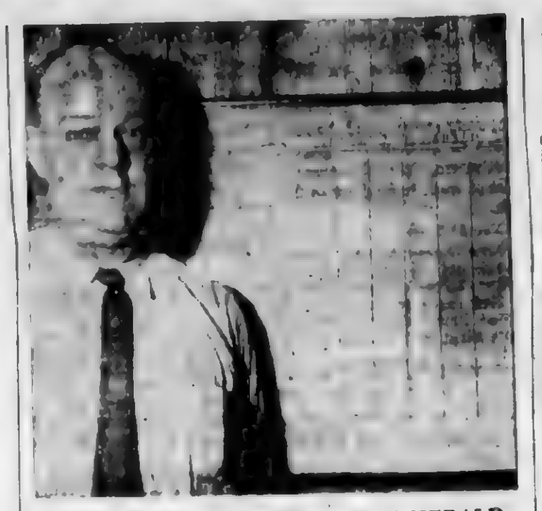
Scene At The Deathbed Of Mr. Lincoln

J. Wilkes Booth, the Actor, the Alleged Assassin of the President

&c, &c, &c

Thus shrieked the multiple heads of the New York Herald the morning of Saturday, Apr. 15, 1865 (all for 4 cents a copy).

The story started after the headlines at the top of the left hand column, continued to the second column, and where the original story left off, side stories and bulletins of the incident at Ford Theater.



The rest of the front page (no pix) was concerned with tidying up after the civil war. Guerilla warfare activity in some sections was still being reported.

That the populace at the time, as the one head proclaims, was "excited," no doubt was true, editorially and otherwise. But from a modern day's newsman point of view, the typesetters must have been a little "shook up" also with the pyramid of headlines.

Enough information was given in black type so that the story needn't be read. And, if it was, a magnifying glass would have been of great aid.

For while the heads were plentiful, black, and bold, the type was plentiful, light, and little.

The newspaper, by the way, hangs in a room at the home of Glenn Kapp, 4556 St. Margaret-ln, Whitehall.

GLENN KAPP WITH NEW YORK HERALD
"Of Course, The Performance Was Stopped"

The story was written as a dispatch from Edwin M. Stanton, secretary of war to a Major Gen. Dix.

To go on, from the beginning.

"This evening at about 9:30 p.m. at Ford Theatre, the President, while sitting in his private box with Mrs. Lincoln, Mrs. Harris and Major Rathburn, was shot by an assassin, who suddenly entered the box and approached behind the president.

"The assassin then leaped upon the stage brandishing a big dagger or knife and made his escape in the rear of the theatre.

"The pistol ball entered the back of the president's head and penetrated nearly through the head. The wound is mortal . . ."

The article then goes on to relate of another assassin entering the Seward house. Seward was in the sick chambers and was "stabbed two or three times.

"It is hoped the wounds may not be mortal. My apprehension is that they will prove fatal."

Other Herald dispatches related that "Assassination has been inaugurated in Washington. The bowie knife and pistol have been applied to the former slit in the throat."

The news reported rumors that nearly every cabinet member was killed. Other details included a description of Booth (30 years old, 5 feet, 9 inches, spare built, fair skin, dark, bushy hair, with a large mustache.)

Still other reports (not on the editorial page) said "The popular heart is deeply stirred and the deepest indignation against leading rebels is freely expressed."

BULLETIN

1 a.m.—The president is perfectly senseless.

2 a.m.—The president is still alive, but no improvement.

Another side story.

"The excitement was of the wildest possible description, and of course there was an abrupt termination of the theatrical performance."

An "Extra" was included on the same front page.

EXTRA 8:10 A.M.

Death Of The President

Further Details of the Great Crime.

Another dispatch to Maj. Gen. Dix from Stanton:

Shady Lane Neighborhood

Members of the Shady Lane Neighborhood have a service project in which they are active — remembering the senior citizens at the Alum Crest Hospital.

On May 6, the following troops gave a tea party: Brownie Troop 692, with Mrs. Ralph L. Gentles, sang songs; Intermediate Troop 541, under the leadership of Mrs. H. F. Mason, served cookies; Senior Troop 181 with Mrs. Theodore Puckey, leader, supplied the napkins and place mats, and made flower arrangements for the tea table and other table decorations.

Brownie Troop 217

On May 9, the members of the troop planted a flowering crabapple tree at the Leawood School, where this troop meets. The following members were present: Pamela Eisel, Kim Ellis, Debbie Flomenhoft, Lydia Pickler, Barbara Schiff, Nancy Stauf, Mary Stearle, Rebecca Williams, and Terry Zang.

Troop leader is Mrs. Gordon Picker, 4459 Ellery-dr. Co-leader is Mrs. Thomas Bullen, 4570 Dundee. Accepting the tree for the Leawood School was Ray Kuehner, principal.

Special Recognition

Two neighborhood troops will receive special recognition certificates for outstanding troop effort and acomplishments. Both sold at least two cartons per troop member, during the recent cookie sale. The two neighborhood troops sold one-third of the entire amount of cookies sold in the neighborhood. There are 17 troops in the Shady Lane Neighborhood.

The award winning troops were Intermediate Troop 944 headed by Mrs. Stephen Truhan of 4863 Betsy, and co-leader, Mrs. J. H. Dorger, 4895 Calvin. Members who sold the most cookies were Karen Doone, 72 boxes, and Patty Dorge, 63 boxes. The troop sold 504 boxes of cookies. Troop cookie chairman is Mrs. James Brown, 1322 Country Club-rd.

The Intermediate troops will have exhibits depicting the Shady Lane Neighborhood continuing service project, Alum Creek Hospital.

Troop 541 will make a model of the monthly tea party given by neighborhood troops for Alum Creek patients. The girls are dressing dolls to represent Alum Creek patients and Girl Scouts.

The 11 members of Troop 276 are making a model of the Alum Creek building.

Troop 231 planted marigold seeds which they will later transfer to the hospital lawn. The girls will also make a miniature hospital lawn for the display.

The 20 members of Troop 944 are making place mats and tray favors.

The two senior wing troops of the neighborhood will have exhibits showing their aviation activities.

Five Brownie Troops from Shady Lane Neighborhood will have craft demonstrations.

The 20 girls in this troop have been studying homemaking and visited Resch's Bakery, 4061 E. Livingston, where they learned how bread, cakes, cookies, etc. are made commercially.

Campfire—

Summer months of Ohio's camping season are more evident.

The first planned program is scheduled to begin activities with a Council Fire May 12. Canal Winchester and Groveport Camp Fire Girls will attend, and Moore will be their honored guest.

At this point no name has been chosen for the camp, since the committee wishes to learn if there were any Indian tribes in the area. The two present day camps are known as Cherokee and Kickapoo, for the tribes of Indians that once inhabited the land that is now Blendon Woods and Darby Creek Park.

Mrs. Robert Hoffman is chairman of the Camp Fire Girls leaders who are working on the project. Her committee is composed of leaders, Mrs. Robert Burke of Canal Winchester, Mrs. William Wade and Mrs. Otto Waidner, of Columbus, and Mrs. Robert Hefflinger of Reynoldsburg.

Robert Hoffman, chairman of the South East District property committee, has two other Winchester townsmen on his committee; Robert Burke and William Willis, together with two Groveport residents, Roy Bethel and Bert Kulich. The South East District is composed of the former South, East and Madison districts.

Camp Fire Girls may register for the new camp from May 10 until June 1, and are welcome to take advantage of this six-day camping experience in a woodland retreat. Registrations may be made with the Camp Fire Office From dream to reality really isn't so impossible after all!

Three years ago she organized the Junior Wightman Cup Team and coached the girls of this team. The classes are limited to eight children, 11 or older. Instruction will be in the morning and will be held each day regardless of weather conditions. Hours are 9:30 a.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday, and 1 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday.

Intermediate tennis, if there is a demand, will be taught by Larry Mets, teacher and tennis coach at Bexley High.

four-lane street may start sometime in July, with the improvement probably completed a year hence.

The Noe-Bixby-rd relocation and improvement, between Main-st and the Yorkshire addition, at present is in the courts, Werner said, pending acquisition of right of way.

In Bexley council chambers Tuesday night, solons came up with no new ordinances, but they did approve plot plans for a funeral home at the northwest corner of Francis and Livingston-avs, after approval of the planning and zoning commission.

Some time ago, council had discussed the possibility of replacing a stop light at the intersection of Montrose and Moundsts with a four-way stop sign system

Tuesday night, council heard a report from Mrs. Thomas S. Ludman, president of the Montrose PTA requesting that the traffic signal be retained and further asked that the signal be put on a full-time basis.

She said, in a letter, that her group had conducted a careful study of the proposed council action and had decided that a four-way stop system may prove to be confusing and complicated to the child as to who has the right of way.

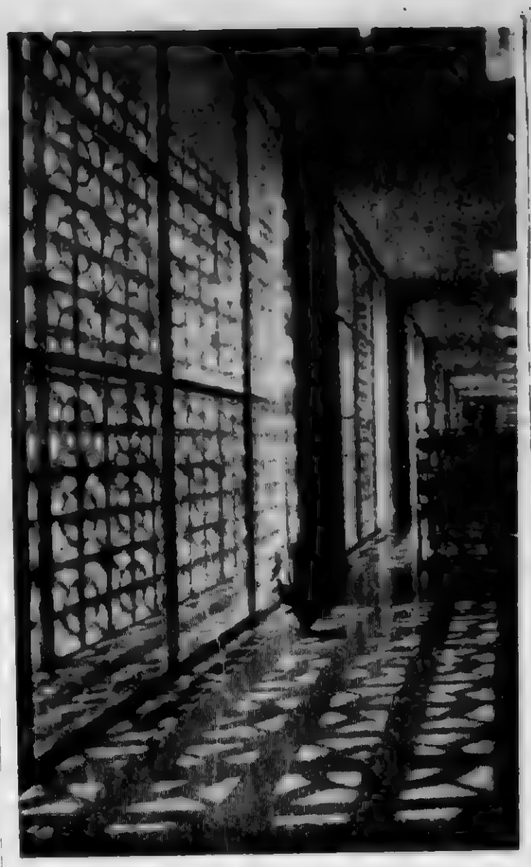
facilities and encouragement. Ohio has at least five areas in which she ought to be a leader in research. There still would remain the vast and far more important domains of arts, law, and other human needs.



But we should start no new colleges, junior or other, until qualified staffs can be recruited and trained and paid. Under no circumstances should we dilute the standards of our graduate and professional schools. In our colleges we should strive for quality. Furthermore some of us feel that the primary purpose of college is to furnish society with leaders. In all seriousness we may ask whether two-year colleges may not inhibit rather than develop leadership.

A hundred million dollars this biennium would be a start. In a few years every dollar with interest would return to our Commonwealth. It would be hard to find one pressure group, or vested interest which did not stand to profit in the long run. If we use a cold hard business point of view and judge ourselves not for what we are, but for what we might have become, the loss we are incurring by not providing adequately for our schools at all levels is staggering.

The problem will not be to get the money but to use it wisely. Ohio is eighth from the bottom in percentage of income going to all state and local taxes, 16% under the national average. No citizen of Ohio is proud of this place. No one wants to pay taxes to support waste. But none want to be stingy when stinginess costs. Our citizens just don't like to be hoodwinked.

Wake up, Community Leaders and all Citizens. Quit selling Ohio short. Condemn complacency. From the Govenor down, in the legislature and in both parties, you will find men who, given a chance, have the vision and character to fight for a better Tomorrow. Let's give them a chance.

What are you going to do about it?

trying to reactivate it.

Warner has been appointed temporary chairman of the committee to attempt the group's reactivation. "We think there is a lot of work to be done in this area.

"For instance:

"How about the many people who do not ride the commercial airlines because they are afraid?

"How many people have ever visited Port Columbus, or Don Scott Field or Northway or the rest?

"How many people do not understand the whys of the sonic boom?

"What is the future of Wright-Patterson and of Lockbourne?

"What effect do these establishments have on the local economy?

"A great amount of work is necessary to be expended to further aviation interest and study in the school systems because science and technology has opened up a whole new frontier for kids."

East Side Men See Shepard's 'Big Splash'

Three East Side men were not—as the rest of the country apparently was—glued to their TV sets Friday when Navy Cmdr. Alan Shepard became the first American space traveler.

They were on the scene.

All three had ringside seats aboard ships or planes of the Navy recovery forces stationed 290 miles down the Atlantic Firing Range.

Serving on the USS Lake Champlain, the aircraft carrier to which Shepard was taken after he was pulled from the sea by a Marine helicopter, was Fireman Apprentice Terry A. Mertens, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Hancock of 3429 Roswell-dr.

Aboard the destroyer USS Rooks, a support ship with the fleet, was Ted R. Moneypenny, an electricia.. fireman apprentice and the son of Mrs. Evalena G. Moneypenny of 1411 Livingston-av.

Serving with Anti-Submarine Squadron 22, which flew support for the fleet, was Electronics Technician Howard P. Kieffer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Brezze of 78-G Parklawn-blvd.

Martindale Is With Air Group

Claude C. Martindale, aviation structural mechanic third class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Martindale of 950 S. James-rd, is serving with Air Development Squadron 1 at the Naval Air Station, Key West, Fla.

The squadron conducts tests of new and standard anti-submarine warfare aircraft and airborne equipment. Tactics for using the equipment effectively are also determined by the squadron.

Educations—"Unlimited"

Answers... the high cost of a college education

The average cost of four years of college is $6,000. That can be a real drain on the family budget. The answer is Educations-"Unlimited" — an exclusive loan plan that provides for up to four years of college with only one loan. The cost is budgeted on a monthly basis and covers all charges made by the school.

As an added feature, debt cancelling life insurance is even included. It's the easiest way to work out a sound financing program for the education of your son or daughter.

Now's the time to get details and be all set for college this Fall. Stop in at your Good Neighbor office and get details. Ask for the manager.

Whitehall And Bishop Hartley Girls In Women's Olympic Development Meet

By John Auble, Jr.

Whitehall certainly seems to be coming into its own—at least track-wise. And, several Bishop Hartley young ladies are traveling close behind.

It wasn't too long ago that Marty Ingram, a Whitehall physical education teacher, and a few other girls, started a track team for women at the Ram school.

Almost a month later Bishop Hartley jumped on the bandwagon. Both schools, incidentally, participated in a dual meet at Whitehall.

Whitehall took the meet by a mere three points during the wind-swept, rain-pelted afternoon.

Now both of these local schools will have a chance to participate against some real competition and they certainly seem to be looking forward to it.

On Saturday afternoon, May 13, the second annual Girls' and Field Championships and Olympic Development meeting will be held.

This will match a field of some 400 young women athletes from the Greater Columbus area, including around-the-state competitors.

Girls ranging in age from eight to 19 years, separated into four age divisions, will vie for honors in the popular city-wide competition, sponsored jointly by the Columbus Recreation Department and the Ohio Track Club.

James Lorimer, Ohio Track Club coach, announced that the highlight of the meet will be the 880 yard run which will feature some of the top female talent in the nation.

The event will be an exhibition event between Grace Butcher, national indoor record holder in the 880; Pat Douthitt, who formerly held the record; Rose Lovelace, who was an alternate on the 1960 U.S. Olympic team, and Sandra Knott, who broke the listed indoor record.

All of the girls are from the Cleveland Recreation Club, and, according to Lorimer, "are the country's outstanding half-milers."

Olympic development medals and ribbons will be awarded through the first five places and the program will include running, jumping and throwing events.

The whole wingding will start promptly at 1 p.m.

No entry fee is being assessed and post entries will be accepted. Entries are being handled by the Columbus Recreation Department, according to Jerry Fedderson and Nick Barrack.

As a sidelight, the Whitehall girls will run under the banner of the Whitehall Recreation Club since scholastic rules prohibit them from representing their school.

Likewise, Bishop Hartley girls will run as the Schiller Recreation Center team.

Whitehall's Mrs. Ingram will be an official in the softball throw event, Lorimer announced.

B'nai B'rith Zion Lodge Will Sponsor Bowling Tournament

One of the most ambitious undertakings in the long history of B'nai B'rith Zion Lodge 62 will become a reality on May 27 at the Jewish Center Bowling Lanes, when Zion Lodge's Jackpot-Headpin Tournament commences. The tournament will see participants competing for many thousands of dollars in cash, merchandise and other prizes.

All area bowlers, male and female, have been invited to take part in the event which will last until June 4. Entry fee will be $1 per line with all proceeds to the youth services and other philantrophies sponsored by Zion Lodge and the national B'nai B'rith organization.

Contestants may enter as often as desired and may bowl as many as 12 games (lines) at each tournament session. No two games may be bowled on the same alley during one session. Each contestant's best score will be used in determining winner lists at the conclusion of the event.

The grand prize in the men's division of the tournament is $500 in cash for the highest headpin score. Prize for the top female bowler will be $200. Also a Jackpot prize of $1,000 will be awarded to the bowler who can throw nine consecutive strikes. In the unlikely event of a tie for the Jackpot prize, the money will be split among the winners.

Ann entrants in the tournament will be eligible for the drawing for a week's vacation for two in Miami Beach at the Beachcomer Motel, plus the use of a car for the period of the vacation. Air transportation to provided.

Another prize being offered is a class A one-year membership to a local golf course to a male bowler finishing high in standings. In addition to the of merchandise awards are being offered.

The tournament has been divided into four divisions for the younger bowlers and two senior divisions. First, second and third place trophies will be offered in a Boy's and Girl's Junior Division (15 thru 18 years of age) and in Girls' and Boys' Bantam Division (14 years of age and under.)

The schedule of tournament sessions, which will last from May 27 to June 4, follows:

May 27—7 p.m. to 12 p.m.; May 28—1 p.m. to 11 p.m.; May 29—7 p.m. to 11 p.m.; May 30—7 p.m. to 11 p.m.; May 31 — 7 p.m. to 11 p.m.; June 1—7 p.m. to 11 p.m.; June 2—no bowling; June 3—7 p.m. to 12 p.m.; and June 4—1 p.m. to 11 p.m.

Baseball, Field Events On CU Weekend Slate

The 880 Relay Team will open this Friday's final home track meet at Capital University at 4 p.m. On Saturday the Fighting Lutheran baseballers will go against Marietta in a double-header which begins at 1:30 p.m.

An excellent chance to view college athletics at their best is the opportunity available to area residents. Ample seats are available for all contests and there is no admission charge.

Capital's track team is the top team in the Ohio Conference. They presently have compiled a 7-0 record. In addition to speedy Sam Travis who consistently wins both the 100 and 220, Capital has the conference hurdles champion in Duane Pelkey. Record breaking miler Roy Boggs from Lima, is expected to lower the field record in the mile as he has done consistently all season. His best this season was a 4:26 mile and he is constantly improving.

The baseballers sport a 4-2 record. Fans will have an opportunity to see one of the outstanding major-league prospects in this area. Fastballer Joel "Bud" Dill has pitched three shutout games this season, including a one-hitter and also has run up a string of 27 consecutive scoreless innings.

Jets' Ground Keepers Sing 'Old Man River'

By Jack Allen
Sports Editor

Last Saturday's Jet-Rochester game must have caused the records keepers to do a little revising . . . four times the grounds keepers at Jet Stadium rolled out the canvass . . . and four times they rolled it up.

The umpire behind the plate must have got his kicks out of the whole thing . . . he'd wait until the rain was falling heavily . . . call time . . . out would come the canvass . . . and before the score of free laborers could get to shelter the rain would stop and they would roll up the cover.

It was interesting to note the workers really hustled the first time the game was delayed . . . the second time they trotted . . . the third time they walked . . . and the forth time they didn't completely make it.

Everyone seemed determined to get in the game . . . Friday's was rained out . . . a doubleheader was slated for Sunday . . . also rained out . . . and the man in the black suit just wouldn't quit . . . the Jets did however . . . six runs behind Rochester.

The game consumed time as as well as patience . . . it was delayed 15 minutes starting . . . when completed the clock was crowding straight up.

I wonder what kind of a story the local football machine's PR man gave fellow sports editor Paul Hornung when he printed in his column that Colts players did the strike routine last season.

This writer had the exclusive break on that story while working with a Newark daily . . . several of the Colts subbed for a local car dealer and Colt money man at a Newark service club and spilled all . . . when it came out the next day a letter was quickly issued from Columbus denying the whole thing . . . but Newark Advocate sports scribe Bob Worth wouldn't bite.

Local papers never printed the story until Hornung did a football rehash a couple of Sundays ago and apparently forgot the subject was taboo.

The Cincinnati Reds used a bazooka-type machine which shoots up high pop flys for the catchers to practice on . . . Scout Mike Ryba was usually at the controls . . . coach Dick Sisler ran the catchers concentrating on wind sprints . . . Ed Bailey inquired at the end of one practice session . . . "Dick, are we gonna run these guys out at second base this year instead of throwing them out?

The Cleveland Indians are sporting one of the most youthful squads in the club's history . . . the average age of the 32 men on the roster was 25 years, five months, at the opening of the season . . . average pitcher's age is 24 . . . infielder, 26 years, 10 months . . . outfield, exactly 25 . . . and the catchers do the old man bit at 28 years, six months.

Reservations Going Fast For July 16 Great Lakes Cruise

Reservations to date for the big Hartley Newspapers Great Lakes pleasure cruise Sunday, July 16, have been coming into the Hartley offices like proverbial hotcakes.

Reader response as of May 10 has indicated that it won't be long before all spaces are filled for this cruise-of-cruises aboard the SS Aquarama, the multi-million dollar, nine-deck Great Lakes luxury liner.

Because of limited space aboard the modern, chartered Lake Shore buses, the Hartley papers have made arrangements for those people who might desire to drive their own cars to Cleveland and back, rather than traveling by bus.

Adult fare for the cruise is $18.50, while full child's fare is $12.50. These prices include round-trip transportation to Cleveland plus full cost of the cruise itself. Only meals and beverages are additional. For those who desire to drive, fares have been reduced accordingly to $12.50 for adults and $7.50 for children.

Parking space is available for your automobile at the ship's landing at a cost of $1 for the entire day.

Time Change Noted

Because of the change in time between Columbus and Cleveland, buses are scheduled to leave Columbus at 4 a.m. Sunday morning, in time to arrive shipside by 9 a.m. Pillows will be provided free of charge so our early-rising travelers will be able to catch up on their sleep between here and Lake Erie.

This is a trip you won't want to miss. The SS Aquarama features movies and bingo, comfortable deck chairs for relaxing in the warm July sun, a ship's library, clean restroom facilities and a large ballroom with evening floorshow.

For the kiddies, there is the glass-enclosed playroom under constant supervision of trained persons. Children must be old enough to play by themselves, however, as there are no nursery facilities.

Church Services, Too

Both Protestant and Catholic Church services are available Sunday morning.

Other features of the beautiful liner include four restaurants and two cocktail lounges, checkroom facilities and elevator service to all nine of her decks.

Indications are that the quota will be filled quickly, so make your reservations now. Simply fill out the coupon and mail, including check or money order for the full amount to: CRUISE, Hartley Newspapers, 2465 W. Broad-st, Columbus 4, O. Reservations may also be made at the front counter of the Hartley Newspapers office.

Make your reservations now . . . Be sure you're one of the lucky ones.

THE S.S. AQUARAMA, beautiful luxury liner on which Hartley readers will cruise from Cleveland to Detroit and back Sunday, July 16, boasts a variety of entertainment features. Even so, some folks just like to sit back, relax and enjoy Lake Erie's ever-changing view through the huge picture windows of the Main Lounge. Make your reservations now for this wonderful full-day cruise.

I would like to reserve space for ..... adults and .....children on the July 16 Hartley Newspapers Great Lakes Pleasure Cruise. Enclosed you will find check or money order for ....., which is the full amount for these reservations. (Note: fares are $18.50 for adults who travel on the chartered buses or $12.50 for adults who drive. Children's fare is $12.50, bus included, or $7.50 if driving). My party will include ..... children under six years of age. My party will (please check one) travel by bus.....; drive our car .....

W. T. GRANT STORES in this area—as well as all of Central Ohio—began distributing S&H Green Stamps on May 10. Looking over the benefits of the stamp plan are, left to right, Joseph S. Sproviero, manager of Great Eastern Grants; Anthony Castelli, Great Southern manager; Harry J. Collins, Great Western manager; D. D. Michalak, Grant district manager, and Joseph Yurkanin, Sperry and Hutchinson, district sales representative.

W. T. Grant's Is Now First Chain In Industry To Offer Stamp Plan

W. T. Grant, national general merchandise store chain, began distributing S&H Green Stamps here and in its other central region stores May 10, according to D. D. Michalak, district manager.

In making the announcement, Michalak said:

"We are happy to announce this additional benefit for Grant customers. By being the first in our industry to offer a stamp plan, we have secured a nation-wide, 65½-year old company, Sperry and Hutchison, with an outstanding record of providing highest quality merchandise and service."

Issuance of S&H Green Stamps in W. T. Grant stores in the Central Region follows inauguration last month of Green Stamps in Grant's New England, Eastern, and Southern regions.

William S. Beinecke, president of the Sperry and Hutchison Company, said that he was proud to welcome W. T. Grant Company stores to the roster of 90,000 business establishments.

Nationally, S&H operates 700 redemption centers.

S&H reports it spent more than $22,000,000 in the past year in the purchase of products made in the area.

The Columbus W. T. Grant Company store managers, Anthony Castelli of Great Southern, Harry Collins of Great Western and Joseph Sproviero of Great Western, have completed all arrangements for the introduction for the program.

READING, ARITHMETIC

Whitehall Offering Summer School At Elementary Level

Whitehall will offer summer school classes in the elementary grades as well as in the high school this year, Superintendent Robert Crabbs has revealed.

Pupils in grades three through eight will be able to participate in reading and arithmetic, Crabbs said, at a charge of $12 per course. Children must first be recommended by the building principal, Crabbs said, to take part in the program.

Summer school will extend from June 19 to July 28. Reading classes will be conducted from 9 to 10:15 a.m.; arithmetic classes are scheduled for 10:30 to 11:45 a.m.

On the high school level, courses are being offered in typing and in driver training at no cost.

Typing classes are scheduled from 8 to 10 a.m. and from 10 to 12, for a quarter of a credit. Those applying must be in the "freshman or above category."

Driver training class is slated from 8 to 9 a.m. with instruction hours to be arranged. Students must be 16 years old. One-half of a credit will be given.

Crabbs said that the board is also considering the feasibility of conducting a summer class in industrial arts.

The board this week approved salary schedules for non-certified personnel at a three per cent boost over last year, according to Crabbs.

Whitehall Plans 'Focus' Service

May 14-19 will be observed as GA (Girls' Auxiliary) Focus Week in the Whitehall Baptist Church. Sunday evening, May 14, at 7:30, there will be a "Coronation Service" recognizing the girls' achievement in their Forward Steps.

Susan Wilmouth and Jane Wingo will be crowned queens. Others to be recognized include: Princesses, Nancy Dean, Susan Wilcoxon and Nancy Winslow; Ladies-in-waiting, Patricia Christopher, Ellen Kronk, Sheri Lodge, Judy Rhodes and Iris Smith; Maidens, Cheryl Black and Brona Roy.

The program is being planned by Mrs. J. Frank Heaton, GA director, assisted by Mrs. W. C. Dudley, Mrs. Herbert Paper, Mrs. Clyde Christopher, Mrs. Forrest Kronk, Mrs. Ed Winslow, and Mrs. Robert Wingo. Miss Ann Cottingim will be the soloist, Mrs. Clarence Van Schpen the organist and Mrs. Herbert Paper, Associational Woman's Missionary Union President, will give the challenge to the girls.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

Mason Wants West Area Cleaned-Up

Loren Mason is determined to get "something done" about the conditions existing along the railroad track that runs behind Maplewood-av.

Mason, council service committee chairman, says that he has checked the vicinity along the track from Broad-st to Washburn-av. His findings have activiated him into bringing the matter to council's attention.

He will urge council, he says, to develop some action to drain the swampy, mosquito-laden area. "Broad-st to Etna-rd is the worst part," Mason stated.

Mason is also hoping to set up a plan of study for unused land in the "three woods" streets—Maple, Colling and Robin—with the hope of using private property for parks or the installation of streets.

Fish Fry Planned

American Legion Post 1 will sponsor a Fish Fry at 5:30 p.m. May 19 at Oak Park, 5442 Sunbury-rd. Cost will be $1.50. Proceeds will benefit the post's athletic and child welfare programs.

IDLE HOUR GUIDE . . .

'State Fair' On Probe–May 11 Flippo Special–'Time to Trade'

A special fast-paced program of eight-cylinder hilarity will roll into the living rooms of Central Ohio on Channel 10 Thursday night.

The Flippo Special — "Time To Trade" will be seen at 8 p.m. This show will take automobiles as its theme, with Flippo the clown illustrating in zany fashion that now is the best time to trade for a new model car.

Robinson

Flippo will be assisted by Zada Van Doorn as Mrs. Rinky Doo whose auto runs a close second to Jack Benny's famous Maxwell, all for fun. It is to be a live-studio presentation, supplemented by film clips including some of the old time automobile scenes. A studio audience of auto dealers and their families will be on hand for the activity, attempting to keep Flippo on the straight and narrow.

"PROBE" — "STATE FAIR" ON WLW-C, Thursday night at 7 p.m. In recent years, the state of Ohio's Fair has been criticized for the decline in attendance, poor buildings, lack of appeal to the urban population, lack of continuity in programming and for many other factors. "Probe," will seek to establish the reasons for these conditions and will try to find what is being done to correct them.

"Probe" actually will examine the role of a state fair. The Governor's cabinet committee recently heard a report on the fair, House Bill 617 seeks to establish a separate State Fair Commission. "Probe" will measure these two separate reports. Guests to be seen include, Agriculture Secretary Robert Terhune, the Fair Manager Rowland Bishop and many interested private citizens.

VIEWING NOTES FOR THE FUTURE . . . Spring Byington becomes a member of the cast of NBC-TV's "Laramie" next season as the western sets out to increase its popularity among the women viewers . . . "G.E. College Bowl," recent winner of a Peabody award, returns to CBS-TV for its fourth season on Sunday, Sept. 24 after a summer vacation. One of the "DuPont Show Of The Week" presentation on NBC-TV next season will be a tribute to the USO which will observe its 20th birthday next year. Lee Marvin portrays a mobster on "The Untouchables," for June 1. The Channel 6, ABC-TV episode is called, "The Nick Acropolis Story."

Burr Tillstrom's "Kukla and Ollie" puppets are now expected to return with a regular NBC-TV fall series. (I sincerely hope so). "Continental Classroom," NBC-TV and Channel 4, which ends its early-morning math and chemistry courses May 26, may turn up on another network by fall. A sponsor conflict may prevent Bill Cullen from replacing Arthur Godfrey on the popular Sunday night series, "Candid Camera." While speaking of Cullen, Bill will do his nighttime "Price Is Right," on Mondays, next fall, moving from the Wednesday night slot. "Glen Miller Time," a taped musical series featuring the Ray McKinley orchestra will be a summer replacement for "Hennesey" on CBS-TV and Channel 10 beginning July 17.

"RAILROADS: END OF THE LINE?" . . . What is happening to American railroads and the passengers that ride and depend on them? Why are U. S. railroads in serious trouble today? Is there a key role that rails still can play in America's transportation future. These questions and others will be explored Tuesday, May 23 on NBC's final "NBC White Paper," of the season.

This award winning series will trace the railroad's historic role in the development of the country, covering the twenties and thirties when the passenger was king. There will also be a study of the present situation which finds the general rail crisis making headlines. Chet Huntley will narrate "NBC White Paper" 10 p.m., May 23, Channel 4.

"COLONEL FLACK ON CHANNEL 6 . . . A comedy series starring Alan Mowbray as Colonel Humphrey J. Flack, a character who can't solve his problems but is always trying to help others, manages to live like a millionaire and still be penniless. This series on 6 replaces "Blue Angels" effective Friday night at 7:30 p.m.

LIKE TO HAVE A "SECOND HONEYMOON" ALL PAID FOR?

What's to do in New York City? Rest assured there's never a dull moment, especially if you're there on a "second honeymoon," courtesy of channel 10's Ann Reider and her sponsor. The call has gone out for couples to be nominated for the expense paid trip with full particulars being announced daily at 12:15 p.m. on WBNS-TV. It is pointed out that the nominator of the winners receives a beautiful console television set.

"OPEN CLASSROOM" REVIEWS REMAINING SHOWS ON 4. This coming Saturday morning, the South-Western school system will present the sixth grade from Prairie-Lincoln Elementary School, with emphasis on the music class. On May 20th, the Columbus School for Girls will present its Debate Club and discuss the activities of the club . . . On May 27, the University School will feature the seventh and eighth grades with original compositions for music classes and then the fifth and sixth grades in orchestra work. Wrapping up the series this year, the June telecast is scheduled for the Columbus Public School, with program content unavailable at this writing.

May we extend a very pleasant Mother's Day greeting to each and every mom on her special day, Sunday, May 14.

Sun's Warm Rays Nudging Fish Into Bait-Snapping Ideas

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROD COCHRAN

Fishing is off and running at Hoover Reservoir, according to M. T. Crosby at Paul's Marine Supply. "We need some warmer weather before a lot of fishermen venture out," he commented. "This is just the start."

Crappies, bass, catfish and walleyes have been showing up on fishermen's stringers at the large water supply reservoir north of here. Most numerous, as you would expect, are crappies. Many fishermen in these parts start their season on the crappies and they hit consistently early. Small minnows are the preferred bait.

Running a close second in recent days has been the channel catfish. These are being taken on nightcrawlers and large chub minnows for the most part. The largest one checked in so far has been a 14-pounder caught by Bob Seorles. Many smaller ones, however, have been reported.

Bass are beginning to show up better as the water slowly warms. Live bait has been most successful to date, but artificials are beginning to take some. Often, some of the biggest bass taken all year are caught early. The bass at Hoover so far are running up to four pounds, but a real lunker may show up anytime.

Nice Catches Reported

Some nice walleyes are being reported — 18 and 19 inches long. These weigh from two and one-half to three pounds. Best baits are nightcrawlers and plugs.

Other fishing reports have been rolling in. The Maple Swamp area of Buckeye Lake has been giving up some nice bass. This is shallow water, and it warms more rapidly than the rest of the lake.

Tom Maggard, West Jefferson, had a good day on Deer Creek. Fishing nightcrawlers he took two carp that appeared to be twins. They each weighed nine pounds, and gave his fishing tackle quite a work out. He also took a few rock bass, but no catfish or small mouth bass.

The first good largemouth bass fishing of the year is usually in farm ponds. The water is clear for the most part permitting the sun's rays to penetrate. A bass apparently feels like you do after a long hard winter — he likes to bask in the first sunshine of spring. This therapeutic treatment whets his appetite and he starts to gobble in the calories. He will gobble in artificial baits and nightcrawlers just as readily.

A few early bass are taken every year, some just after the ice goes out. But these are lethargic fish, no fun to hook and no fun to land. For fast fishing you want to hit the feeding spree the fish go on before spawning. This started about two weeks ago in Burr Oak Lake down in Athens County. It's starting now in farm ponds and the shallow bays of larger waters. In a week or so, the deeper lakes such as Hoover will be giving up more bass.

About the same time smallmouth bass in streams will be hitting.

If you must go fishing early, and most of us do, then be content with crappies. Let the bass thaw out a little — but not too long.

HAWAII-BOUND tourists have plenty of time for fun, amusing experiences and getting acquainted on board the SS Lurline, of the Matson Lines, heading for the "Suburbia Sea Party."

'TAKE OFF YOUR SHOE' Plenty Hoomalimali On A Cruise Ship To Hawaii

In the Hawaiian language, "hoomalimali" means "let yourself go—have fun."

No more vivid translation could be had than looking in on the hula class, held daily both going and coming from Hawaii, on the SS Lurline and her sister ship, the SS Matsonia.

The hula, as members of the Surburbia Sea Party being sponsored by the Eastern Review this spring will discover, is Hawaii's national dance — and was originally danced by men. Matson holds to that tradition, the teacher being a handsome, flashing-eyed Hawaiian, also endowed with a sense of humor.

"Take off your shoes," are his first words as you and your fellow hula "students" face the teacher in the ballroom for the first lesson.

He explains the origin of the hula. It was introduced eons ago by two legendary gods, a male and a female, both named Laka, who arrived by canoe from the South Seas. The dance nearly died out, (missionaries from New England insisted on covering the hula girls in tent-like "Mother Hubbards") but managed to overcome all obstacles until now there are more than 300 versions of the dance. But if you can master just one, you're in.

"O.K., arm's length apart," the teacher commands. "Now, think of yourself as inside a barrel. It's covered with moss. What you want to do is scrape that barrel clean."

Hula school is on in earnest. First day is a sit-down session. The students concentrate on learning the words to the song they'll soon be interpreting with hands and hips. On the voyage to Hawaii, the featured song is the "Hukilau," about a community fishing festival. On the return trip, the familiar "Little Brown Gal" is featured in the shinboard classes.

Second day, the action begins, with over-enthusiastic wiggles delighting those on the sidelines with cameras. By now, some men have succumbed and joined the class, too.

"A one and a two, and a one-two-three — full speed ahead now," and there's considerable confusion in the ranks between the left foot and the right, the "onu" and the derriere.

By the third day, students are becoming more adept. (Some take their lessons so seriously, they dream about them). Now, the hand motions begin to make sense (one palm over the other makes a fish, the outstuck thumbs simulating its fins). But the crowd continues to have the most fun with the "In the old (bump) Hawaiian (grind) way" line.

At last, somehow, hands, feet and hips move simultaneously.

Fourth day is graduation, marked by ceremonies more hilarious than solemn. "Stop! Stop the music" the teacher will cry in mock despair.

But nobody flunks, and everyone gets a palapala (diploma), giving you the right to perform the hula anywhere, anytime, at your own risk, of course. You are also endowed with a Hawaiian name—yours for life.

Hula class is about the most popularly attended activity on the Lurline and Matsonia.

Hoomalimali games requiring volunteers to do such uninhibited things as race down a ballroom floor on their hands and knees with a potato on a pick between their teeth, also pack them in.

Less strenuous group pleasures include horseracing (wooden horses, racing according to the toss of the dice), bingo, bridge and canasta tournaments, and a champagne party' hosted by the ship's captain.

Miami Beach, Fla., is one of the very few cities in the world with more water than land area in its city limits—10 square miles of water, 7-1 of land.

Hope Lutheran slates Musical

Power Mower Safety Suggestions

1. Study the instruction manual which came with the mower. This manual gives basic information on safety and maintenance.
2. Inspect the lawn for stones, wire and other debris before you start to mow. The blade can pick up such objects and throw them with enough force to kill. It is important to keep all persons away from the opening where grass is ejected.
3. Train all operators before letting them use or even start the mower. The operator should stand firm and be sure the mower will not move over his foot as the starter rope is pulled. Be sure engine is cold and shut off when filling gasoline tank.
4. Always be sure of your footing especially when mowing on an incline. It is very easy to pull the mower back over your foot unless you are aware of the danger and keep your mind on the job at hand.
5. Stop the mower whenever the operator is called away or leaves the job temporarily. An unattended running mower plus a small child sometimes equals disaster.
6. Keep all small children and pets away from the machine. They could stumble or fall into the mower path or onto the mower itself and become casualties.
7. Always stop the engine when you are unclogging, adjusting or oiling the mower. As an added precaution be sure to disconnect the spark plug wire while you are working on the bottom of the mower. Never reach under the guard. Keep your hands, feet and clothing away from all moving parts.
8. Keep gasoline stored in a plainly marked red can. This can should be spill-proof in case it is bumped or upset. Storing gasoline in a glass jar is asking for fire.

Careless operation of your power mower can cause serious injury.

In Bexley, Two Architects Of Culture Compete Along More Materialistic Lines

JOHN POEPPELMEYER

Two traditional spheres of culture in Bexley — the school and the library— find themselves in the odd position of debating more materialistic things — including money.

The library trustees have presented a contract to the school board requesting the board to pay for library services rendered free of charge to the schools.

Under the terms of the contract, the schools would be expected to pay a charge of $3 per pupil to the library to compensate for such services as librarians, books, and repair and replacement of books.

The schools would also be expected to pay for reference books costing more than $25.

"We are merely implementing an Ohio Supreme Court decision made in 1958," said Mary Zimmerman, chief Bexley librarian. "Last year we invested $30,000 into services for the four Bexley schools."

And that $30,000 figure is the one Superintendent Emerson Jarvis has approximated it will cost the schools in the event they decide to turn down the library contract in order to set up their own library system.

He says that the the stipulated rate of $3 per pupil, the cost would amount to over $7500, if the contract is signed.

Each of two cultural entities receives funds from two different tax sources: the library operates from proceeds of the intangible taxes, collected at the county level, then disseminated back to various districts; the schools depend upon the real estate tax rate for its funds.

Mrs. Zimmerman related that there has never been a written contract between the board of education and the library trustees.

"There has always been a bridge maintained between the school libraries and the main one," she added. "In this day and age, how can anyone have a good education without school libraries? Teachers have to go far beyond the assigned textbooks."

She said the library board had studied contracts from over the state to arrive at the $3 per pupil figure.

Dr. Jarvis says the school library does serve the needs "peculiar to us. Over the last three years we have rebuilt our English program, and we have to get into the library to use it."

He points out that if the school board does not go along with the contract, the only alternative would be to ask for a levy, so the schools could provide their own library staff and books.

The library budget is submitted along with the school board's, but the board does not have the power to cut it. The school board likewise appoints the library trustees.

As yet, Dr. Jarvis stated .the board has not arrived at which way to go.

Whitehall Income Tax OK'd — 'For Good;' Expiration Date KO'd

Yearling-rd. Cost: $321,516

Death and taxes cannot be circumvented, and Whitehall council has made sure that the latter will not be.

Under the very innocuous title of "amending the income tax ordinance" passed two years ago, solons eliminated the expiration date of the previous measure and reduced the fine for failing to file to $50.

The 15-page ordinance, read in its entirety by Walter Siemer, includes two specific points. According to City Attorney James Maxwell:

The old income tax law was to expire at the end of 1962: the amended law has no expiration date. With the reduction of the fine to $50, from the previous $200 penalty, evaders no longer will be able to demand a jury trial, under state law.

According to Council Finance Chairman Ray Shipley, the reason for the "no expiration" date is that it allows the city a greater ease in the event it is necessary to sell councilmanic bonds. Shipley said the "city has to have some security to back itself" when making such a bond request.

The new law also allows the income tax monies to be forded into the general fund to be allocated at council's discretion, to other various funds. Before, the tax money had been earmarked for specific funds. Shipley said.

In all, solons paced their way through nearly 30 readings Tuesday night in a meeting that broke up around 1 a.m. It took them nearly three hours to get through the first four ordinances.

Impatient Maxwell asked the legislators to get to the main matter of the evening — the $321,516 improvement of Yearling-rd. When reached, the matter went through smoothly without a hitch. Low bidder was the Ohio State Bank. Maxwell told the council "this is the best rate of interest we have ever gotten on any improvement. What it amounts to is actually 2½ per cent."

For a while Tuesday night, the First Ward's Richard Hyatt was batting a neat "zero," but he managed to pull through

The Ohio Fuel Gas Company has declined to accept a contract from the Whitehall Council, City Attorney James Maxwell notified the city Tuesday night.

Whitehall had requested rates comparable to those of Columbus and Bexley.

Move To Retain Garnon Leaves Ouster Case 'Moot'

Alan B. Shepard, Jr., in full astronaut regalia, could have strolled into Whitehall Council Chambers Tuesday night and not one eye would have been riveted in his direction.

The reason: The goings on saw Robert Garnon resign, and then immediately be reinstated.

Garnon, a Democrat, has been under an attack by City Attorney James Maxwell, a Republican, to oust the councilman from his job. During March, Garnon was in charge of issuing auto licenses in the city. Maxwell, in a brief to the Ohio Supreme Court, claimed Garnon was illegally holding two public offices at once.

Tuesday, Garnon told his fellow councilmen he could ill afford to fight a case through the Supreme Court, and submitted his resignation.

He took a seat in the audience, then listened while Republican Rap Shipley asked for a vote to have Garnon "fill the council vacancy." The vote was unanimous, four Republicans and two Democrats concurring.

Even Mayor Walter B. Moling could not restrain a spontaneous laugh as he swore Garnon back in.

The move came as a complete surprise to Maxwell, who said the Supreme Court case "was now a moot point."

That the move was a prepared one was obvious. Council President Walter Siemer, who was referred to by a councilman as "spokesman" on the maneuver, admitted he had had an "inkling" of what was going to happen. He refused to add, however, exactly what status the events placed Maxwell's position in.

Maxwell, chagrined over the proceedings, said he couldn't understand the Republicans' motives, but added, "What happened here was a tacit admission that I was right. It simply validated an invalid position." (Maxwell had charged that because of Garnon's "two jobs," the Second Ward seat was vacant."

Donald Gorrell, recently named to council, succinctly and facetiously, described the action in relation to himself: "Now, I am no longer the junior member on council."

As Garnon was seated, another Democrat, Loren Mason, stretched across the council table to shake Shipley's hand, signifying perhaps, a concerted effort to work more closely in the future.

Maybe, in the short span of 60 seconds Tuesday night, a new era of politics was spawned in Whitehall.

WHAT THE SUPREME COURT SAYS

And Interpretations

The bone of contention between the Bexley School Board and the Bexley Public Library can be found in the differing interpretations of an Ohio State Supreme Court decision made in 1958.

Mrs. Mary Zimmerman, head librarian, says that in essence the opinion states that "all school districts receiving library service from public libraries, must have that service."

Dr. Emerson Jarvis, superintendent, contends the decision applies only to those districts which already had contracts with libraries before the decision was handed down. Bexley schools have never had a written contract with the Bexley Public Library, Jarvis asserts. It was, he said, more or less traditional for the library to supply the state schools with services.

He says the decision contains the words "may" have a contract, not "must," and added that the contract must be "business-like," in other words, based upon monetary considerations.

The Supreme Court decision was handed down June 11, 1958, in the case of the Ross County Library Board of Trustees vs the Ross County Budget Commission.

The part that pertains to the Bexley situation follows:

"Where a board of public library trustees has entered into a contract with a board of education, pursuant to section 3375.14 of the revised code, for the furnishing of school library services and is operating under that contract at a loss, such contract should be examined as to its businesslike fairness in determining the needs of the library in the matter of the allocation of funds.

"The board of education may provide for the establishment to control and maintenance of school libraries for the purpose of providing school library service to the pupils under its jurisdiction.

"Such board of education may contract with any public library board association or other organizations operating a public library in a community to furnish such school library service the board of education paying all or part of the expense thereof."

Unemployment And Education

We continue another installment of the article from R. R. Fling:

In recent years masses of men have descended upon Ohio from the Appalachians, Vermont to Mississippi and into the swamps of Louisiana. They may not know how to write but they soon learn how to get on Ohio's lush unemployment. They are smart. We ought to cash in on this new asset.

In 1937 Ohio passed an unemployment law and built up a reserve of over $600 million, to protect the workers' families. The reserve has dwindled almost a half billion dollars. In 1959 the Legislature raised benefits about one-third. In 14 months $180 million went out more than came in, probably most of it to families who had done nothing whatever to earn it. Small business men who had spent 20 years building a splendid record had that record shattered in one year. If a drifter wants to winter in Arizona at our expense he can. The "red balance" employer is helpless and "big business' advises raising his rate. There is no limit to the asking of bums looking for a handout.

When Rome started "free grain" mobs from all over the world moved in, she quickly became terrorized and the "Glory that was

East Side Family Of Five Selected For 'Survival Test'

An East Columbus family with three children, one in diapers, has been selected to undergo an eight-day "survival test." The children's ages are 5, 3, and 8 months.

The event will take place at Town and Country

Another family has been placed on "stand-by" status in the event the East Columbus man is unable to obtain his employer's permission for the test.

In the event the family remains in the Life Masters, Inc. survival shelter, they will be the recipients of gift certificates and merchandise from T&C merchants in excess of $500.

The panel that selected the family "test" family was composed of Robert Hayes, president of the Columbus area Junior Chamber of Commerce; Russell Pennell, director of Columbus and Franklin County Civil Defense; D. A. Woodmansee, a retired major, formerly in command of survival training instruction at Lockbourne AFB.

The panel screened nearly four dozen applicants for the week-long endurance test.

According to Woodmansee, who is also technical advisor for Life Masters, Inc., two shelters will be on display. One, an underground type, weighs 7½ to 8½ tons and will be open for public inspection.

The shelter in which the family will "live" for a week is 13 feet by eight feet nine inches.

The public will be able to peer through a window at the group as they go about their everyday activities under simulated fallout conditions.

They will be equipped with survival rations and water.

Six bunks are provided in the shelter. The shelter has been approved by executive officers of Civil and Defense Mobilization of Battle Creek, Mich., according to Woodmansee. Harry Miller Advertising Agency is cooperating with Town and Country merchants in promoting the test.

A top Columbus official will be on hand at the start of the test to seal the family in the shelter. A Whitehall official will probably unlock he shelter, eight days hence.

WHAT A YOUNG MAN'S FANCY TURNS TO

SPRING, the youth of life, and young girls, the life of youth, have always gone together. Whether it's the vibrant, peppy, born again air of the season, that makes a young man's fancy turn, or just the girls, it's nice to know that there are, and always will be pretty young ladies such as Joan Williams, of 2581 Caroline-av, Bexley. But its especially nice to know it in the Spring.

Rothman To Leave Temple

Rabbi Robert A. Rothman, associate rabbi of Temple Israel, has requested that the temple's board of trustees relieve him of his present duties on June 1 so that he might accept the call to join the staff of Temple Adath Israel, Lexington, Ky.

The board granted "with regret," Rothman's request at its May 9. meeting.

Rabbi Rothman joined Temple Israel as an assistant rabbi two years ago. Prior to that time, he had served as a Jewish chaplain in the Navy. At Temple Israel, he recently was named associate rabbi.

Rabbi Jerome Folkman recommended that the board accept the request with regret. He stated that his regret is based on the fact that Rothman had been such a willing and loyal worker.

The board authorized Dr. Folkman to use the assistance of the personnel committee of Temple Israel in the procurement of a successor to Rabbi Rothman.

Whitehall Board Eyes Vocational Ed Expansion

Possible expansion of the vocational program is being taken into consideration by the Whitehall School Board.

Superintendent Robert Crabbs has reported that further community surveys and pupil investigation will have to be made in the areas.

Crabbs related to the board that $450, all donated by a variety of groups, was spent on promotion for the recent school bond issue.

Safety Inspection Campaign Begins Volunteer Operation

The 1961 Franklin County Maps (Motorists and Pedestrian Safety) safety check campaign is currently under way.

Volunteers check autos for safety on ten points: brakes, front lights, rear lights, steering, tires, exhause, glass, mirrors, wipers and horn.

Officials say it takes no more than five minutes for the checkers to inspect the car and award the driver the orange and black "Circle-of-Safety" sticker if his car passes.

The campaign is sponsored nationally by the Auto Industries and Look magazine.

Members of the Mid-Ohio Timing Association and the Catholic Youth Council are assisting in the project in neighborhood check points.

Teen Safe Driving Road-E-O Planned May 28 At Veterans

The 1961 Junior Chamber of Commerce Teen-Age Safe Driving Road-E-O is scheduled May 28 on the Veteran's Memorial parking lot, according to Robert H. Strasburg, Columbus Jaycee general chairman.

The Safe Driving Road-E-O is a competitive event involving a written test similar to that given for a driver's license and an exacting driving test on a course like that used in the National Truck Road-E-O. Its goals are to promote driving safety and to provide an opportunity for youngsters to demonstrate their abilities as safe operators of motor cars.

Strasburg said this year's Road-E-O is a co-operative project among the Columbus, Tri-Village, Grove City, Prairie-Lincoln, Reynoldsburg and Plain City Jaycee chapter. The Standard Oil Company of Ohio is again co-operating with Jaycee locals all over the state in staging such events.

The Safe Driving Road-E-O is open to all unmarried teenagers who will not have reached age 19 by Aug. 3, have a valid driver's license or permit and have a clean record of no moving violations during the past six months. Entry blanks are available through schools or from the Jaycees.

The local winners will compete for $3400 in scholarships provided by Sohio at the state meet in Portsmouth on June 11.

New Leader

A new leader in the Husky Muskie Club race has been reported from Rocky Fork Lake, Highland County.

Robert C. Everetts, 6430 Daly-rd, Cincinnati 24, hooked into a 45-inch muskie Apr. 22, according to Charles Cooper, Division of Wildlife patrolman in the Rocky Fork Lake area. Everetts was fishing a bassmaster lure on an eight-pound test line and he had a real scrap bringing the big game fish into the boat. It weighed 25¼ pounds and is the biggest Ohio muskie reported taken this year.

Goggle-Eyed Ducks Back

The goggle-eyed ducks are back.

During their waterfowl surveys, Division of Wildlife game managers have spotted some of the ducks with colored nasal discs, resembling spectacles.

Last year game managers applied nasal discs, in different colors, to a number of young ducks before releasing them. It was all a part of the Duck Pioneering Project, to attempt to establish local breeding populations. Since different colored discs were used for different release sites, field men can tell where the returning ducks were set free.

The mind of a child is like a narrow-necked bottle . It will take lots of learning in little drops, but any large dose will run over and be lost.

Ice Cream Social Is Slated At Courtright

AN ICE CREAM SOCIAL and picnic the last of May is the final family recreation event of the year sponsored by the Courtright School PTA. Anticipating the event are Phillis Faine, left, and Sandy Erwin of Chick-A-Kee Bluebirds, and Tommy Lord, Cub Pack 288.

A year-long series of family recreation events, sponsored by Courtright PTA, will be climaxed with an ice cream picnic and social this month.

The unique program is planned not for fund raising but rather to promote wholesome family activities.

Year's affairs have included weekly basketball nights at the school and a record square dance for parents on Apr. 21.

The PTA also encourages local youth groups to plan and operate the entertainment booths at the ice cream picnic, making it possible for them to earn money for summer camps, equipment and supplies.

Some of the younger groups of Bluebirds, Brownies and Cub Scouts would otherwise find it difficult to promote a fund-raising campaign by themselves.

Guild Marks Anniversary

Columbus State School Service Guild, organized ten years ago to extend services to residents of the school, will mark its anniversary with a dinner at Gove Hall, May 16.

Originally formed by employes and wives of staff members, the guild has grown into an active organization dedicated to providing extra services at the school.

Mrs. Roy Ferguson, president, lists some of the group's accomplishments as, furnished the beauty shop, helped furnish the barber shop, provided gym suits, dentures and glasses, wheel chairs, air purifiers for wards, portolifts for the hospital, equipment for the print shop and glass trays for the home economics department.

IDLE HOUR GUIDE . . .

'Learn To Swim' On Again; 'Best Of Post', Silvers Switch

By Stan Robinson

Last year, more than 12,000 children joined the Columbus Red Cross-Channel 10 Learn-To-Swim summer project along with the station's famed Flippo.

"From Polliwogs to Whales," set for Thursday, June 1 at 10:30 p.m. will tell the story of Johnny Smith, an eight year old with a problem. It seems his friends are sure he will be of little use in an upcoming swim meet and so John, wanting to be worthy of the group, enters into a Red Cross program at his neighborhood pool.

Robinson

The polliwog medal is the first milestone, followed by the various classifications from turtle to porpoise and then whale. Flippo appears at each pool and consistently offers good advice, and in general this show has a happy ending with John a good swimmer and you'll want to see how the swim meet turns out for all concerned.

SWITCH TIMES ON 4 — A new day and a new time starts tonight for "Best Of Post." Thursday evening's story, taken from the pages of the Saturday Evening Post, tells of a jet pilot who after cheating death gains understanding from his wife. Stars are Don DeFore and Nancy Hadley. Meanwhile Phil Silvers moves to the Saturday night slot, 10:30 p.m. and Ernie Bilko decides to teach a lesson to a society girl who refuses to reign as queen of the Motor Pool Mardi Gras, by spreading rumors that the Mardi Gras King, Duane Doberman, is an International Playboy.

SOMETHING FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY on channel 6 . . . On Saturday night, Leave It To Beaver presents "Junior Fire Chief" as Beaver becomes a public nuisance as he clamors against fire hazards in the neighborhood. At eight o'clock the Champagne Music Makers, soon to visit Columbus, welcome the season with "Spring, Spring, Spring", sung by the Sparklers'. Soloist, Norma Zimmer sings "Spring Is Here" . . . At nine o'clock, dad can settle down to Fight of the Week on Channel 6 with a 10-round middleweight bout. Jorge Fernandez meets Teddy Wright on ABC-TV.

JETS ON TV . . . Wednesday, May 31 is the next regularly scheduled Columbus Jet baseball game on television when WLW-C cameras take their respective transmitting spots for the Jets and Richmond. Clark Smith and Jimmy Crum will be describing all the activity.

MYSTERY AND INTRIGUE. SUMMER REPLACEMENT FOR PERRY . . . "Perry Como's Kraft Music Hall, on Channel 4 and NBC will be replaced for the summer months effective June 14, with "Kraft Mystery Theater", a 16-week series of full hour mysteries and suspense filled films. Host for the summer series will be the "resonant" voice of Frank Gallop, regularly heard as Como's announcer. These films are English produced and have never been seen in the USA. Gallop's mystery experience goes back to a well remembered production, "Lights Out" when he was described as "the face with a hollow voice." Perry Como will commence his third year of the Kraft Music Hall, Oct. 4.

"CBS REPORTS" . . . will be expanded next fall to three times a month instead of twice. "Face The Nation", currently the Thursday night alternate for "Reports", is being dropped. A new alternate to be seen every fourth Thursday is a series of CBS news specials and public affairs programs, such as "The Great Challenge."

IN PASSING . . . John Daly, is expected to be CBS-TV's host when the "Miss Universe Finals" is presented from Miami Beach, Saturday, July 15, Channel 10 in Columbus.

"WAGON TRAIN" SAFETY HINTS, SAVE ACTUAL LIVES . . . The television set has special significance for Debra Robbins and Pamela Shirley, residents of suburban Indianapolis. Using methods shown on "Wagon Train," a week ago, they saved themselves from drowning in a 25-foot well. Neither girl can swim. As they played in their yard, around some old boards covering the well, the boards gave way and the girls plunged down the shaft and into 12 feet of water. Debra, braced her back and feet against the walls and urged Pam to hang on to her. Their cries brought the family running in minutes. It seems a cowboy on "Wagon Train" did this very same thing to save himself in a story on the show seen on Channel 4, locally and NBC-TV.

NOTES FROM WVKO . . . Jazz enthusiasts will be interested to note that Bill Culter's Show, "We Call It Music", will be heard at a new time on WVKO radio. Previously scheduled at 12:05 p.m., the new time period will be 4:35 to 5:30 p.m. . . . WVKO radio has now joined the Mutual Radio Network for many daily newscasts including on the hour and half hour. News "names" such as Galen Drake, Cedric Foster, Tony Marvin and Frank Singiser will be heard daily.

Pedigrees Overrated In Selection Of Dogs?

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROD COCHRAN

Typing out the pedigrees of puppies isn't exactly a popular way to spring a spring afternoon—the height of the warbler migration is passing through, morel mushrooms are up and bass are hitting. But, when pups are sold, the AKC papers and pedigrees must be in order for new owners.

That little certificate of paper, that every breeder of registered dogs must fill out should constitute about half of what a dog owner buys. A pedigree is very important, for it can tell you a lot about your dog. When you purchase a pup you get it and a sheet of paper, and you should examine both carefully.

If you are not well versed in bloodlines of your particular breed, then you should consult someone who is or have absolute faith in your breeder or kennel owner.

It is sad but true that in the case of beagles, the breed that I buy licenses for, owners have gone overboard for pedigrees. I would say that in some transactions the pedigree is all that is considered. There has been a stampede to get dogs whose ancestors are all field champions for two, three or more generations back. Some litters are advertised "quadruple championship mated," whatever that means. (Actually, it means all champions for four generations back.)

Personality Is Factor

There is no doubt that puppies from such breeding would be fairly apt to run rabbits. But what do they look like? This is most times a different matter.

What is the disposition and personality of this super pup, born with a silver bunny in its nose?

There are men who seldom see their dogs. They are purchased from pedigrees, sent to professional trainers who work them and then take them to field trials. They don't care what a dog is, as long as the ribbons and cups keep coming for him to display in his den. After such a dog makes it on the field trial circuit, he is usually leased to someone else who puts him at stud and the dog may actually turn a profit.

Fortunately, these cases are few and most of us like to have our dogs arouhd us. This is why beagle breeders should pay more attention to conformation and disposition, and less to pedigrees. There are thousands of registered beagles around that would give a bench show judge a stroke—they are sway backed, crooked legged and big headed and everything else you can think of.

With these thoughts in mind, it gave me a great deal of satisfaction as I typed out the pedigrees. There are enough field champions in the bloodlines to satisfy most hunters. Just as important, the pups look like beagles. It is extremely doubtful if any of them will ever win anything, for none of the new owners, to my knowledge, is interested in either field trials or dog shows. But I can't help but feel a little pin-prick of pride in selling pups that will not embarrass me or the owner in either hunting potential or appearance.

To my mind, it costs no more to feed a good dog than a faulty one.

Lake Erie Fishing

The smallmouth bass season will soon get underway in western Lake Erie according to veteran party boat captain, Eldon Hales. Fishing is expected to be best around the island area. The smallmouth fishing should continue good until June when the white bass have their field day.

Hales asked me to pass on the fact that his address has changed. He can now be reached at 410 E. Catawba-rd, Skyline View Park, Route 1, Port Clinton. Telephone is Catawba Island 72403. His boat leaves from the dock of Catawba Marine Sales.

Woman Known For Her Good Will, Dies

Mrs. Mollie Rabkin, known for her good will work, died at her home, 408 E. Fulton-st, early Wednesday morning, May 10, following a long illness.

She had been paralyzed for the last 10 years and was a victim of sugar diabetes.

"She was a giver. She always has been," according to her son, David, known professionally as Buddy Joyce, a local dancer.

"She's always enjoyed giving," he said, "and she gave everything."

Most recent good will works include $100 to Charity Newsies, $100 to the Old Women's Home and a wheel chair—which she was using — to the Franklin County Home.

Mrs. Rabkin originally came from Minsk, Russia. She lived at the Fulton-st address for 42 years.

She was a member of the Beth Jacob Synagogue and was, some believe, the only woman in the world who has ever made two Sefer Torahs.

She gave one of them to the Congregation Ahavas Sholom and the other to her temple, Beth Jacob.

MOLLIE RABKIN

Mrs. Rabkin became great friends with Rabbi Leopold Z. Greenwald, who passed away some five years ago.

She is survived by three sons, Meyer of Carroll, Charles of Kansas City and David, of the Fulton-st address; one daughter, Celia Marko of Brooklyn, N.Y.; two sisters, Mrs. Pauline Block of Circleville and Brynie Katz of New York; one brother, Jacob Astrachan, of New York, and four grandchildren.

She preceded her husband in death, Samuel, who was a real estate broker in the South Side for 32 years.

Arrangements were handled by the Don Snider Funeral Home with Cantor Morris Klein officiating. Interment in New Beth Jacob Cemetery.

Founder Of Jewish Home Dies At Age 84

Mrs. Rachel Finkelstein, 84, of 158 Edgevale-rd, died Friday. She was the widow of Mendell Finkelstein.

Mrs. Finkelstein was founder and first president of the Columbus Jewish Home for the Aged. At the time of her death, she was honorary president of the Jewish Home for the Aged and of the Ladies Mizrachi; president of the Ladies Free Loan Society and a member of the Agudas Achim Synagogue.

Surviving are daughters, Mrs. Edward Weiss, of Columbus; Mrs. Jerome Silverman, of Franklin, Pa.; son, Ted, of Columbus; nine grandchildren.

Interment was in Agudas Achim Cemetery Sunday by Schoedinger's State Street Chapel.

GILBERT, Jack R., 41, of 1361 Aven-dr, Thursday. Survived by wife, Laura, a son and a daughter. Interment in Sunset by Schoedinger Hilltop Chapel.

BEYMER, Mrs. Rose E., 90, of 175 S. James-rd, Sunday. Widow of Alfred. Survived by nieces and nephews. Requiem High Mass at St. Catharine Church. Interment in St. Joseph's by Egan-Ryan.

PRIESTAS, Mrs. Mary T., 2927 E. Eighth-av, Friday. Survived by husband, Charles, five sons and five daughters. Requiem High Mass at St. Thomas Church. Interment in St. Joseph's by Egan-Ryan.

SPAFFORD, Clinton W., 49, of 948 Ruby-av, Sunday. He is survived by wife, Anne, a stepson and stepdaughter. Interment in Forest Lawn by Schoedinger State Street Chapel.

Academy Will Offer Classes

Columbus Academy will conduct its annual summer school for girls and boys, starting on Monday, June 19, and running for seven weeks through Friday, Aug. 4. The daily schedule, Monday through Friday, includes four class periods from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

The courses are designed for girls and boys who have had difficulty in school work or who want to strengthen their academic background. Size of the classes is kept at a minimum so that the masters can give each boy and girl a great deal of individual attention.

Courses covering the work of grades five to eight are offered in English, spelling and mathematics. High school courses in English, mathematics, history, French, Latin and Spanish, also are being offered.

Again during the summer session, special classes in reading for grades five to 12 will be organized under the guidance of Kenneth R. Evans. These courses are designed to give aid to poor readers, and to help good readers become better readers.

In addition to the summer school, the academy will conduct a day camp from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. to accommodate girls and boys below the fifth grade level. While this is primarily a recreational program, instruction in elementary subjects is available.

Students In Play

Two South High drama students, Arnie White and Cheryldee Barash, have featured roles in the forthcoming Gallery Players production of S. N. Behrman's comedy-drama "The Cold Wind and the Warm" which opens a five performance run at the Jewish Center May 27 under the direction of Harold M. Eisenstein. It will repeat on Sunday, May 28 and Thursday, Saturday, Sunday, June 1, 3 and 4.

The play's action pivots about a character named Tobey, to be played by Arnie White, representing playwright Behrman in his teens. It follows his groping confusions for five years from the time of his being a boy until he grows into strength of character and ethical values as a young man. Arnie's brother Jack will play the older Tobey.

Chief emphasis of the play, is on two characters exerting important influence upon this impressionable youth. Herb Altman portrays one of these Marilyn Samelson portrays the young hero's aunt who is obsessed with match-making plans. The part of Ren, her daughter, will be played by Cheryldee Barash.

Holiday Swim Club To Open Saturday

The Holiday Swim Club, 3550 Alleghney-rd, at N. James-rd, will open Saturday, May 20, at 10 a.m., it has been announced by owner Ken Fosnaugh.

The recent rainy weather threatened to delay the opening, but the few days of good weather this week enabled construction to be completed as originally scheduled. Information regarding membership can be obtained by calling BE. 5-2345.

Capital Gets Math Grant

A $6,870 grant for an In-Service Institute for secondary mathematics teachers has been awarded to Capital University by the National Science Foundation.

Taught by Dr. Clarence Heinke and Professor Harold W. Brockman, the institute will be open to 30 teachers who will be able to earn six semester hours of under-graduate credit in algebra and geometry courses especially designed for teachers. Emphasis will be on fundamental concepts as interpreted in current experimental curricula, according to Dr. Heinke.

with a respectable one-for-three average.

On a bill to require licensing of salesmen, solicitors and poll takers, Hyatt wanted the matter tabled indefinitely. He called the law "unconstitutional to anybody out making a living" and claimed the police department should be able to take care of the matter.

Loren Mason interjected that with "the police have enough to do."

Ken McIntosh pointed out the law is to "weed out the undesirables. If they operate under the law," he stated, "this won't hurt them.'

Don Gorrell questioned Maxwell as to the constitutionality of the bill. Maxwell replied that the city had the power to pass the legislation.

Hyatts motion to, in effect, throw the ordinance out, went down to defeat. When passed, Hyatt asked Maxwell to check into the "unconstitutionality" of the measure. Maxwell said he had given all the opinion on the constitutionality he was going to. Hyatt wanted to know if Maxwell could refuse to obey a request by a councilman. Maxwell answered "I could refuse to do anything I don't want to.

Hyatt concluded "maybe we should check into that too."

The next stop for Hyatt on the rough legislative road concerned a full-time traffic control signal at Robinwood and Etna. He wanted the measure returned to Maxwell to draft the ordinance "the way it was requested." Council declined the invitation and okayed the light over Hyatt's dissenting vote.

But when it come to a Hyatt request to return an ordinance creating a petty cash fund for the fire and police departments, the rest of council went along with him.

In other business, council okayed a Mason-sponsored bill for a survey on the west side of Maplewood-av for drainage; tabled another Mason request to hire a dog catcher; boosted the tax commissioner's salary to the $550 to $500 range.

Rcme's" vanished. Organized labor stands to lose most. Once their leadership ties up with nonmember ignorant mobs they will have stinking and ruthless bed fellows.

Ohio's workmen will demand and get justice. A family which has saved for years will not stand for their substance being wasted by forces beyond their control. If morals permit such injustice better change our morals. Better yet find an honorable solution to unemployment.

We could start technical institutes over the state. We could require every man on unemployment to attend these schools. This would improve the employe's chance for the future, and bring wealth to the State in a pool of skilled labor. It would also avoid the degrading, character corroding, effects that paid idleness forms on the unemployed.

If labor contributed they would help police waste of the funds better than employers or the BUC can hope to do. If some unemployed had to choose a tough school or work, maybe they would locate jobs sooner. Training could help to place a man in work for which he is suited. If a workman could not learn in some field, he belongs on relief, not unemployment.

There are thousands of the unemployed who never will get their former jobs back because of automation or market change or because they were misfits. Research for new jobs ought to accompany retraining programs. Whole industries might be saved. (Example, ceramics.) Several times our present unemployed could be used in education, training, development research and basic science research. It would take time but time marches on while we bicker over a quarter million here, four million there. Petty cash!

Bexley Pursues All-Night Parking Ban

An Open Letter To George

Printed herewith is the last of four thought provoking articles by R. R. Fling, I trust they have been worthwhile and that somewhere there are a few Georges to give this matter some thought and back it by action:

Dear "George:"—

You are a humble, hard-working man, whose measure of success has been recognized by your fellow citizens. Particularly you put great stock in our democratic organizations. You are organization minded.

Now let me tell you. That is not enough:

Organizations have done and are doing a splendid and a necessary job. But it has not been enough. In the last few years in Ohio we have made progress backwards. It is time we "solid" citizens helped to catch up.

You probably read the messages of the past three weeks and dreamily said: "That point is interesting. Such an idea ought to work. Is this point true? We ought to do something about that. I'll talk it over with George. Maybe we can get a law next biennium. I couldn't do anything personally. I'll call the C of C, the NMA, the PTA, the OEA, the OSB, the HBA, the CIO, the AIA, the Bishop, the priest, the preacher, the president of the Dodo Society, or chairman of the Ladies Auxiliary." Before you lay the messages down you will have nominated George do it.

So this letter is addressed to

Crabbe-Stage Advance New Bill On Problem

Bexley's all-night parking problems aren't quite resolved, but council has apparently come up with an idea of "alternate days on alternate sides of the streets."

The plan has been advanced by J. Roth Crabbe, working in conjunction with colleague Roy Stage. City Attorney Howard Park has been instructed to draft an ordinance dealing with restricting parking from 2 to 5 a.m.

The matter has been hanging for a number of months, since council yielded to citizens' objections not to impose a "wee hours" ban city-wide.

The difference between the Crabbe-Stage plan and the defuct proposal is whereas the old bill would have restricted parking during the early morning hours along both sides of all streets, the new measure would allow parking on at least one side of a street every day, alternating sides on alternate days. Sundays would not be included.

Which side a resident would be allowed to park on depends upon the odd and even combination of house numbers.

Crabbe thinks the approach is a "reasonable one" that will answer objections of those with no garages

Under the proposal, parking would be limited to the side of the street with "even" house numbers on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. On Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, parking would be allowed on the side with "odd" numbered houses

The new parking ban would not apply to existing parking restrictions

Municipal Building Gets Okay

Whitehall solons fussed over plans for the new municipal building Tuesday then agreed to go along with the drawings originally submitted by the architect.

Some of the councilmen reserved their right to speak out along more traditional lines, but the majority gave architect James Foley a go-ahead with the plans.

Walter Siemer declared he was personally dissatisfied with the idea of a "solar screen," an area regarded as a buffer between the elements of nature and the building proper.

James Maxwell asserted "it would be hard to tell the difference between the proposed headquarters and a shopping center."

J. Craig Wright thought the building would not conform to the architecture in the area.

But Richard Hyatt, Robert Garnon, Robert Mickey, Loren Mason and Orton Davis expressed approval of the plan.

Donald Gorrell brought up the question of price concerning the solar walls. Foley estimated the cost at $6000. Overall cost, the architect said,

Murphy To Run For School Board

Joseph J. Murphy, a Whitehall attorney, has announced his candidacy for the Whitehall Board of Education this fall.

Murphy, 40, is a former State Representative and the author of three Ohio laws.

Three seats are to be filled, according to Superintendent Robert Crabbs, those of Lawrence Robinson, vice-president; Walter Olpp and Willard P. Brenning, clerk-treasurer.

Animal Fair, 'Melon Eatin' Test Slated Sunday, June 4

If the kids won't go to the country, then the only thing left to do is to bring the country to the kids.

And that's exactly what is being planned for the Jewish Center Sunday, June 4—a Tween Club farm program.

Not only pets and plants will be on display, but a good "ol' fashun" watermelon eating session is planned.

The Tween Farm Club committee headed by Mrs. Estelle Center and including Dr. Arthur J. Weiner, Mrs. Sylvia Blazar, Mrs. Rita Linsk and Mrs. Blossom Zitron will present an Animal Farm Fair from 2 to 4 p.m.

The Fair will highlight a pet show, which will invite all Center tweenagers to present their pets to receive awards in many categories.

A turtle race will be another feature of the Fair to be held on Center grounds, which will offer pony rides, hay rides, and also feature an official "pet adoption center" of the Franklin County Humane Society.

Tweens who desire to "adopt" pets will have the opportunity.

Parents will have an opportunity to see prize flower displays and exhibits that will be provided by local garden clubs. Tweens will also have the opportunity to meet many small farm animals in person. An "animal petting" station will allow personal contact with rabbits, turtles and other small animals.

A watermelon eating contest and a "sewing the patch on" contest will give tweens and parents an opportunity to compete during the afternoon, while pop corn and apple cider will be available during the festivities.

Many varieties of exhibits will be on show, giving tweens an opportunity to register for the Tween Farm Club.

Tween Farm Club will be an all-year project of tweens interested in becoming acquainted with farming activities. The committee announced that arrangements had been made with a local farmer where most of the club activities would take place.

Club activities would include growing crops, raising of small farm animals, becoming acquainted and participating in the many facets of a 240 acre farming operation.

'SURVIVAL TEST' TO START

'People Watching' Can Work Both Ways, Creel Family Says

By John Poeppelmeyer

Ever wonder when you go to the zoo exactly who's watching who (or is it whom)?

Well, the people that throng to Town and Country Shopping Center next week may come across that innate feeling.

They're putting a family in a survival type shelter for seven days. And what will the family be doing?

"For the first few days, we'll probably be watching the people watching us."

That was the father speaking. He is Robert Creel, of 283 Clinton-st. Originally an East Columbus family had been selected, but a switch in families was made at the last minute.

The four members of his family, his wife, Mary Lu, Conni, seven, Curtis, six, and Carol, four, are to be sealed in the shelter Friday, May 27, and will be let out June 3.

But, in addition to the people watching people angle, the Creels have outlined an intelligent formula to keep themselves, and especially their active youngsters, occupied.

He plans, he says, to catch up on his reading. But also, he and his wife, plan to arise early each day and start off with a calisthenics program before breakfast.

Mrs. Creel opines that it will be a "wonderful experience, and in the event something might happen someday, we would be more prepared than any other family in Columbus."

Lifemaster, Inc., is providing the shelter. The family will be placed on a prescribed diet, with limited water rations, and a complete lack of luxuries enjoyed almost daily by an average family.

A window at one end of the shelter will afford the general public a chance to observe the family.

If they survive for the full seven days, gift certificates and merchandise in excess of $500 will be waiting for them.

In all, some 48 families applied for the chance to "survive." All of the conditions under which a family would seek shelter against radioactive fallout will be simulated in the test.

The Creels also plan to organize games, some old and some new, to while away the hours.

The Creels think they will be able to do it, in spite of living for a solid week in a 13'x8'x9' "home," with three youngsters and no television.

HERE'S THE FAMILY that was finally selected to take the "survival test" at Town and Country Shopping Center starting Friday: Robert Creel, the father; Mary Lu, his wife; Curtis, 6, Carol, 4, and Conni, 7. The Creels reside at 283 Clinton-st.

Space For July 16 Cruise Running Low

Reservations for the Hartley Newspapers big July 16 Great Lakes Pleasure Cruise have been pouring into the Hartley offices to the point where space is now running low.

Although no actual time limit has been set on ticket sales, the number of tickets alloted to the Hartley papers is running low. The tour must be closed when the last ticket is sold, as no more space is available.

Chartered Lake Shore buses will leave Columbus at 4 a.m. Sunday morning, July 16, in time to arrive shipside in Cleveland by 9 a.m. (because of the time change, an hour is lost between here and Cleveland). Free pillows will be provided to all travelers both going and returning.

Four Local Girls Vie For 'Rose Maiden'

Four girls from high schools in the Eastern Review area are among the candidates for the Maiden of Roses title.

They are Patricia Vagnone, Sue Yardley, Dianne Arbuckle and Mari Werlin.

The Maiden of Roses is selected annually from entries of senior girls in the high schools of Franklin County. The judging takes place on opening day, this year on June 11, at the Park of Roses, 4015 N. High-st.

Miss Yardley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Yardley, 376 N. Drexel-av. She is a student at Bexley High School, where she is a member of Y-Teens, Cabinet Music Club, Year Book staff, National Honor Society and Student Council.

Her hobbies are sewing and sports, (basketball, hockey, softball, ice skating and badminton).

Services Set For Memorial Day; Solemn Time For Remembering

The stage was set for the emergence of the Union, cemented by the dead who were being memorialized on that May 30, 1868, as an industrial giant that would spread its bounty across a continent.

"hat was the first Memorial Day over nine decades ago when San Juan Hill, Verdun, Dunkerque and Korea still were unfamiliar names to most Americans.

They were honoring men who had died in their own land at the hands of their own countrymen in defense of "one nation, indivisible."

There were still echoes of war on that solemn first Memorial Day when the holiday was proclaimed by Major General John A Logan who commanded the Grand Army of the Republic.

Major General Logan led the tributes with services at Arlington National Cemetery.

Now, in 1961, it is time to make those same solemn tributes to the dead.

And, Americans across the country will make these tributes May 30 at community burial grounds and memorials and, in some places, with street processions.

The Monday holiday will mean an extended weekend of at least four days for many people.

Memorial Day activities will get underway on Saturday, May 27, when members of local veterans organizations will place a flag on the graves of war veterans buried in cemeteries in Franklin County.

Some 10,000 flags are needed for this project.

On Sunday, May 28, many veterans organizations with their auxiliaries will attend memorial services in local churches.

Highlight of the day in downeral Memorial Day Committee, town Columbus will be the annual parade sponsored by the General Memorial Day Committee consisting of all veterans organizations in Franklin County.

The parade will start at 9 a.m. at Washington-av and Broad-st and move west to the Broad-st Bridge.

The reviewing stand will be located in front of the Chamber

DOOR BELLS will be ringing in Whitehall Saturday when members of baseball teams governed by the Whitehall Boys Baseball Association drop by to introduce the league, and present a special program which lists the teams, sponsors and tells of the work of WBBA. Practicing for their visit are Tim Packard, 472 Rose-rd, left, a member of the Senators in the minor league, Scott Graeler, a member of the Cubs in the major league and his mother, Mrs. Jane Graeler, 491 Whitehall-dr. Like Tim and Scott, boys calling at Whitehall homes will present a free program and offer a membership in the WBBA.

ALL THIS GOES INTO A PRODUCTION

THERE IS more to planning a production than memorizing lines, as these pictures, taken at the Jewish Center will attest. Preparing for the opening of "The Cold Wind and the Warm," under the direction of Harold Eisenstein, are the actors and actresses, as depicted in the top left photo. Arnold White, Jean Martinez, Wayne Durley and Herb Altman run through a scene in rehearsal. In the top right photo, an unidentified stage hand gets together with Eisenstein to go over a few troubles. In the bottom photo, seamstresses and dressmakers are hard at work preparing costumes for the show. All in all, it takes everyone doing the best job they can do produce a top-notch effort, those in the play and those behind the scenes.

Republican 'Neighbor' Canvass Is Extended

Several women leaders of this community made a joint statement today that the local Republican Neighbor-to-Neighbor fund-raising campaign will be extended into June.

The women are: Mrs. Wayne Smith, campaign chairman for Berwick; Mrs. Malcolm Jeffrey, chairman for Bexley; Mrs. Evan C. Brock, Jr. and Mrs. Howard Sterner, co-chairman for Eastmoor; and Mrs. James Worley, chairman for Whitehall.

The statement followed a decision made by Mrs. Smith Huntington, Franklin County chairman of the Republican Neighbor-to-Neighbor Campaign, and Richard Nichoff, county chairman of the Republican Finance Committee.

The statement read in part: "While the response in Franklin County to the recent Republican dinner honoring Mr. Richard Nixon was inspiring, the public should understand that the 40 participating counties will share in the proceeds. This leaves Franklin County with a substantial quota still to be raised.

"This is an educational campaign to give women the opportunity to participate as individuals in the current effort to inform all good neighbors of the immediate need. Our women who are organized with majors and captains in each area, call on independent and known Republican voters in their own neighborhoods to discuss the Republican effort."

According to Mrs. Huntington, the funds raised by the Neighbor-to-Neighbor canvass will be used to help maintain the local, state and national committees through 1961 and to initiate programs for the 1962 elections.

During his recent visit to Columbus, Nixon endorsed the local campaign. He was met on arrival by a group which included Mrs. Huntington and her area chairmen.

Those wishing to make contributions need not wait to be contacted, but may call Mrs. Huntington at the Ohio Republican Finance Committee office, 16 E. Broad-st, CA. 8-6683.

JET POWER helps Ohio Fuel serve you better!

Jet power has been brought down to earth to help the Ohio Fuel Gas Company meet increasing demands for natural gas in 745,000 Ohio homes, stores, and industries. In the world's first harnessing of jet thrust for industrial needs, Ohio Fuel's parent company, the Columbia Gas System, is now using a jet engine to pump natural gas. The jet engine—like those that power the fabulous new jet airliners—propels millions of cubic feet of gas a day on its way to Ohio from the big gas fields in Louisiana. This revolutionary new achievement is the result of the constant program of progress by Columbia and Ohio Fuel to serve you.

of Commerce Building, 30 E. Broad-st.

Ranking military and civic leaders have been invited to review the parade, together with honored guests of Gold Star and Blue Star Mothers, Widows of World War I veterans and Spanish-American war veterans.

Immediately after the downtown parade, Navy-Marine Post, the American Legion, with the aid of the Franklin Post Band, will hold their annual Naval Memorial Day ceremonies on the Broad-st Bridge.

A floral anchor in memory of deceased sailors and marines will be lowered into the Scioto River. A muzzle loading firing squad from the Sons of Union Veterans, dressed in Civil War uniforms, will fire the salute to the dead and Boy Scouts will sound taps.

The American Legion is sponsoring their fifth Memorial services in the New Veterans Memorial Building in the Memorial Room on the east side of the building immediately following the Naval Ceremony.

Participating in the ceremony will be the 37th Division Band and the Senior Chorus, South High School. The ceremony will include a flower ceremony from various patriotic groups.

A run-down of local Memorial Day services in the local area follows:

BEXLEY

Bexley Post, the American Legion, will conduct a memorial service at the Bexley Pylon, East Broad-st and Drexel-av, at 10:30 a.m. with an address by Rabbi Nathan Zelizer.

An Air Force ROTC firing squad and a bugler from Capital University will participate in the ceremonies.

Prior to the ceremonies, Bexley Post is having a breakfast at the post home on Livingston-av from 6 to 9 a.m.

AGUDAS ACHIM

Special services will be held in the New Agudas Achim Cemetery at 11:30 a.m., sponsored by the Capital Post, Jewish War Veterans. The Rabbi Nathan Zelizer will be the main speaker.

OLD AGUDAS ACHIM

Memorial Day services will be held in the old Agudas Achim Cemetery at 12:30 p.m., sponsored by the Capital Post, Jewish War Veterans.

FOREST LAWN

Memorial Day Chairman Jack Schraff, Whitehall VFW Post 8794, has announced that for the first time, his post and American Legion Post 490 will unite in a memorial service at Forest Lawn Cemetery on May 30.

Plans have been made to conduct the services immediately following the parade downtown, in which both posts will participate.

The service at Forest Lawn, 5600 E. Broad-st, will start at 11 a.m. and will be conducted by VFW Post Commander Ralph Brown and Post Chaplain Vic Morrison.

The Ladies Auxiliaries will also take part in the services along with a four-man firing squad and a bugler rendering taps.

Veterans' graves will be decorated on Sunday, May 28, at 2 p.m. by both the post and the auxiliaries. This will consist of placing wreaths on the entry gate and then placing American Legion poppies and flags on each grave.

The posts invite the public to attend this ceremony which will honor the men and women of this community who gave their lives so that we could live, Schraff said.

Organizations or anyone wishing to show respect to the memory of servicemen from Franklin County who died or were killed during wars are urged to place flowers in the Memorial Room of the New Veterans Memorial Building, which will be open at 8:30 a.m. on Memorial Day.

NEXT YEAR FOR EASTMOOR

Spectator—

George. You are George.

It seems utterly preposterous that we go to church and pray "Thy Kingdom Come," and do nothing about it, we confess the golden rule and turn the job over to someone else. We see opportunities and wonder what the Chamber of Commerce is doing. We blame the politicians. The legislature will and can do just what WE demand of them and no more.

The ordinary man can do things. Often he is the only one who can. Most of us lack the faith that goes with mature manhood. We practice lack of faith and expect others to do likewise. If a man tries to do his duty as a citizen, we class him as a nut, a nuisance, or a beggar. Maybe we ought to change our national motto to "In Complacency We Trust."

The time is opportune politically. Both parties are on the spot. Both would like an excuse and a way to get off. Let's give them a chance.

1. See your legislators and party chairmen; 2. Write your own message. Broadcast it. If you need help in printing, mailing, writing, or editing, contact us; 3. If you will help underwrite the expense, send a pledge.

Let me hear your criticism, suggestions, pledge, and of your action.

R. R. Fling,

cost approximately $400,000. It will house approximately 100 men.

Construction is scheduled to begin in July.

Along other lines, Harrison Sayres brought up the subject of complaints by residents of the noise of power mowers. Sayres has requested that residents be considerate in operating mowers during certain hours so as not to disturb neighbors.

Council also okayed plans for a funeral home at Livingston and Francis-avs.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

Boy Scout Troop 372 will hold a car wash at Scottwood Community Church, corner of Scottwood and Barnett-rd, Saturday, May 27, from 1 to 5 p.m.

Norwood Opens Officially Memorial Day At 1 P.M.

Norwood Amusement Park, 2025 E. Main-st, will be open for the summer daily and Sunday at 1 p.m.

As in the past, Memorial Day marks the official opening of the season. The park and picnic grounds have been readied, in preparation for the holiday and coming summer. It is easily reached from any section of Columbus. Ample parking is provided along with drinking fountains and rest room facilities. The rides and concessions are for "kids" of all ages.

Little Ones Not For Adoption!

Spring is the time of year most wild animals reproduce their kinds. According to the division of Wildlife, folks think they can adopt these wild animals and birds which "seem" to be lost or abandoned by the parents.

The most recent case involves wild goose egg "snatching" which has been going on at or near the Mercer County Wildlife Refuge.

"This," says Roger McElroy, supervisor of game management, "is just as illegal as taking the young. According to the law, it is forbidden to disturb a nesting goose, take the eggs or molest the birds in any way.

"This law holds true on both public and private lands."

Presentation To Three Students

Dean Jachius, co-author with James Rhodes of three historic novels, presented copies of the books to three eighth-grade history students at Whitehall-Yearling High School last Tuesday, May 23.

The students to whom presentation was made are outstanding students of history, according to high school sources.

"Johnny Shiloh," "The Trial of Mary Todd Lincoln," and "The Court Martial of Commodore Perry" are the three books.

Presentation was made during a Civil War exhibit at the school.

would run between $245,000 and $280,000.

Council then turned to the subject of "dog warden" and ended up providing for one at a salary of $2.50 an hour. But a problem yet remains.

Mayor Walter Moling pointed out that the county dog pound would not accept stray dogs with licenses, and the city has no means to house the dogs that would be picked up.

Solons also agreed to hire one more full-time patrolman, bringing the city's total to 25.

Council failed to bring up the pending issue of what to do about their council clerk.

James Maxwell has urged council to take some action on the matter. He has charged that the clerk is serving illegally since she is not a resident of Whitehall.

The clerk was selected by a bi-partisan committee of council.

IN THE PINK

Every woman's "in the pink" these days. Never has the beauty and fashion world looked lovelier, for in the wide range of pinks now in vogue there are shades flattering to any woman. To capture all the compliments that a pink costume can inspire, it's not enough to coordinate your lipstick with the colors of your dress or suit. You have to make your complexion translucent and change your make-up — both in color and technique.

Every woman must also have a hairdo designed for her alone. It takes professional know-how to arrange it. Iva's Beauty Salon, 3978 E. Broad Street, Columbus. BE. 5-8474.

Communities Need To Plan Says Mitchell

When it comes to community planning it often is later than you think.

"Frequently, without planning, communities grow like Topsy," says Dr. John B. Mitchell, Ohio State University Extension rural sociologist. With planning, the possibility of costly mistakes is reduced.

Dr. Mitchell emphasizes that within the next few years, community leaders will have to grapple with problems larger than they ever have encountered — problems such as sewage disposal, health and recreational facilities, school financing, zoning, water supplies.

As these problems stretch across community, and even county lines, we must establish working relations with leaders from other communities and from varied occupations. Farmer and non-farmer must work together," the scio'ogist says.

Dr. Mitchell predicts that pressures to use land for purposes other than farming will continue. Non-agricultural uses of land will increase to meet the needs of a growing population. More land will be used for housing developments, shopping centers, industrial sites, recreational areas, and highways.

Ten years ago, Dr. Mitchell notes, there was an average of less than 200 persons per square mile in Ohio. Now that average is nearly 240, and in another ten years it will be about 300. As more people live in a given area, they find it necessary to make the best possible use of their resources Consider water, for example. The sociologist points out that the amount of water used by Ohioans has increased four times since 1900. By 1975 it will have increased eight times.

"Comprehensive, long-range planning for the most efficient use of land, water, and other resources — both natural and human — is one of the greatest needs of our time," Dr. Mitchell says.

Festival To Feature Games, Euchre, Dancing

CATHOLIC WOMEN'S LEAGUE will stage its annual spring festival Thursday, May 25, 8 p.m. at the K of C Hall, State-st at Sixth-st. Games, euchre, round and square dancing will be featured. The public is invited and the proceeds will benefit Camp Rita. Helping plan the event are, from left, seated, Mrs. Sam Gallione, 385 S. Harding; Miss Wilma Cassidy, 92 Edgevale-rd, and standing, Miss Florence Gaughran, 1948 Suffolk

Marriage License Desk To Make Cupid's Job Easier

June is just around the corner. And — in recognition of the "month of brides and roses"—Judge Roscoe R. Walcutt of the Probate Court has extended the hours of the marriage license desk.

During June, the office will remain open until 7 p.m. on Thursdays and Fridays to partially alleviate "crowded conditions."

Judge Walcutt warned that applicants must be dressed properly—no shorts, slacks or bermudas—or their applications will be refused

Remember – Sunday, July 16 Is Big Day For Hartley Great Lakes Cruise ! !

TO: CENTRAL OHIO FUN-LOVERS
SUBJECT: GREAT LAKES PLEASURE CRUISE
SPONSOR: HARTLEY NEWSPAPERS
OBJECT: FUN FOR ALL
DATE: SUNDAY: JULY 16
TIME: LEAVES COLUMBUS . . . 4 A.M.

Question. Who would get out of bed in time to catch a bus leaving at 4 a.m. for anywhere?

Answer: So far, over 100 people (each with a little pioneer blood, we think) who have signed up to join the Hartley Newspapers in their first one-day Great Lakes pleasure cruise from Cleveland to Detroit and back aboard the fabulous S. S. Aquarama, multi-million dollar luxury liner.

For those of you who have not made reservations (and there are a few left) here is the opportunity to see the world-famous Great Lakes region first-hand . . . to see for yourself the never-ending parade of ships from Japan, Israel, Norway, Sweden and many other countries of the world as they proceed with their daily routine in one of the world's busiest shipping areas.

Because of the great number of responses during the first few weeks, it has become apparent that space aboard the chartered Lake Shore buses will soon be filled. As a result the Hartley papers have made arrangements for those people who might desire to drive their own cars to Cleveland and back, rather than traveling by chartered bus.

Adult fare for the cruise is $18.50, while full child's fare is $12.50. These prices include round trip transportation to Cleveland by chartered bus. For those who desire to drive, there is a reduction to $12.50 and $7.50 for adults and children respectively

Parking space is available for your automobile at the ship's landing at a cost of $1 for the entire day.

This is a trip you won't want to miss. The S. S. Aquarama features movies and bingo, comfortable deck chairs for lounging in the warm sun, a ship's library, clean restroom facilities and a large ballroom with an evening show.

For the kiddies, there's the glass-enclosed playroom under constant supervision of trained persons. Children must be old enough to play by themselves, as there are no nursery facilities.

Both Protestant and Catholic Church services are available Sunday morning.

Other features of the beautiful liner include four restaurants and two cocktail lounges, checkroom service and elevator service to all nine of her decks.

Indications are that the quota will be filled quickly, so make your reservations now. Simply fill out the coupon and mail, including check or money order for the full amount, to: CRUISE, Hartley Newspapers, 2465 W. Broad-st, Columbus 4, Ohio. Reservations may also be made at the front counter of the Hartley Newspaper office.

Do it now . . . ! Make certain that you're one of the lucky ones.

I would like to reserve space for ..... adults and ..... children on the July 16 Hartley Newspapers Great Lakes Pleasure Cruise. Enclosed you will find check or money order for ....., which is the full amount for these reservations. (Note: fares are $18.50 for adults who travel on the chartered buses or $12.50 for adults who drive. Children's fare is $12.50, bus included, or $7.50 if driving). My party will include ..... children under six years of age. My party will (please check one) travel by bus .....; drive our car .....

Stewart Drive-In Is Family Affair

Stewart's Root Beer Drive-In, located at 257 S. Yearling-rd, is an example of a real "family affair" when it comes to dealing with neighbors in the Whitehall area.

Owners of the business, founded in June of 1959, are Paul and Idola Keller.

The two Keller sons, Robert, 14, and Ronny, 12 are often on hand to help car-hop and prepare food for the drive-in. Even eight-year-old Nancy, helps out by washing dishes.

The family has lived in Whitehall since 1956. The Kellers have established a neighborhood tradition of giving away free mugs of root beer at the beginning and end of each season.

Now, the orange-colored building opens from April to October, and if plans go accordingly, someday it may develop into a year 'round schedule.

At Stewart's Drive-In you will find tasty sandwiches with root beer and orange drink served by the mug or in gallon, half gallon and quart jugs.

If you choose to be served in the car rather than use the convenient counter, there is a unique feature of boy car-hops to wait on you, or you can call BE. 1-0481 for carry-out service.

"My wife has been nursing a grouch all week."

"Is that so? Do you feel better now?"

THAT'S DIFFERENT

Hauled into court on a charge of stealing a package of pork chops, a man in Montgomery, Ala., denied the whole story. He said the meat was beef steak.

Robinson

19,476 women will be disappointed as the mails bring a card stating that "we are extremely sorry that it is impossible to fill your request for Ruth Lyon's "Fifty-Fifty Club" when the show originates in Columbus, May 26." Ruth Lyons made just two mentions of the Columbus trip and Channel 4 mail handlers were inundated with envelopes. On the brighter side, 4,024 viewers are delighted in opening the mail to find a pair of tickets for the show on Friday, 12 noon.

"INDIANAPOLIS 500," magical phrasing, every Memorial Day when the biggest and most colorful racing classic of the year draws a 100,000 people and untold millions to their radio. This is a good reason for some 26 radio announcers to pool their efforts through the originating facilities of WIBC in Indianapolis, coordinated by Sid Collins, a veteran at the scene.

WMNI radio will again have exclusive radio coverage in central Ohio with actiyity to commence around 10:30 a.m. and last until about 3:30 p.m., according to Program Director Bill Robinson. This past week, WMNI has offered some informative background on the race with trackside interviews with drivers, busy during time trials.

ABC's JOHN CAMERON SWAYZE TO VISIT COLUMBUS . . . The versatile John Cameron Swayze, probably one of television's best remembered newscaster when "Camel News Caravan" was a consistent viewing habit for millions on NBC-TV, will visit Columbus and WMNI radio Friday, in his current role of weatherman, ABC radio.

Locally, Kar-Mel Village will be the focal point of Swayze's visit as that particular builder plans to tie Swayze in with their promotions for the next several months. Lennox, air conditioning and heating, plays an important role in Kar-Mel construction. Each week day morning at 8:30, "Swayze's Notebook" is heard on WMNI, while his evening weather show is carried at 6:30 p.m. Friday night the program will originate in Columbus from the studios and will be fed to the some 300 affiliates of ABC. It looks like a busy day for the "men - behind the mikes," in the Southern Hotel.

COLORFUL HORSE RACING on "Summer Sports Spectacular" on 10 . . . Three of the most colorful and dangerous horse racing events held in the United States and England are spotlighted — the Grand National, Maryland Hunt Cup and the Grand National at Aintree, England. Bud Palmer will host the program for CBS-TV, Saturday at 6 p.m.

"ASK HAROLD COOPER," General Manager of the Jets on Channel 4 . . . Columbus Jet General Manager Harold Cooper will answer questions from the fans in a new show that will precede all remaining televised games on WLW-C. Write your question in to the attention of "Ask Harold Cooper," Channel 4 Columbus, Ohio. Sports Director Jimmy Crum will work the show directly from the field at Jet Stadium 7:30 p.m. with the first show set for May 31, next game on television.

Little Bit Of Careful Planning Can Double Camping Pleasure

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROD COCHRAN

Ever tried a combination camping and fishing trip? Or perhaps camping, fishing and boating? With camping and boating becoming more popular family sports all the time, the fisherman may find he has less time for his hobby. The answer to this problem is to make your jaunts to good fishing waters and then wet a line when interest in other activities lags a little.

Weekends trips are becoming the thing, so I've selected some some locations not too far from home that should keep the whole family happy. Fishing is good at all of these spots and other recreation possibilities vary quite a bit.

Clear Fork State Park — A very scenic area in southern Ashland County. One campground is right along Clear Fork which offers good fishing downstream. Nearby is Pleasant Hill Reservoir which you may want to utilize.

Pleasant Hill Reservoir — The Muskingum Conservancy District provides a campground near the lake. Fishing for bass and walleyes is popular. Up to six-horsepower motors are allowed in Richland County, and horsepower is unlimited in Ashland County.

East Harbor State Park — A boat launching ramp is provided for campers only, and provides access to East Harbor and Lake Erie. A lot of new facilities for campers were opened here last season. The swimming beach is excellent. A lot of bass and bluegills are taken around the weed beds in the harbor, and fishing from shore is possible. Location is in Ottawa County.

Huesten Woods State Park — Acton Lake is not large, 625 acres, and motors are limited to six-horsepower. The lake is in a beautiful forest setting, and the water is usually in good fishing condition. There are 100 campsites available here. The park is located on the Butler-Preble County line.

Pymatuning State Park — In the extreme northeastern corner of Ohio is this unique area on the shores of large Pymatuning Lake. Most of the lake is in Pennsylvania, however your Ohio fishing license is good if you do not touch shore on the Pennsylvania side. Walleyes are the main attraction, although other species are taken. Motors are limited to six-horsepower.

Rocky Fork State Park — Plenty of water with the chance of taking bass, both largemouth and smallmouth, and muskellunge. Motor horsepower is unlimited. The park is in Highland County, and offers 100 campsites.

Tappan Lake — Some of the best fishing waters in eastern Ohio. The campground is operated by the boat dock concessionaire, as is the case at all Muskingum Conservancy lakes. Motors up to 18-horsepower are allowed, depending on boat size. The lake is in Harrison County.

Leesville Lake — Another Muskingum Conservancy lake in a beautiful setting. Water is usually clear, and some really large muskies have been taken in the past couple of years. Bass fishing is also good. Motors are limited to six-horsepower. The campground is small and often crowded.

Dollar Day Is Planned At Gooding's

Gooding's Zoo Amusement Park will officially open the season Saturday, May 27, with an innovation in the amusement field.

Saturday has been designated as Dollar Day at the Park and, upon purchasing an identification tag, patrons can ride all the rides, except the live ponies, as much as they want all day from noon until 9 p.m.

According to President F. E. Gooding, this affords an average family of four to spend the entire day on the rides for only $4.

Park officials are encouraging family groups, business firms, church groups, reunions, neighborhood get-togethers and organizations to bring picnic baskets to the free picnic grove and spend the day.

The park features some 20 rides this year. All park rides, including the Roller Coaster, Ferris Wheel, Merry-Go-Round, Dodgem, Tilt-A-Whirl, Octopus, ten new kiddie rides, Train, Looper and others will be included in the Dollar Day special.

IT'S A FACT

Farmers average about $1.37 an hour for their labor; a factory worker earns $2.29, the USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service reports.

B'nai B'rith Bowling Tourney To Get Underway On Saturday

When Columbus Mayor W. Ralston Westlake throws the first ball down the lane this Saturday night, eight days of hot competition for thousands of dollars in cash, merchandise and trophy prizes will be the inauguration of B'nai B'rith Zion Lodge's first annual Jackpot-Headpin tournament at the Jewish Center Bowling lanes.

All area bowlers, male and female, have been invited to participate in the event which will continue until June 4. Entry fee will be $1 per line with all proceeds from the event going to charities and services sponsored by the national and local B'nai B'rith organization.

Contestants may enter as often as desired and may bowl as many as 12 games (lines) at each session of the tournament. No two games may be bowled on the same alley during one session. Each contestant's best score will be used in determining winner lists at the conclusion of the event.

The grand prize in the men's division of the tournament is $500 in cash for the highest headpin score, prize for the top female bowler will be $200.

A Jackpot prize of $1,000 will be awarded to the bowler who can throw nine consecutive strikes. In the unlikely event of a tie for the Jackpot prize, the money will be split among the winners. Should there be ties for top headpin money, a roll-off will determine the winner.

All entrants in the tournament will be eligible for the drawing for a week's vacation for two in Miami Beach plus the use of a car for the period of the vacation. Air transportation to and from Florida will also be provided.

Another prize is being offered by the Stoney Creek Country Club golf course, located on E. Livingston-av, near Reynoldsburg. A class-A membership, good for one year, is being offered to a bowler finishing high in the standings.

In addition to the prizes listed above, numerous merchandise prizes have been made available by local merchants.

The tournament has been divided into four divisions for younger bowlers with trophies offered as prizes. First, second and third place trophies will be offered in a Boys' and a Girls' Junior Division (15 thru 18 years of age) and in a Girls' and a Boys' Bantam Division (14 years of age and under).

The schedule of tournament sessions, which will last from May 27 to June 4, follows:

Saturday, May 27, 7 p.m. to 12 p.m. Sunday, May 28, 1 p.m. to 11 p.m. Monday, May 29, 7 p.m. to 11 p.m. Tuesday, May 30, 1 p.m. to 11 p.m. Wednesday, May 31, 7 p.m. to 11 p.m. Thursday, June 1, 7 p.m. to 11 p.m. Friday, June 2, No Bowling. Saturday, June 3, 7 p.m. to 12 p.m. Sunday, June 4 1 p.m. to 11 p.m.

Biggest Deer Rack Taken By Jackson County Hunter

Biggest deer rack taken in 1960 to come to the attention of Big Buck Club officials is a 213 2/8 point non-typical head obtained in Jackson County on the opening day of the season.

This trophy was bagged by Bernard Tennan, RR 1, Ray. The head scored high despite the fact that three points, which would have been added to the total score; were shot off when the big buck was taken. It should rank well despite this handicap. With these missing points, it might have been one of the largest non-typical trophies scored in modern times, it was said.

It will be entered in both the Buckeye Big Buck Club and Boone and Crockett Club competition.

Commisioners Postpone Welfare Patient Conversion Until Value Is Determined

County Commissioners announced after a meeting last week that they will withhold judgment on an earlier proposal to convert a portion of the Benjamin Franklin TB Hospital into a treatment center for chronically ill welfare patients.

The proposal came to light as a possible solution to the problem encountered when these patients must spend long periods in regular hospitals. They no longer need intensive hospital care but the taxpayer is forced to pay higher hospital prices because the county has no other facilities available.

The commissioners were concerned about being sure the proposed conversion would save the city and county money. At present it is costing from $29 to $33.80 per day to keep 'these welfare patients in the hospitals.

Dr. Harold I. Humphrey, superintendent of the TB hospital, declared the cost of keeping the same patients in one of his wards to be $24. He says that 80 beds are now available in the south wing of the main hospital. An additional 86 beds could be set up in Benson Hall near the main building, according to Humphrey.

No Conformist—Squirrel Snubs Trees, Swims Home

That amphibious mother fox squirrel at Grand Lake St. Mary's has done it again.

For the second consecutive year she has taken up residence in a wood duck box, erected over water 20 feet from shore. The report comes from Roger McElroy, Division of Wildlife game management supervisor. The lake is located in Auglaize and Mercer Counties.

"Just why this squirrel decided to raise her family in such a hard-to-get-to place is best known to the squirrel, McElroy said. "Maybe she just likes to swim, because in order to get to the box she must swim about 20 feet. Then she must climb a steel post on which the duck box is mounted.

"While it isn't unusual for a squirrel to twim (all four-legged animals can swim when forced to do so), this particular squirrel could have found another site on land as there are numerous den trees in the area. What a surprise those young squirrels in the box will get the first time they look outside. They'll probably wish they were flying squirrels."

Whitehall Players To Be Fitted With Mouth Protectors

Teams of volunteer Columbus dentists have prepared models for the fabrication of custom-made mouth protectors for the football players of six senior high schools and three other high schools have scheduled mouth protector assemblies for their players.

Drs. Frank C. Starr, Jr., and Robert Clendenen, general co-chairmen of the Columbus Society's volunteer mouth protection program, announced that the Whitehall High School squad will meet at the school with a team of dentists Wednesday, May 31.

Members of the Columbus Dental Society are donating their professional services to the county-wide program among senior high schools to equip their football players with custom-made mouth protectors for the next football season. The dentist's skill is required to make an individual impression of the player's teeth and prepare a model on which the protector is fabricated with liquid latex reinforced with rayon flock.

School officials arrange assemblies and student groups and community booster, service and Parent-Tacher groups join in to fabricate the protectors on the models made by the dentists.

The latex-rayon flexible protector was perfected at the OSU College of Dentistry by Dr. William D. Heintz, a well-known leader in the field of mouth protection in athletics. The Heinz version of the flexible guard was recently commended by the American Dental Association and the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation as offering the maximum mouth protection in contact sports.

Plans for the establishment of a new funeral home, to be known as Woodyard East Chapel, were revealed this week by O. R. "Jim" Woodyard, Jr., who has been associated with his father in a similar local firm for the past 13 years.

The new mortuary will be located at 2286 E. Livingston-av. Construction is scheduled to start about June 1 and should be completed by Oct. 15.

The two-story colonial-inspired brick building will have about 85,000 square feet of floor space, and will be air conditioned. There will be a chapel seating about 300, with an adjoining family room. Ample off-street parking will be available.

Woodyard, his wife and their two children will live in the home now standing at the site of the new mortuary. He is a native of Columbus, and graduated from South High School and the Pittsburg Institute of Mortuary Science. He also attended Indiana State Teachers College and Stevens Institute of Technology.

EVERYBODY IMITATES Permaglas WATER HEATERS
BUT NOBODY IMITATES THE Permaglas GUARANTEE!

There's a big difference in water heaters . . . in heating capacity, in operating economy, and especially in years of service. That's why wise homeowners insist on Permaglas . . . guaranteed for the full value, not merely "pro-rated" according to the number of years in use.

Chamblin Out — Rec Post Vacant

"Mr. Chip's" goodby has been said.

The Recreation Director of Whitehall, George Chamblin, is now ex-

How the goodby was said, however, and by whom, is a bit of contention.

Mayor Walter Moling claims that he accepted Chamblin's resignation, Chamblin says he was fired.

Moling says the resignation letter was submitted a month ago, but he withheld accepting it hoping that things would work out between Chamblin and the recreation board.

Linn Hiatt, a member of the board, related that the board knew about the resignation, and added that Chamblin and the board had some disagreements over "policy."

The mayor, in finally accepting the resignation, said "the boy needs a rest."

Chamblin held the recreation post for eight months. He doesn't feel he said, that the conditions that may exist are "strictly my fault, part of it is I may have made some unwise decisions."

The recreation program, he says, now involves some 1000 youngsters a week. He also feels the program is the "strongest" Whitehall has ever had.

Hiatt feels that a new recreation director will be chosen in the fall. Meanwhile, he says, the summer program will progress under the direction of the playground supervisors.

At last week's board meeting, the $66 question was resolved. The board agreed to pay the schools for janitorial services during the production of the "Wizard of Oz" Apr. 1.

School Superintendent Robert Crabbs explained the board policy on outside school hours activities. John Bishop, of the recreation board, felt the superintendent's explanation and the charge "was reasonable."

Crabbs said the school board was charged with the responsibility of the buildings. The rates of charge are made so as not to make them expensive to the community, he outlined.

Most of the charges, he said, were based up the amount of utilities. The rate for janitorial service, he declared, is based upon the work of two men over an 11-hour period.

Chamblin said the explanation was to his satisfaction and that he "desired to keep on friendly terms with the school board as we must have the use of schools to operate our program."

The board also agreed to setting the summer playground hours from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. The decision came after listening to some of the playground supervisors request hours from 12:30 to 8:30, so as not to conflict with the Bible School program and with morning swimming instructions at a near-by pool.

The board listened to Councilman Richard Hyatt state that

THIS TRIO of Bexley High School seniors are in the midst of making plans for their graduation party next week. On the phone are Karen Mercer, Sue Yardley and Ellen Drum.

Class Of '61
Next Week, At Four Area High Schools,
768 Seniors Receive Their Diplomas

At Bexley, at Eastmoor, at Bishop Hartley, at Whitehall next week, some 768 area seniors will be walking across high school stages for the last time as a student.

During the short span of time it takes to receive a diploma, the seniors will be graduated from the ranks of their classmates and will be setting out on their own.

For some it will mean college, for others getting a job, for still others, the military service.

At Bexley High School, 182 candidates are destined to graduate. According to C. W. Jones, principal, the class will not be represented by any speakers.

Baccalaureate takes place June 4 at 4 p.m. Speakers will be Dr. Hiram Weld, of the Bexley Methodist Church.

The following Thursday, June 8, at 7 p.m., commencement is scheduled. Speaker will be Dr. Clarence C. Stoughton, president of Wittenberg University.

Eastmoor High School's list of candidates for graduation contains 249 names, the largest graduating class in the area.

Senior speakers are Larry Nichols and Sue Brown.

Baccalaureate is slated June 4 at 4 p.m. Rev. Robert Butz, of the Eastminster Presbyterian Church, is the featured speaker.

Graduates On Inside

On Tuesday, June 6, at 7 p.m., commencement activities will start. Frank Williams, of the city board of education, will hand out diplomas. Rev. Ronald Morris, of Fairmoor United Presbyterian Church will give the blessings.

Bishop Hartley High School's first graduating class will march toward the rostrum June 8 at 8 p.m. 149 in all.

Susan Sharkey is the valedictorian. James Harkless is salutatorian.

Commencement speaker will be Msgr. Bennett Applegate, diocesan superintendent.

At baccalaureate June 8 in the morning, Father Robert White, principal, will address the graduates.

Whitehall High School will graduate 188 seniors at 8 p.m. June 7.

Sue Johnson is valedictorian. Patty Quigley is salutatorian.

Dr. James H. Hull, former All-American basketball player at Ohio State University, will address the graduates.

At baccalaureate, June 4 at 8 p.m., Rev. Lloyd Tuttle, of the Evangelical United Brethren Church, will speak.

At Columbus Academy, William S. Putnam, headmaster, has announced that commencement will take place at the First Congregational Church, June 6 at 2 p.m.

Dr. Mark Weldon Smith, Dean of Men at Denison University and an Academy alumnus, will deliver the address.

David M. Inglis is scheduled to speak for the senior class.

Diplomas will be awarded by William A. Carlile, Jr., president of the Academy Board of Trustees.

As Told To John Auble, Jr.

TOWN AND COUNTRY (Special)—Having a safe and sane Memorial Day holiday at home isn't quite what it's cracked up to be. We know. Sometimes togetherness can be carried too far.

But, we realize that it's for a good cause and we hope that whatever reactions, fears, anticipations, wants or emotions we feel, will benefit this country in future years.

At the time of this writing, it's Wednesday afternoon, 3 p.m. We've been in our 13'x8'x9' "home" for exactly 121½-hours. We've got 47 more to go and time is moving all too slow.

It's funny the things you think about when you're confined like this. You dream of basking in the bright sunshine and, perhaps most of all, you crave a good hot bath.

Our children, Curtis, 6, Carol, 4, and Connie, 7, are beginning to tire fast now. They have shown much stress and strain since Monday evening.

We experiment a lot with the

These are women's words for the results that are possible with an ad in the classified section of the Hartley Newspapers. One of these people was Mrs. John Delay of 425 S. Harris when she rented her five-room house. All she did was to call BR 4-1155 and ask for "classified."

BEXLEY SENIORS PLAN FOR PARTY

Bexley seniors and parents again this year will make graduation a memorial one for the class of 1961.

An all-night party, June 8, starting at Jeffrey Mansion and ending a little after dawn at the Excelsior Club, will find the graduates wending away the hours.

Dining will take place at midnight. At 4:30 a.m., the seniors will take a swim at the Excelsior Club, then breakfast.

All will take place under the theme of the "Golden Ring," a circus type atmosphere.

Also on the agenda, the traditional baby picture contest. Parents will provide a baby pic photo of each senior. It will be up to the others to guess who they are.

The executive committee: Dr. and Mrs. Clark Pritchett, Mr. and Mrs. Sam McGravran, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Strahm, Dr. and Mrs. Keith DeVoe, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Yardley, Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Samson.

Family Is United By Eichmann Trial

Rev. Mendal Klein directed his attention to his 21-inch television tube and stared intently. The blue-white light flickered and reflected around the room.

His family gathered around him and, in this living room at 968 Kelton-av, a reunion was taking place. Well, at least it was a reunion for Mendal — an introduction for the rest of the Klein family.

This is the way it goes at the home of the Cantor of Beth Jacob Synagogue who, through an interesting turn of fate, is able to see his brother, Joseph, once again, via the electronic marvel.

Joseph stands outside of a small glass cage . . . a cage occupied by Adolph Eichmann currently on trial for wartime atrocities.

"It's an unusual thing," Rev. Klein commented. "Our family is thankful for the Eichmann trial since it gives us a chance to see Joseph."

The Klein children, Agnes, 13; Tommy, 10 and Elizabeth 4 have never met Joseph personally, but they feel that they know him well. The Klein's have another son, Julius, 11, who is attending school in Toronto, Canada.

The Klein story is an awe-inspiring one. Mendal and MEMBERS OF the Fashion Club at St. Mary's of the Springs: Anna Esselburne, of Rt. 5, Columbus; Mary Ann Duffey, of 184 E. Torrence; Barbara Doljack, of Cleveland, voted best dressed girl on campus; Sylvia Joseph, of 411 S. Harding-av; Pat Whittaker, of Niles, president.

St. Mary's College Fashion Club Helps Gals Keep 'Up To Date'

The men could learn from the women.

They not only know what they are up to. And if they don't they can take lessons so they do.

Take St. Mary's College of the Springs, for example. The girls have got together to form a fashion club.

Pat Whittaker, of Niles, is the president, and she presents a lofty, artistic-like picture when she enters a room. Her dress styling is up to date. Every hair is in place and her face contains just the right amount of make-up. Jewelry accessories are there, but not garishly noticeable.

The purpose of the fashion club is to bring girls up to date on the latest fashions. "This," pretty Pat says, "consists of being well groomed and well poised at all times."

The gals admit that it gets to be pretty rough at times trying to keep up with the latest styles in women's fashions. But they have one admonition: Keep this year's styles—they may be back again in 20 or 25 years.

Here are some tips:

A "sheath" is the most practical dress. It can be worn with a jacket and flats during the day, for a sporty appearance. At nights, the jacket can be removed, and the sheath can be worn with dressier jewelry, pumps and short gloves.

High heels provide the most attractive appearance, even if one is taller than one's "date."

A woman in the five foot, five inch range, "can wear almost anything."

BIG DAY FOR WBBA

Parade, Carnival Open Ball Season

Bands will play, girls will strut, ballplayers will grin and three pretty queens and their courts will wave graciously to their loyal subjects—Whitehall baseball fans.

The occasion is the Whitehall Baseball Carnival, marking the opening of play in three leagues in the Whitehall Boys' Baseball Association.

Festivities will get underway at 10 a.m. at the firehouse with all parade units forming for the march down Etna-rd to the WBBA Park where Mayor Walter Moling will give the address and cut the ribbon signaling the beginning of the season.

In the parade will be a special delegation of the Columbus Jets as arranged by Larry Shepard, and the three royal courts. Jean Helms is queen of the Babe Ruth League, with Jiena Powell and Joan Dennick serving on her court. Cindy Shipman will rule over the Major League with Stephanie Shade and Chris Carson on her court and Patty Blattner will reign over the Minor League with Rebecca Pope and Laura Rodeback sharing the thrills.

Twenty-one booths and concessions will help create the carnival air and ball games will be played at noon, 2 and 4 p.m. Proceeds from the carnival will be used to help finance the WBBA program for this year.

Bill Martin is marshal of the parade this year and music will be furnished by musicians from Eastmoor High School.

For those that weren't home last Saturday when players in the three leagues called door-to-door to sell memberships in WBBA the opportunity will be made available this week.

A goal was set to raise $1,500 in the membership drive which fell $800 short. For those that join, a membership card plus a window sticker will be presented. The memberships may be purchased from any member of the three leagues in WBBA.

EASTMOOR BROADCAST CLUBBERS IN ACTION
"Radio Is Here To Stay"

BROADCASTERS SOUND OFF OVER RADIO STATION WEHS

So you want to be a radio broadcaster?

It is evident that a number of Eastmoor students do. Some 25 of them at least, are members of the school Radio Club and announce for "Good Ol' WEHS."

Advisor of the club is William Barr.

The group takes turns broadcasting the school's various sports activities as well as conducting a "man on the street" type program.

They also do radio plays — with sound effects.

With the use of tape recordings, they are able to find out how they "sound" to others. Discussions center around constructive criticism of the voice being listened to.

"They have to know what they are talking about, for sure," Barr said.

As a for instance, in broadcasting a football game, it is necessary for them to understand the sport, interpret all official signals, memorize backfield names and numbers, be "somewhat" bipartisan in their reporting, minimize injuries, yards covered on a play, knowing the "hole" a particular play was ran over—some 35 reminders in all.

Barr thinks that "radio is here to stay."

"It is," he says a medium of, in and by itself. When movies came in, people counted radio out. The same thing with the advent of television. Yet, each time, it has come back stronger."

A good radio man, he feels has to have a college background. He must be versatile in numerous areas.

Barr also advises that some one trying to break into the business should gain broadcasting development in a small town station.

Two of the fields in radio that Barr feels are being neglected: rewriting and commercials.

MISSES' AND WOMEN'S fashions will be one of the newly refurbished departments officially unveiled at an Open House Saturday at the Boston Store in Town and Country Shopping Center.

FRIEND IN NEED

What can hair spray do for you? If you need the extra assist of a hair-setting lotion, a spray can be a friend in need. It's a quick fixative for loose fly-away hair. It's a "must" for keeping evening stardust sprinklers in place. The trick with using spray is to hold the container far enough away from the hair. Placing directly next to the hair causes too much concentration and saturation.

Hair spray may be the immediate answer to keep your hair under control, but it's no substitute for regular professional assistance. Iva's Beauty Salon, 3978 E. Broad Street, Columbus, BE. 5-5474.

HELEN O'CONNEL JOINS "HERE'S HOLLYWOOD" AS CO-HOST.

On the 13th, Dean Miller will introduce his new working partner on the "June 13 telecast of "Here's Hollywood" show, Channel 4. Miss O'Connell, who while still a teenager, gained fame as vocalist with Jimmy Dorsey and his orchestra, replaces Joanne Jordan on the 4:30 to 5 daily NBC-TV show.

On the 13, Dean Miller will chat with Helen O'Connell in her Brentwood, Calif., home and then the following day, she will conduct her first interview when she welcomes Emmy-award-winner Don Knotts to the cameras. Local viewers may recall that back in '57 and '58, Miss O'Connell was a featured member of the Dave Garroway, "Today" show. In the recording world, "Tangerine" and "Green Eyes" will always be remembered, collectively having sold several million copies, sung in the O'Connell style.

Ohioans Make The Most Of Water Sites

Upon the invitation of Tom George, sales manager of Henry Boats, Inc., I was treated to a boat ride the other day above Griggs Dam. What do you think I saw? On the busiest boating waters in this area, there were more fishermen out than boaters. Several anglers were loading gear into their boats for a combination outing, and many more fishermen lined the banks.

This is multiple-use of recreation facilities in practice—putting a water resource to triple use. First there is water supply, then fishing and boating.

Complete harmony is too much to hope for in such situations. There are plenty of cases where water supply has caused a draw-down which upsets the recreationists. Some fishermen want a quiet cove to themselves, and resent any disturbances. Bank fishermen do not like boat waves washing their bobbers in to shore. Speed boaters and water skiers do not like a fisherman's boat anchored in their way. Then there are extremists — people who want all the water reserved for fishing and others who lobby for wide open boating with no restrictions.

Usually there is a spirit of cooperation and negotiation. Everyone gives a little and you wind up with the workable solution of multiple-use.

This concept is by no means new, but the word of multiple-use has been coined in recent years. In a crowded state such as ours it's the best solution to the outdoor recreation space problem. Other areas in other states can afford the luxury of single use, a type of resource management that should not be ignored. There should be areas where the dropping of acorns on leaf-litter, a splashing fish and the hum of insects are the only noises.

But here at home we will have to be content for the most part to pull our large-mouth bass and crappies out of the water with perhaps a sail boat regatta in view. Or maybe a family will be picnicking across the way or an outboard skimming across the water. Water skiing will have to be done in certain zones, horsepower limits and speed regulations must be enforced. Multiple-use offers recreation to a lot of different people, but also carries with it a responsibility of protecting the rights of everybody.

So much for today's lecture.

My jaunt on the waters of Griggs was superb. The sun was shining (no mean accomplishment for this spring). Fishermen were taking fish, mostly crappies and bluegills, with a few catfish thrown in. And George's boat handled beautifully. It was equipped with one of the new inboard-outboard combinations — an engine mounted on the inside of the transom with a propeller unit on the outside. This tips up and permits the boat to be trailered, a distinct advantage over a regular inboard boat.

FISHIN' FEVER HAS HIT! Take a look at this lunker smallmouth bass taken from Dale Hollow Lake, Byrdstown, Tenn. The 8-pound 15-ounce trophy is held by Andy Seling, White Castle accountant, who spends his spare time with rod and reel. Seling's catch-of-a-lifetime was 26 and 5-16 in. long and 18⅝ in. in girth. Bait was a chub minnow on a spinning rod, using an eight-pound test line. In the other picture is a nice catch taken here below O'Shaughnessy Dam by (from left) Lee, Lee Jr., and John Bachmen. It included crappies, walleyes, large and smallmouth bass—a fine example of multiple-use of water. Both above the dam and farther downstream at Griggs Dam the water is used by fishermen and boaters. children. We feel that they are the only ones who will give a true reaction to certain situations.

In the last 30-hours, they've had trouble concentrating on any particular game or toy. They've played with them over and over and the excitement has vanished.

We're holding back one toy apiece for them.

Tuesday evening we held back supper on them. They didn't even realize it. We are convinced their appitites have fallen off.

We think that the main reason is lack of exercise and activity. Especially for Curtis who is an active boy.

Even though we exercise quite a bit every morning, it doesn't seem to be enough.

It's during these morning hours that things are the roughest. We both arise at about 6 a. m. and wake the children at 7 a. m. Curtis gets up and gazes out the window. He longs for the outdoors.

One soon realizes the importance of planning in a project such as this one. You have to develop a definite schedule and stick to it.

We wish we had had more time to plan our menus, but the food supply seems to be holding out well. We'll have plenty of soups left over, but we might run short of meats.

We all miss fresh fruits and vegetables. Being without apples and tossed salads is a bad feeling. We also have no bread—just crackers.

Maybe this is the big reason why the appitites have fallen off—we don't know.

We usually try to ignore the spectators who stare in at us every day. But, we realize that they're interested in what we're doing and we try to answer all the questions we can by motioning through the glass.

The hardest part is when someone comes up to the window licking an ice cream cone.

We have been told that People have driven up to 60-miles to see how we're doing.

If we could offer a suggestion to folks planning a bomb shelter—and we urge them to—be sure to include vitamin pills in with the supplies. We surely could have used them during these last hours.

The most unusual thing is that the children haven't missed television at all. In fact, they haven't even commented about it. We thought that this would be their biggest desire.

What will we do when we get out Friday? We'll head for home and take a hot bath and lay in the sun.

It has been a trying experience but we feel particularly happy that we were chosen to participate in this experiment.

Actually it has been fun 'play acting'. We hope that we will never have to do it for real.

Klein—

his brother were born in Ganise, Czechoslovakia. They both attended a dominical college.

In 1918, after World War I the family moved to Hungary. Besides Joseph, the Rev. Klein had five sisters.

Why did Joseph decide to stay in Israel? He married a girl there in 1947. He was then 28-years old.

He was a watchmaker by trade along with being a dominical student in Hungary. He's now 40-years old.

When Joseph came to Israel, he volunteered for policework. Since he was a well-educated man, he was taken into the economics and police department in Hifa, Israel and was made a lieutenant.

"Joseph wrote us some time ago and said that he would be busy with Eichmann," Rev. Klein said. "We weren't quite sure what he meant and we were surprised to see him on television."

Rev. Klein met his wife, Anna, in Budapest, Hungary. They came to America in 1954. He speaks six languages, including Hungarian, German, Norwegian, Hebrew, Yiddish and English.

The board is also in the process of negotiating for the purchase of three and one half acres behind the East Baptist Church as a future picnic-recreation area.

The recreation board's Hiatt, however, said that he first wanted the approval of residents in the vicinity. Already leased is a site in the Beachwood school area.

'Parade Of Homes' Opening Is June 10

With "construction on schedule," the promotion of the 1961 Parade of Homes is being officially kicked off this week through an advertising campaign in Columbus area weekly newspapers.

According to Clayton K. Jones, chairman of this year's event for the Home Builders Association of Greater Columbus, recent good weather has put builders on a full-speed-ahead schedule to have homes completed by the June 10 opening.

"New Ideas For Happy Family Living," ads appearing this week, and following weeks follow the theme and identify the locations of the parade: Forest Park on Karl-rd and Laurel Canyon on McNaughter-rd, between E. Broad and Main-sts.

Many prizes will be given away, including a free seven-day Hawaiian vacation for two. Entry blanks for the drawing will be available outside the entrance to either of the parade sites.

Jones said paved streets are being installed in both areas and landscaping on homesites will begin this week. "Many builders, delayed by the heavy spring rains, are putting the finishing touches on their model homes. The complete array of 47 homes, worth more than $1.3 million, will be ready for opening day," he said.

'35' GOING NORTH
. . . On Barnett-rd

Some Signs Seem Silly Says City

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

There's nothing too unusual about Barnett-rd. There wasn't, at any rate, until a couple of weeks ago when confused motorists did a double take at the speed limit signs.

It appeared that the traffic engineers goofed. Motorists, puzzled and perplexed, could not understand it and neither could the traffic engineers.

Traveling south on Barnett-rd from Main-st, the speed limit sign reads "25-Miles Per." However, traveling north on the same road, from Livingston-av, the sign reads "35-Miles Per."

"Can't understand it," exclaimed Lt. Charles Koehler of the traffic division. "Evidently the traffic engineers made a mistake."

A call to the traffic engineers office produced the following:

A soft, pleasant-voiced office worker (unidentified) stated, "I'm not quite sure how it happened. The old sign from Main-st was knocked down and the men went out to put up a new one.

"Whoever put up the new sign just didn't realize that the speed limit was supposed to be 35-miles per hour. Someone made a mistake."

Lt. Koehler stated that the traffic engineers are the ones who determine, usually, what the speed limit of a given street should be.

"If the engineers think that a certain speed limit should be established — or changed — they do it after making a thorough survey," the lieutenant said.

Many times, the engineers get recommendations from the traffic commission of speed limit rates.

But, all's well that ends well, and the engineers reported that they put up the correct "35 Miles Per" speed limit sign off of Main-st on May 31.

A traffic spokesman stated that the chances of a mix-up like this happening are very slim.

Warner Heads AFA

A former Air Force non-commissioned officer has been promoted to the status of commander—by an election.

Howard C. Warner, a Whitehall resident, was recently selected to head the local contingent of the Air Force Association. Robert L. Dean was named vice-commander.

The association is a veterans group of approximately 45,000 national members dedicated to the promotion of airpower. Local members number approximately 400.

"The AFA works with all established aviation groups toward the better understanding of aviation and its effect upon the nation's security and economy," Warner stated.

The new leader is interested in reactivating the local chapter in and around the Columbus metropolitan area.

An active local organization once existed, Warner said. At present he is trying to interest former members of the Air Force in the association.

Warner may be contacted at 237-7221.

The AFA is an independent airpower organization, founded by Air Force Men.

State organizations are headed up under the title of "Wings." Local units are designated "squadrons."

Warner asserts that the group has "no personal, or political axe to grind.

$800,000 Store Set For Whitehall

They hung around until midnight Tuesday in Whitehall council chambers to get through a lengthy agenda that included seven public hearings.

Top most item on the docket, a proposal for an $800,000 department store, received only one dissenting vote, that of the 3rd ward's Donald Gorrell.

Another important item, rezoning unused portions of Yearling-rd for apartment and residential units, was put off until July.

The other five hearings, however, found council in an appreciative mood:

Okayed were ordinances to establish a commercial-apartment-office district; change the zoning map at the Kel'.v plot, 83 Robinwood-av, two Morris Mattlin properties and six lots in Bernhard's second addition.

The department st : will be operated by John Cawthorne, of the Claber Distributing Corporation, of Cleveland. Sidney Axelrod is the president. It will be located along Main-st, between Hamilton-rd and Shady-ln.

According to the company's lawyer, Joseph Roalston, the store will employ 126 persons at an annual payroll of $500,000.

The store, he said, will stock $1,000,000 worth of merchandise a year. No name has as yet been selected, according to Axelrod.

Axelrod also said the store should be ready for operation by mid-October.

There was opposition to the Gorrell sponsored resolution to rezone portions of Yearling-rd.

Alfred Molnar inquired, "why were some parties allowed to take two or three slices out of the pie, then have council come forth to rezone the area. This is more of a condemnation proceeding."

William Lewis, an attorney, speaking for Allied Development Corporation, asserted "there is a need for local commercial establishments."

Gorrell said he did not want to see Yearling-rd "turn into another Parsons-av."

A former councilman, E. A. Lyttle, declared that the present appearance of Yearling-rd, "Does not reflect the zoning that was set up at the time I was on council." He backed Gorrell.

The zoning change calls for apartments on the west side of Yearling, from Broad-st to Sieg-

'CHEMIST' ROGER COPELAND
He Started By The Numbers

For Master Copeland, Chemistry Is 'Roger'

He began chasing butterflies and could end up by going to the moon.

Although neither biology nor astronomy is his first love, it would be impossible to count Roger Copeland out of anything, once he puts his mind to it.

His main, abiding interest, however, since he was five-years-old, has been chemistry.

Roger is now 11 and next year will enter Johnson Park Junior High. He just completed the sixth grade at Fairmoor.

He is concerned right now with continuing his research at Eastmoor High School's science seminar, conducted by top notch instructor Don Murphy.

The seminar is usually restricted to just high school students. Roger was recommended to Murphy by the Fairmoor principal.

Roger has been known to combine science with finance, in his earlier days.

His first venture was capturing butterflies, mimeographing a price list, then selling them.

His first butterfly net was made by his father out of a sports shirt, broom handle and hanger. "It worked."

The young science student also dabbles in physics, astronomy, geology and botany, and this can be attested to by the neat array of subject matter in his basement.

When Roger first started in chemistry, he was yet too young to even read.

"Instead of combining ammonia with chlorine for example, I would combine, say number 4 with number 7, the number labels on bottles." You could say, I did everything by the numbers."

This past Monday, Roger was among a group of other students who had been invited to speak to the Downtown Kiwanis organization.

His topic, naturally, science.

Bexley Library Has New Service For Bed-Ridden

Through the cooperation of many groups, the Bexley Library has announced a new service for those confined to their homes.

Books may be chosen by calling the library or through a friend. The library will then deliver and pick up the books.

In addition, the Bexley Lions Club has given to the library, ceiling projectors and microfilm books for the use of those who are bed-ridden.

The library has also announced that story-time sessions will take place on Wednesdays during July and August from 10:15 to 11 a.m. for youngsters four years of age and older.

Summer book clubs are scheduled to begin June 12.

Fleck Appointed

Harold Fleck has been appointed to the Whitehall Recreation Board by Mayor Walter B. Moling. Fleck replaces Wayne Marion who has moved from the city.

Bexley, Hartley Graduation

It's the last hour of school tonight for Bexley and Bishop Hartley graduates. Seniors will go through the traditional ceremonies at 8 p.m. at both schools.

Eastmoor High School commencement took place Tuesday. Whitehall graduates were honored last evening.

Whitehall Park Cost: $52,000

BY JOHN POEPPELMEYER

The appraiser's report is in on the 20-acre park site in Whitehall.

The estimate, according to Safety Director Craig Wright: $2,600 an acre, or $52,000.

The reports should knock the props out from under the controversial rumors that the park site south of Fairway-blvd and east of Hamilton-rd would cost in the "neighborhood of $150,000."

Wright said the proposed park area will probably be realigned more to the south in order to save a home in the area.

Wright called the $2,600 per acre estimate "reasonable."

Appraisers were Charles Johnson and Robert Garrison, Wright said.

The next step, he said, is to submit the estimate to the City Planning and Zoning Commission. Wright feels the city needs a "park of this size."

"Kids need a place to play baseball. Next year, the Little League teams will need a place with the erection of the new school in the area they now occupy."

He agrees that the city does need picnic areas, such as are being contemplated at Beechwood School and the First Baptist Church. "But, we do not need parks on a postage stamp basis."

The park proposal was first submitted in February by Mayor Walter B. Moling.

Negotiations for the property still have to be made with the owners, Wright said.

He asked, "What else could the area be used for, if not a park?"

Norton Park Residents Concerned

A man from the Norton field area in Whitehall approached Council president Walter Siemer the other night and presented him with a grocery bag of balls.

The tally, according to Siemer's count; eight hard balls, three golf balls and a softball.

The man was just one of a handful of Norton field residents who made no bones about the feeling that they want a nine foot, chain link fence around the Norton field playground to protect their properties.

One lady submitted a petition bearing over 50 names, she claimed, who want the fence. She asserted that youngsters tramp down gardens, destroy property and break windows.

"An emergency situation exists," she said. "A fence should have been there years ago."

Mayor Walter B. Moling urged council to come up with "something fast" on the situation. But he also told the citizens, if the cost of the fence amounts to over $1000, it may be a month before the fence could be erected, due to legal proceedings.

Safety Director Craig Wright, who has been plugging for a 20-acre park site in the city, took the opportunity to stress "the necessity for a large, properly laid out park."

Meanwhile, an ordinance is ready for council regulating all park hours in Whitehall.

Solicitor James Maxwell, Jr., who says he is sponsoring the ordinance, feels that such a law is needed.

"It calls for keeping peddlers out of city parks, restricts hardball playing where little children abound in numbers and sets park hours from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m." the city attorney commented.

He added that the city had no law regulating the hours. "Under the present set-up," Maxwell stated, "people can spend the night in a park if they want to."

Candidates -- (Winners And Losers) File Receipts

Win or lose, the time has come for all good candidates to pay the piper.

Charles E. Davies, clerk of the Board of Elections, has reminded "all candidates, successful or unsuccessful, and all committees representing candidates, must file a receipt and expenditure statement, whether they did or did not have expenditures."

Deadline for filing: 4 p.m. Friday, June 16.

Failure to comply will prohibit persons from becoming a candidate for any office for five years, under the state code.

CREELS TURN TO TAKE A LOOK

ONE OF THE LAST things the Robert Creel family did last Friday after emerging from their fallout shelter "home" after a week's stay at the Town and Country Shopping Center, was to take a look to see how it felt to be on the outside looking in. Obliging the young family were, left to right, inside, Ray Jacobs, of the Franklin County Civil Defense office; Bill Grover (partially hidden), executive secretary of Town and Country Shopping Center; C. B. Tibbets, president of Lifemaster, Inc.; and Major Woodmansee, technical advisor for the company.

Reddy Was Ready, But Teeth Weren't

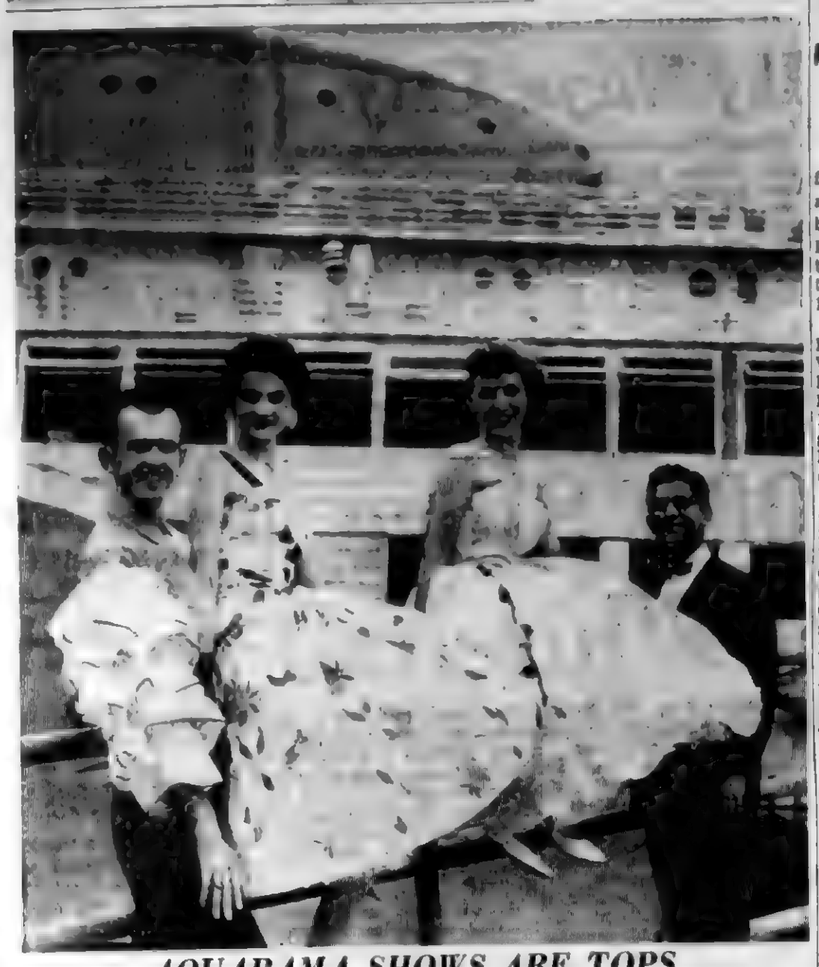
Here's a story with teeth in it.

Young Art Reddy, jr., is a fireman. He was doing his duty when disaster struck—his teeth.

Seems as if a call came into the fire house; guy had a heart attack.

Art, whose teeth had been bothering him, shoved the partial falsies into his shirt pocket, grabbed a resuscitator, ran out of the fire house and "bumped something."

Result: cracked teeth.



But that's not all.

Seems the workmen's compensation law only works for those with teeth in their mouth, not in their shirt pocket.

Result: no payment forthcoming.

The City of Whitehall may take it on itself to pay young Art a "moral obligation," of 48 bucks, for chipping his choppers.

But the "moral" to this story is: when you're "reddy" for duty, put your teeth where your mouth is.

Dolly Derby Goal This Year Is 2,000

Goodwill Industries needs 2000 dolls now for Girl Scouts in six Central Ohio counties to dress for the second annual Dolly Derby this fall.

Dolls of all descriptions are needed. Last year, Scouts of the Ohio Trefoil Council competed in dressing 1200 dolls, including antique types, which had been donated to Goodwill Industries.

Dolls are cleaned, repaired, and in many cases given new hair styles by Goodwill employes and volunteer workers. They are then displayed in the three-day Dolly Derby (open to the public in November) and sold in Goodwill stores in Chillicothe, Newark and Marion and the three stores in Columbus — all in time to wind up in Christmas stockings. Dolly Derby proceeds pay for the training and employment of handicapped persons at Goodwill Industries.

Girl Scouts 9 to 17-years-old in Franklin and neighboring counties are eligible to participate in the doll-dressing competition, which will qualify them for merit badges.

Dolls may be taken or sent directly to Goodwill Industries, 1331 Edgehill-rd, or left at Goodwill collection booths. Booths in the Hartley Publications circulation area are Central Point, and Great Western Shopping Centers; West Broad, back of Big Bear; Great Southern, beside Krogers, facing High-st; Town and Country, east of Robinwood facing Broad-st; Great Eastern, across from Pure Oil station, facing Main-st; Reynoldsburg, north side and back of bank in shopping center.

Mrs. William M. Deems, 182 Nottingham-rd, is general chairman of Dolly Derby. Other committee members are Mrs. A. L. Taft, 33 W. Schreyer-pl, and Scout Representative, Mrs W. C. Myers, 954 Chambers Circle. For further information, call Mrs. Virgie Rogers, Goodwill Industries, 294-5181.

Graham Film Is Planned At Christian Drive-In

Billy Graham's new film "The Heart Is A Rebel," will be shown at the Christian Drive-In Saturday and Sunday, June 10 and 11, 8:15 p.m.

Drive-in is located just south of 1900 W. Mound-st.

The film was made during the New York crusade, and stars Ethel Waters and the entire Graham team.

Jimmy Rea, director of the drive-in, announced the new parking area for church buses will be ready and, as in the past, the group having the greatest number present will be given a large Saliman's painting of the head of Christ. Groups should turn in the number to the projector booth during intermission, and each child will receive a free bottle of pop.

THE KIDS flipped over Flippo during the Boston Store Open House last Saturday and the Dads were all eyes over pretty Rosanne Wolpert—this year's Miss Central Ohio. Proving that the Boston Store forgets no one, the store offered many fine values for Mom, too.

Boston Store Shows 'New Look' Saturday

The Boston Store, Town and Country Shopping Center, gave Central Ohioans a peek at its "New Look" Saturday and the thousands of enthusiastic shoppers seemed to love it.

The store held an open house — studded with local personalities to entertain—and offered something for everyone during the event.

"Particular interest was shown in the newly coordinated, refixtured fashion and accessory departments," according to the store's manager, Rodger Vien.

"The customers seemed to like the new family shoe department, the lamp department and the crowds exceeded our optimistic estimates," Vien added.

The full program of activities included the awarding of a weekend for two at the French Lick Sheraton Hotel, French Lick, Ind.

The trip was given to Mrs. Lillian Earley, 1376 Westphal-av. A $25 merchandise certificate was awarded to James N. Neece, 4251 Mayflower-blvd and a $10 certificate was given to F. C. Beggan, 95 Fairway-blvd.

It is one of two new campus buildings to be started this year as part of the university's $10 million building program over the next ten years. The other is an additional men's dormitory.

The general contract for the President's home, estimated at about $60,000, includes adapting the President's present home along E. Main-st into a clinic.

President and Mrs. Harold L. Yochum are expected to move into their new home in November. Constructed in the early American style, the first floor will include a study, bedroom, living room, kitchen and bath. On the second floor will be two bedrooms and storage space.

The basement will be furnished off into a recreation room. The exterior will be of frame and face brick construction with an attached garage.

The cost of the men's new dormitory, approved by the American Lutheran Church, is not to exceed $450,000. It will be named Schaaf Dormitory in honor of Julius Shaff, Berea, O., a retired farmer who contributed $100,000 to the university's building fund.

The three-story structure will include a basement lounge and recreation room. It will house 100 men. An off-street parking area will be provided. The dormitory will be constructed on College-av, directly behind the Huber-Spielman building.

Bid Date For Road Work Set

Bids for the $800,000 project to widen a section of Livingston-av to four lanes will be accepted by the city June 13.

Work on the two-mile stretch of roadway between James and Hamilton-rds. is expected to begin in about one month, according to City Engineer Robert Werner.

The project is not scheduled to be completed until July, 1962, he said.

Plans call for the pavement to be 52 feet wide, asphalt and have curbs and sidewalks on both sides.

While construction is in progress, through traffic will be routed over Main and Broad-sts. Single lane, two-way traffic will be maintained on Livingston-av for local residents.

AT TOWN AND COUNTRY
The Circus Is Coming

Biggest, 'Littlest Show' Headed For T&C Center

"Ernie's Circus," largest miniature reproduction of the 'big top,' will be exhibited free of charge at the Town and Country Shopping Center, 3600-4000 E. Broad-st, starting Monday and continuing through Saturday, June 17.

This tiny circus, shown in a 40 by 70 foot tent, comprising 2500 hand-carved and hand-painted pieces, has been shown to more than five million children and has been around the world six times. It was featured last year the Brussels World's Fair and has been on 189 television shows.

Included in the 25,000-piece replica of the entire Ringling Bros.-Barnum and Bailey Circus are 5,000 animals, 3000 spectators, 2000 performers. Much of the circus shown in the 30 cut-out tents, is animated by 20 motors. This, plus music by the musician, gives the circus delightful realism.

For the convenience of family shoppers the hours of the circus are 11 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. daily.

Those who visit the circus will also get a chance to see the owners of the show, Ernie Blonquist, the composer of the hit song," "The Music Goes Round and Round," and his wife, Virginia, a former Ziegfeld Follies girl. Ernie has carved the figures for his famous circus and Virginia has dressed and pointed the tiny figures.

The circus will be located next to the Gray Drug Store opposite Richman Bros.

Broad St. Church Board Approves Constitution

The congregation of Broad-st Christian Church Sunday approved the constitution of the United Church and applied for affiliation with that church body.

The action is one of the first in Columbus marking the establishment of dual denominational affiliation by a congregation.

Dr. Floyd Faust, Broad-st's minister, said "Our entire body of the Christian Churches (Disciples) is making overatures toward a possible affiliation with this admirable new and thrilling body, the United Church of Christ."

He said that Broad-st's joining with the UCC may encourage other local congregations to do the same.

The United Church of Christ was established by a merger in 1957 of the Congregation-Christian and Evangelical and Reformed denominations.

PIT PATTER

The weatherman does not seem to want to cooperate too well. However all but one event on Decoration Day was run at the Columbus Motor Speedway. Jack Bowsher of Springfield took the Modified Feature event after taking the lead in the 46th lap.

Friday night the rains came and washed out all of the events.

The 25 lap super-modified feature Sunday night at the southside oval was won by Johnny Wymer who took the lead on the second lap and held it until the finish. He was cheered on by 2400 fans. Near the finish Jim Cushman was less than a car length behind.

Junior Tinney had little trouble in winning the 20 lap flying stock feature with Don Gregory taking second place.

The rained out flying stock championship feature of last Sunday, was run as the first event of the evening, with top honors going to Don Gregory.

Racing at the southside plant gets underway at 8 p.m. with no time trials.

IDLE HOUR GUIDE

Birthday Greetings To "Casper," New Series: Project-Youth

By Stan Robinson

Casper, the lovable camel celebrated a birthday this past week, June 5 to be exact, "Casper Capers" was first seen in Columbus on Channel 6 in June of 1955. At the time he was a star on another WTVN-TV show called "Play Yard."

The creator of Casper is a talented young man, in action behind the Casper set, five days a week for a half hour at 4. Sky Lucey carefully watches a television monitor and guides the daily proceedings on the screen. Lucey is a producer and director as well as the man who plays the role of Casper.

Robinson

Casper chats with his friend Chuck Nuzum and together they introduce the cartoons, read the mail and sing happy birthday songs to the children. Nuzum has been with the show since its inception. Casper receives more mail than any other personality at the station. Children of ALL ages are his friends.

WLW-C OFFERING A NEW SERIES on Saturday nights . . . Four young people will be special guests each week with Hugh DeMoss, Channel 4 News Director moderating an informative new program in a six-week series. The first show this past Saturday was titled "Youth Looks At The World Community." On June 24, "Youth Looks At Morals,"; July 15, "Youth Looks At Opportunity"; Aug. 8, "Youth Looks At Religion"; Aug. 26, "Youth Looks At Government" and on Sept. 16, "Youth Looks At Education." WLW-C's Special Broadcasts Service Director, Betty Shepherd advises that a special adult guest will join the students from time to time.

"TV GUIDE" READERS CHOOSE FAVORITES . . . The second annual "TV Guide Award Show," on the NBC-TV network is slated for Tuesday, June 13, 10 p.m., channel 4. It will be in color and black and white. Nanette Fabray and Jackie Cooper will star in the entertainment portion . . . all but the final 15 minutes, when awards will be presented in eight categories as voted on by readers of TV Guide. Sketches lampooning the television industry will be part of the entertainment. Efram Zimbalist Jr. will be the host and will take part in the skits of the telecast originating both in New York and Hollywood.

OUT OF TOWN SALUTE on 10 during June . . . Throughout June WBNS-TV will salute many communities outside of Franklin County with filmed scenes from some 50 areas in Ohio. Photographer Dick Williams and the film department station wagon have been making the rounds in quest of interesting pictures.

INDUSTRIAL AUTHORITIES ON "THE NATION'S FUTURE . . . A question of vital importance to American industry, "Does The United States Need A More Restrictive Trade Policy", — will be debated Saturday, June 10, on Channel 4 and NBC-TV, 9:30-10:30 p.m. Jackson E. Spears, vice-president of Burlington Industries, Inc., will take the affirmative position and Charles H. Percy, the chairman of the board and chief executive officer of Bell and Howell Co., will present the negative case.

IN VIEW FOR THE FUTURE . . . John Daly, who subbed for Dave Garroway during Garroway's recent leave of absence from the "Today" show is expected to take over the show when Garroway departs, probably before the end of summer. Ailing Lucille Ball has cancelled her CBS-TV special "Lucy Goes To Broadway" which was supposed to be filmed this summer for December. Victor Borge's first special for the 1961-62 season is scheduled for CBS-TV, Wednesday, Sept. 27 . . . Rex Reason won't be part of ABC-TV's "Roaring Twenties" cast when the series commences in the fall.

OUTPOSTS OF CULTURE HIT BACK at famous hairdresser . . . A prominent hairdresser succeeded in getting in the hair of many "Dave Garroway, Today" viewers a week ago when he commented that everything 10 miles outside of the New York city limits "becomes very dull and old fashioned."

According to the mail and phone calls, Mr. Kenneth of Lily Dache, had struck with a hot curling iron. Anita Colby who conducted the interview had explained that the man was probably the best known hairdresser in the country and that he had designed Jacqueline Kennedy's hairdo. Marilyn Monroe and Zsa Zsa Gabor are among his clients too.

When Miss Colby asked him whether "Mrs. Kennedy's hair style has any effect on the hairstyles around the country, outside of New York, Mr. Kenneth dropped his bombshell, saying "everything becomes dull and old fashioned when you travel 10 miles outside of New York." He even thinks that Mrs. Kennedy's hair style, which she has had for three years, has become to him, "an old hairdo." Outraged feminine viewers in such outposts of culture as Westport, Conn., not to mention Boston, San Francisco and dozens of similar places indicated very plainly they would like to get their hands on Mr. Kenneth's hair.

96th Division Plans Reunion

The 96th Infantry Division Association has invited all veterans of the unit to attend the fourth annual reunion of the division at Detroit, July 27-29.

The session will include business meetings, a moonlight excursion on the Detroit River, "gab" sessions, banquet and dance.

Details of the reunion may be obtained by writing Richard Klassen, corresponding secretary, Route 5, Kankakee, Ill.

Send news of your organization to The Hartley Newspapers, Phone BR. 4-1155.

Salvation Army Appreciates Help

The Salvation Army is appealing to its many friends and benefactors for help in meeting the needs of those who come for assistance.

Usable furniture and clothing are now urgently needed.

Donated articles are processed and repaired at the Men's Social Service Center, located at 584 S. High-st. Here gifts accomplish a number of purposes.

Work therapy is helping 75 men to regain their self-mastery and again lead a productive life.

The Salvation Army has long been known for its helping hand extended to those in need. In addition, it maintains "Thrift Stores," where lower income families can shop at ease and find furniture and clothing at a very low price.

The Salvation Army in its rehabilitation program is not subsidized financially by any federated fund-raising agency. Its entire program is financed through the sale of material picked up by the "Red Shield" truck.

Donors may contact the rehabilitation center by calling CA. 1-4269, and arrange for truck pickup of items.

Farm fires in 1959 resulted in an estimated property loss of 174 million dollars, says the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Bexley, Whitehall Fireworks Boom Could Be Bust

That the 4th of July ain't what it used to be can be verified by the troubles both Bexley and Whitehall are running into in order to get their respective fireworks off the ground.

In Bexley, city officials learned that some citizens have threatened to throw an injunction against the Bexley Celebrations Association in the event the BCA decides to go through with its July 4th plans.

In Whitehall, not one civic organization has yet come forward with either the cash nor the incentive to keep alive the annual fireworks tradition.

Whether the 4th fete in either or both of the communities fizzles or flashes is still a question mark.

'FALLOUT' JITTERS MAY FREEZE 4TH FUSES

The natives of Bexley are restless.

And the restlessness, believe it or not, stems from a a fear of fallout.

Not the radioactive kind, but the fireworks kind.

These feelings seemingly are confined to but a few of the Bexleyites.

Mayor William Schneider reported to the Bexley Celebrations Association that a few complaints over previous July 4th shoot-offs have smoldered to the point where the dissenters are ready to light a fuse of their own, via an injunction to halt the observances.

These threats notwithstanding, council has given the mayor the go-ahead to issue a permit to the BCA to formulate its July 4th plans.

It would also appear, from a survey made by the BCA, that the complaints are few and far between.

In a canvass of 64 homes in the high school area, where the fireworks will be unleashed, 58 residents responded favorably to the celebration; two were "agin;" and six offered no opinion. (Among the no opinions, councilman J. Roth Crabbe).

The complaints stem mostly from the safety factors involved, such as falling fiery sparks. A few others have registered concern over the traffic.

The mayor, however, affirms that the traffic problem is not one of Bexley's making.

"People driving up and down Broad and Main-sts." he said, "see the aerial display start, then converge on the stadium."

James Henley, financial chairman of the BCA, states that his group has $2750 worth of fireworks ready to be set off.

"I'm not a firecracker bug, myself, but a lot of people do get a bang out of it, "he punned. He believes, he says, that the 4th fete provides a need for the community.

Brad Salt, a former BCA president, thinks that "we will have a good many unhappy youngsters and adults on our hands, if we do not go through with it."

In the 14 years, the BCA has been in existence, he states, only "two or possibly three" claims have been filed against the BCA.

Mayor Schneider said he had no dea how many people had complained nor did he know for sure if those who threatened BCA with an injunction would go through with it. "But,", he added, "what we do not want, is even one fire."

'Light The Fuse' Survey Shows

Some of the comments the Bexley Celebrations Association picked up in its canvass along Cassingham, Remington, Roosevelt, Powell, Stanwood, and Dale-ave.

One "likes high fireworks," but objected to the noise.

"I've had a lot of fall-out in the past, but I don't object," said another.

"My awnings caught on fire, once, but I still enjoy the displays," was another comment.

Parking Ban Slammed By Bexleyite

By JOHN POEPPELMEYER

Bexley councilmen may have a right to be a bit befuddled.

Some months ago, they sat in on a jam-packed public hearing and were told what was wrong with their proposal to ban all-night parking along all streets in the

So they thrashed around and came up with they thought would be a workable agreement to all concerned, viz, a plan of restricting parking during the early morning hours alternate days on alternate sides of the street.

Such a method had, in fact, been proposed by a few residents who had been against the all-night, all-sides ban.

Tuesday night, solons, minus a quorum, took a first reading on the new ordinance. It would ban parking Monday, Wednesdays and Fridays between 2 and 6 a.m. on the northerly and easterly sides of the streets.

On Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, the ban would strike southerly and westerly sides. Sundays are excluded.

The only "two small question" marks, as City Attorney Howard Park put it, would be the bending avenues of Stanberry and Pleasant Ridge.

But before the evening was over, more than two question marks popped up to mar council's efforts.

One of the gentlemen, William Born who had advanced the alternate sides proposals, and who represented a number of people at the previous hearing, also finds the new ban objectionable.

In addressing council, Tuesday night, he defined limits on

Columbus Rabbis Honored; Brookwood Ordination Set

An ordination Sunday culminates a week of activity among religious sects in the eastern Columbus sector.

Five Columbus rabbis were honored this week in an Israel Bar Mitzvah celebration at the Deshler-Hilton Hotel.

The five: Jerome D. Folkman, Harry Kaplan, Samuel W. Rubenstein, David Slavsky and Nathan Zelizer.

An ordination ceremony will take place at Brookwood Presbyterian Church with Donald Purkey taking the vows of the cloth.

Purkey will be ordained in special services at 8 p.m., June 18.

Dr. James McCord, president of the Princeton Theological Seminary, will deliver the ordination sermon. Purkey graduated from Princeton seminary June 6.

Following his ordination the new minister will conduct a ministerial experiment in apartment areas in West Chester, N.Y.

Purkey is an honor graduate of Hamilton High School and in 1957 graduated from Miami University with a degree in Business Administration. A member of the Dean's List for his scholastic achievements, Purkey was active in campus affairs, religious activities, and was a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity.

Others participating in the ordination services of the Brookwood Presbyterian Church member will be Rev. Keith Conning, pastor of Brookwood; Rev. W. Trevo Wagg, pastor of Salem Welsh Church, Slatington, Pa., and Rev. Robert E. Sanders, assistant to Dr. McCord.

Dr. Folman of Temple Israel, is a member of the Editorial Ad-

FATE OF WHITEHALL'S 4TH FETE FIZZLES

Looks as if the people of Whitehall will have to wait until the political campaign this fall before they will be able to view any semblance of fireworks in the community.

So far as Mayor Walter B. Moling is informed, not one civic group has come forward to take charge of the July 4th events.

Richard Hyatt, a member of the council recreation committee, says the recreation department cannot take charge, since it is against the law to use city funds for such a purpose.

Last year, Hyatt noted, the cost of fireworks ran close to $600. The councilman also said he had been informed that contracts for any kind of 4th fete should have been made in January.

This is not the first time that Whitehall has been threatened with passing the observance of July 4th in a peaceful manner.

Two years ago, the city came upon the 11th hour with no plans for a celebration. A group of civic and business-

Summer Program Slack; Spychalski Wants Boost

Whitehall has a new Recreation Director and right now he has high hopes of getting the summer recreation program off the ground.

Ernest Spychalski, a former football protege of Woody Hayes, has been appointed to the post by Mayor Walter B. Moling.

Spychalski said this week that it appears as if the kids "didn't know" when the program would start. Although he mentioned that the turn-out at two of the city's recreation areas, at Beechwood and at Norton fields numbered 60 to 75, the other two playgrounds had but a few youngsters out.

The Whitehall Recreation program is in operation five days a week at four playgrounds from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

During the morning hours, Spychalski said, youngsters can participate in softball, volleyball, basketball, badminton, horseshoes. In the afternoon, during the hot hours, youngsters can take part in crafts and games.

Spychalski replaces George Chamblin as the city recreation head. The new rec. director has a degree in physical education from the Ohio State University.

From 1956 to 1958 he was a guard on the OSU football team. At present "Spy" resides at 1164 W. Sells-av, but says he plans on moving to Whitehall.

• Columbus Traffic Engineer Seeks To Make School Zones Safer For Kids – And Motorists

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

Columbus is going to be a town of flashing, bright lights —if all goes well—according to Traffic Engineer John Gallagher. More important than this, Columbus should be safer for school children and motorists.

Gallagher told the Review this week of his plan to install flashing, illuminated school zone speed signs throughout the city. If the funds come through, he expects to get his project in operation by the fall of 1962.

"To my knowledge, we'll (Columbus) be the first town to install these lights," Gallagher said. The flasher installed at the W. Mound-st School set a precedent in the state, Gallagher believes.

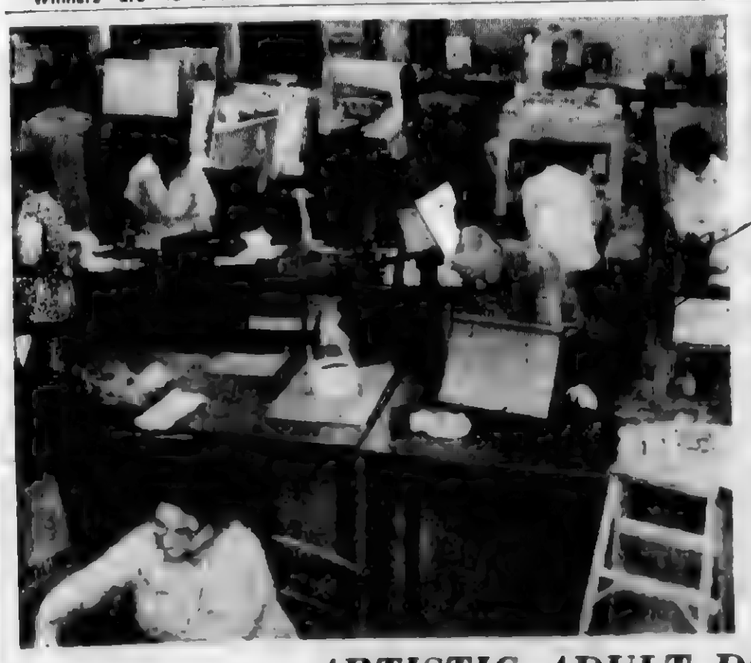
"The nice thing about the project," he commented, "is that it will be advantageous to the motorists as well as to the school children."

Gallagher reported that he had received some complaints from traffic court judges and radar men that motorists didn't know that some areas were school zones.

This is the main reason that the flashing light — designed and manufactured in Lorain, O. — was installed at the W. Mound-st School since it does set back from the road and is constructed on a main thoroughfare.

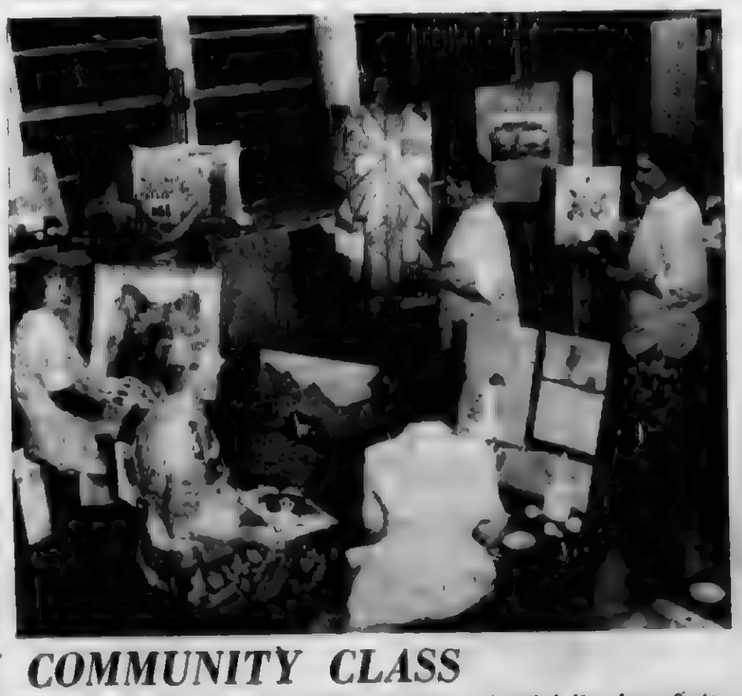
"Also," Gallagher pointed out, "right now, motorists have only a vague idea about which hours are 'restricted' ones. Different schools open and close at different times and it is confusing to the motorist."

But, the real problem is: "Who's gonna foot the bill?"



Gallagher reported that the initial installation of these flashers at all schools in the city—both public and parochial—would be $402.712.

If just the main thoroughfares were covered, it would cost $236.808, Gallagher said. The operational costs per year would be $8.804 for maximum and $5.117 for minimum installation.



The annual depreciation and replacement cost is estimated at about $7.000 per year, he added.

Gallagher said that the Division of Traffic Engineering signal crews would place the necessary poles and fittings, but a contractor would have to

ARTISTIC ADULT DOINGS IN CAPITAL UNIVERSITY COMMUNITY CLASS

SOME 26 AREA people took part in the Capital University Art Class that ended this June. The class met for eight weeks for non-credit courses. Their works are now on display at Bexley library and will be until July 6. All of the works are done in oils. Prof. Richard Bauer teaches the course. The group plans informal painting sessions this summer. Another community art class is due to be offered in the fall in the evening. In pic at left, is a scene of the general activity of the class. In the middle photo, Mrs. William Elberfeld, of 316 N. Columbia-st, puts the finishing touches to a painting. In the photo at right can be found Mrs. Marcella Schneider, of 835 Chelsea; Mrs. Lavetta Thornton of 2694 Janis-dr; Mrs. Lorraine Wulber, of 1043 S. Roosevelt; and, seated, Mrs. James Saxton, of 2709 Bexley Park-rd; Judith McVicker, of 1445 E. Broad-st; and Mrs. Donald Cook, of 41 S. Roosevelt-av.

Fizzles—

men pulled together however, and $500 worth of fireworks went shooting off into the wild blue

Prior to the 1959 observance, the annual affair had taken place at the Broad-st school. In those "good old days," youngsters and adults would wait out the anticipation of the evening fireworks display by engaging in games, pony rides and talent performances.

Little League ballplayers and pet parades would aid in stemming the excitement to be created by the blazing, multi-colored fireworks shower.

But even then, reports had it, the clubs putting on the celebration would usually wind up in the red. And although enthusiasm would run high in preparation, only a few hardy individuals would put forth an all out effort.

Hyatt said, however, that last year, cooperation was "good" among the civic groups that put on the entertainment.

In any event, from the way things look now, the only way for Whitehall residents to observe the Fourth will be to go elsewhere.

what he had suggested in the alternate sides idea -- "only where it is necessary."

He claimed council's reasons to expedite traffic and to clear the streets were not what they appear on the surface.

"The city," Born said, "doesn't need to expedite traffic at the hours stipulated in the ordinance. There is little traffic at that hour.

"And, from what I understand, the city has only one snow removal machine, which is not used very often."

"It seems to me, "Born went on," that the city wants us to build garages, which would mean issuing building permits, and in turn raising real estate values."

Council listened patiently, made no comment on Born's allegations, and probably wondered what they could do to please all of the people all of the time.

do the installation of the units.

"This would insure that effective coverage for all schools concerned would be applied at the start of the school year," he said.

He says that the Division's engineering staff would require "about four to six months to prepare the necessary drawings for the project."

Gallagher hopes that the installation costs are provided from the City's Capital Improvement Budget. "The operational costs would have to come from an increased appropriation to the Division of Traffic Engineering's annual budget," he said.

"But," he adds, " a source of financing for the installation and maintenance of a project this size will have to be provided by outside help."

Because of this, Gallagher submitted a five-page report to the Columbus Board of Education to see if they could provide some financial aid.

He pointed out that the present flashing signs are turned on by time clock. However, if the proposed system is put into effect, a janitor or teacher would have to turn the signs on and off at the appropriate times.

VET STUDENT HIRED TO CATCH DOGS

Mayor Walter B. Moling has appointed a dog catcher for Whitehall with the comment, "Don't forget. This isn't my idea. I'm just following council's orders."

The man named to the job is an Ohio State University veterinary student, William Deisher, of 3160 Olentangy Trailer Terrace.

Deisher, the mayor said, will hunt stray dogs from his car. The job pays $2.50 an hour.

Pooches rounded up with no licenses will be taken to the dog pound. Owners of strays with licenses will be fined.

New Policy For Holiday Collection

The Columbus Department of Sanitation has announced a new policy for trash pick up in holiday weeks.

Starting Tuesday, July 4, the residents whose regular collection day falls on a legal holiday will be notified in advance that there will be no collection of garbage and refuse on that day.

Refuse will be picked up the following week on the regular collection day.

The department advises that if garbage containers should be filled to capacity the people may put additional refuse in paper sacks or boxes and place them next to the garbage container to be picked up with the regular collection.

Celebration Of Ashville Fourth Big Again In '61

The Community Club of Ashville, Warren Bastian, president, will again sponsor the big annual Fourth of July celebration in Ashville. The four day event will begin on Saturday, July 1, and will include all the attractions of previous years.

One of the main attractions every year (besides fish sandwiches) is the beauty contest held to select the girl who will be crowned Miss Fourth on the final day of the celebration.

During last year's celebration 1000 pounds of french fries and 3000 pounds of fish were served to guests. It was estimated that approximately 10,000 people found their way in the gates during the four days.

The queen contest is open to girls from any area, and in the contest last year, Miss Ohio. Carol Weiler gave the crown to Circleville girl Monna Peters. Her attendants were Karen Roof of Ashville and Bette Frazier of Circleville.

Food, parades, fireworks, queens; all the makings of a big Fourth of July will be found in Ashville again this year.

Sail Now, Pay Later Available

For the convenience of steamship passengers eager to go, but short on cash, Matson Lines will initiate the first "Sail now—Pay later" plan in the Pacific, June 15.

Passage to and from Hawaii on the SS Lurline and SS Matsonia, and cruises to and from the South Pacific on the SS Mariposa and SS Monterey, may now be enjoyed today, and paid off later, in periods of time ranging from three months to two-and-a-half years.

The Beneficial Finance Company, with offices throughout the United States and Canada and also in Honolulu, London and Melbourne, will handle all arrangements. Any traveler with established credit is eligible.

The travel method permits travelers, upon a down payment of 10% of their fare, to choose their own terms, setting the monthly payments that best suit their particular budget, and settling the balance in equal installments. They need never visit the finance company. Travel agencies and all Matson offices will have the application form available.

Matson's minimum fare to Honolulu from California is $230 one-way, $380 round trip, and to the South Pacific $625 one-way to the turn-around point of Sydney, and $1,125 round-trip. Under the new time-payment plan, $23 will get you oft to Hawaii, and $62.50 to Australia via Tahiti, the Cook Islands and New Zealand.

RCA Dealers See New Models

Scheduled to attend are Paul Herwald, Harold Company; John Lucas and Don Woods, East Broad Appliances; and William Cook, Cook Furniture.

More than 60 models of television, both color and black and white, stereo, hi fi, radios, ranges, refrigerators, washers and dryers are on display. Dealers will have the 1962 models available for customer viewing early in July.

McElroy Says No On Surveys

Attorney General Mark McElroy has ruled a city school district has no legal authority to make surveys to develop community plans for playgrounds, streets, utilities and other facilities.

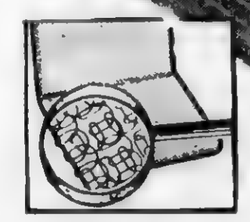
The attorney general said, in his opinion to State Auditor James A. Rhodes, that exempted village and local districts also lack this authority.

Rhodes had asked about the authority of these agencies to contract with private organizations, or with other governmental agencies for these surveys.

Record Season Expected At Camp Lazarus

On the basis of early reservations, a record camping season was predicted today by Robert May, official director of Camp Lazarus, which is operated by the Central Ohio Council, Boy Scouts of America. The program will open June 18, following a week of intensive training and preparation by the general staff.

Lazarus is a 319-acre camp, five miles south of Delaware, just off route 23. The camp will offer eight weekly camping periods conducted for Boy Scouts 11 years of age and older. All troops will camp under their own adult leadership at a fee of $17 per Scout per period. Scouts may register and deposit a $2 fee with their scoutmaster. This summer it is anticipated that 2,300 boys will enjoy camping at Camp Lazarus. Last year there were in excess of 2,000 campers. There is a resident staff of 30.



Some of the most underdeveloped territory in the world lies under a few hats that we could identify.

Boomerang From Washington—

The American citizen who wants to write to his Congressman and/or Senator and decry the Federal Government's policy of "spend and spend, tax and tax," proclaim his own aversion to any and all forms of Federal aid, and vigorously urge a return to "rugged individualism," had first better make sure that he's not mailing a boomerang that could flash right back from Washington and smack him squarely between his billfold and his bank account.

A case in point is that of a Fairfield county voter who wrote along those lines to Sen. Stephen Young (D-Ohio), and got "mouse-trapped" for his trouble.

He wrote to the senator:

"You New Deal spenders spend and spend, tax and tax. You sicken me. Let's return to rugged individualism. I stand on my own two feet, don't ask any favors from Washington, am against creeping socialism, against handouts and aid for the aged."

Senator Young evidently did some checking on the letter-writer and then let it be known that:

"This citizen enjoyed the Federal school lunch program in public school, received educational training as a GI, college education under the GI Bill of Rights, bought his farm with an FHA loan, enjoyed checks from the soil bank program for not raising crops, and farm supports to help him receive more for his farm products. Incidentally, his father and mother are receiving Social Security checks each month."

Should a Congressman or some other Government official receiving such a letter resent the criticism deeply enough, the critic might find all doors barred to him should he ever renew hi sFHA loan, sign up again for farm subsidies, or apply for any of the numerous other "benefits" that can be had from Uncle Sam.

Which raises the question of how many adult Americans are similarly obligated to Government? Are they still in the minority, or do their numbers now constitute a majority?

Is the United States heading for dictatorship in the guise of paternalism benevolent depotism?

Two elements, if brought together at the same time, could make it inevitable:

I. A cynical and ruthless Government that wants absolute power.

II. A majority of the people dependent upon Government for a substantial portion or all of their income and reluctant or refusing to criticize or oppose because of their fear that they would be deprived of that Government "aid."

Charles Briggs Dies At Age 73

A former supervisor at the Columbus General Depot, Charles C. Briggs, 73, of 732 Sheridan-av, died Sunday at his home following a short illness.

Briggs, a veteran of the Rainbow Division in World War I, was at one time an inspector for the Ohio Department of Liquor Control. He also served as an aide in the Ohio House of Representatives before becoming associated with the depot more than a score of years ago.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Paul Schmidt of Dayton; two grandchildren and a sister, Miss Agnes Briggs, with whom he made his home.

Services were held at Schoedinger funeral home Tuesday.

Food Market This Week

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Fruits—Strawberries, bananas, watermelon, cantaloupe.

Vegetables—Greenhouse tomatoes, cabbage, snap beans, potatoes, spinach, lettuce.

Other Foods — Fryers, turkeys, beef from chuck and rib, smoked ham and picnics, dairy products.

HOMEGROWN STRAWBERRIES ARE RIPE

How many people do you know who do not like homegrown strawberries 'n cream? We know people who dislike pie, loathe chocolate cake, and even sneer to crepes suzette, but fresh strawberries 'n cream . . . that's everybody's "dish."

Finally, strawberries from nearby fields are here again for that special treat. Strawberry patcher in Columbus area are not big ones, and most of the berries are sold at the farm or roadside stands. But, that's usually where you find the red ripe ones that still have that glossy appearance belonging only to freshly picked berries. They're the ones with the fine flavor.

Some exceptionally good berries are reaching our markets this week from all parts of Ohio. Columbiana and Mahoning counties, the leading growing area in the state, are in peak of harvest.. Unfortunately, frost is reported to have killed as much as one-fourth of the berries in these northern counties. So, even when we add Ohio's crop to the supply from other states, there'll be no strawberry surpluses this year, and prices will stay fairly high.

If you plan to freeze strawberries while the best of the local crop is available, here are the directions from the newly revised freezer bulletin from Ohio State University:

Recommended Varieties — Pocahontas, Surecrop, Earlidawn, Midway, Sparkle, Tennessee Beauty, Belmar, Orland. Many folks still like old favorites as Ardmore and Catskill.

Selection — Berries should be fully matured, well colored, but not soft, mushy or over ripe.

Preparing—Wash in cold water, sort, remove hulls and slice in half. (Whole berries may be frozen, but slicing them helps preserve color and flavor. Gently mix the sliced berries with sugar, using one pound of sugar for each four pounds of berries.

Packing—Pack into moisture-vapor proof containers, seal and label. Freeze immediately and hold at zero degrees Fahrenheit or below.

Approximate number of containers from one crate (24 quarts) of strawberries — 38 pints.

VEGETABLE COUNTERS LOOK MOKE LIKE SUMMER

You can expect a number of changes at the vegetable counter during the next few weeks. Sweet corn supplies will increase as Texas shipments are added to the Florida supply. Supplies of California long white potatoes are increasing. Texas is shipping a good volume of tomatoes now, and Ohio greenhouse tomatoes are in peak supply with a good volume likely throughout June.

Lettuce, cabbage, green onions, spinach, cucumbers, snap beans and various greens are other vegetables in good supply at this time. Adding to the variety are carrots, broccoli, cauliflower, celery, beets, eggplant peppers and squash.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Whitehall Superintendent Chasti For First Grade Enrollment Date

This letter is being written because of the recent untimatum of the Superintendent of Whitehall schools and the board, that first graders must be age 6 prior to October 1, 1961.

This position on an October 1 deadline is unjust, illogical, and educationally backward. Further it is autocratic and undemocratic.

The superintendent apparently believes he is doing the public a big favor by letting us send our children to school.

May I remind him that we are paying his and the teachers' salaries through our taxes and were also asked to support a bond issue this spring to add to a lovely modern building in which they work. They would have no jobs and no place to work without our children.

Grandview Heights school for one, asks that a child reach his 5th birthday by Dec. 31, 1961. (Editor's Note: For kindergarten; 6 years by Dec. 31 for first grade) for one instance where the schools serve the people instead of the superintendent and the teachers.

My personal reason for this letter centers on my daughter whose birthday falls on October 15, 3 or 4 weeks after school opens. My oldest daughter started when she was 6½ years in the first grade and did not attend kindergarten because of the transportation problem in Whitehall.

During the preceding year she begged, pleaded and cried to go to school so much I sometimes cried too. Now I see the cycle will repeat itself with my second daughter—and for two years. Already, being age 4 people ask her how old, then say, "You'll be going to kindergarten next year."

She anxiously looks forward to going to school with her sister, and they play "school" when together. She attends Sunday School with the 4-year olds. Reports of her teachers, as well as my experience in substituting show me she is abreast, and even ahead of some of the older ones in her crafts, coloring coordination, concentration, and ability to answer questions. If someone put her back in a class with 3 year olds, she'd cry and ask why she was put in with the "babies." (age is important to children).

Yet I will not be able to explain this cruelty perpetrated upon her. What should be a joyous experience for my little beginner will have the taste of ashes. What about the effect on her attitude toward school?

Early physical coordination and mental development speaks for itself in a child who likes color books at 2, and at 3 and 4 loves children's stories and books, learns nursery rhymes, has memorized about 10 or 15 songs, writes part of the alphabet, recognizes numbers to 12, prints her first name, and can sit quietly and concentrate on children's TV programs. Social development in suburbia keeps pace as every house has children to play with.

She has the same educational influences as others in this community. Instead of down grading entrance age they should be admitting children as soon as they are ready, especially with the current furor on accelerated education in the atomic and space age. Why waste the single mindedness of children who learn with almost no effort. All I'm saying is what every educator already knows—that entrance to school should be based on readiness—not chronological age. School readiness tests have been around for over 15 or 20 years—so where has Supt. Crabbs been?

By increasing the age limit the Superintendent is downgrading the first grade to the kindergarten level. My child, whose birthday is Oct. 15, will be 7 years old in the first grade the entire year with the exception of 3 or 4 weeks. I protest this downgrading in the school my children attend.

—Irate Parent

PATROLMAN STEVE McDonald has been named by the Police Department of Columbus as the "Father of the Year." He is seen here with his family, left to right, Patricia Sue (8), Daniel (12), Dorothy Ann (17), Ronald (10) and his wife, Dorothy.

'CONSCIENTIOUS EFFORTS'

Steve McDonald Is Named Father Of Year By Police Department

Patrolman Stephen McDonald is the choice of his fellow officers as the Police Department Father of the Year as tribute to "his sincere, conscientious day-to-day efforts and his solid, well-adjusted family background."

McDonald's voice is familiar to many as one of those heard from the WBNS Radio Traffic Plane. His face is familiar to thousands of school patrol members whom he has taught and advised.

A former professional boxer, Officer McDonald has been active in the affairs of St. Stephen's Community House for years, serving as boxing instructor, member and twice president of the advisory board.

With the Police Department for 18-years, he has served with the Juvenile Bureau, where he did outstanding work with delinquent boys. He helped to organize the Junior Police organization. Reassigned in 1956 to the Traffic Bureau, his duties in Traffic Safety Education take him into elementary school classrooms throughout Columbus.

An off-duty swimming instructor at Swimland Pool on Hamilton-rd, he has also served as a swimming instructor for State Highway Patrol recruits. He instructs fellow patrolmen in the art of Judo.

McDonald and his family are members of St. Philip the Apostle Church. He belongs to the Knights of Columbus Council 400, Fraternal Order of Police, Shamrock Club, American Legion Southway Post 144, Holy Name Society of St. Philip the Apostle, Board of Directors, Municipal Employee's Federal Credit Union and Co-Chairman of MAPS (Motorist and Pedestrian Safety).

McDonald, his wife Dorothy and their children live at 5007 McAllister-av.

WEBSTER, THOMAS MOVED

Coach Shifts Listed

Several coaching reassignments and appointments highlighted the high school sports scene for the East Side this past week, according to education officials.

Irvin F. Young, assistant superintendent in charge of personnel for city schools, revealed this weew that Paul Eckelberry, Eastmoor Junior-Senior High School coach, has been assigned to the new Whetstone High School as head baseball coach.

Eckelberry was graduated from Capital University in 1958 and was an outstanding athlete for the Lutherans.

He was in the Army for 12 months and was an assistant football coach at Cap prior to his graduation and joined the Eastmoor faculty in 1958.

RALPH WEBSTER

Ralph Webster, a veteran of 32-years on the East High faculty and coaching staff, will be replaced by Aurealius Thomas according to Young.

Webster, who was slated to return to the head football coach assignment at East after an absence of five years, will take over the head reins at the new Walnut Ridge Senior and Junior High School, 484 E. Livingston-av.

A graduate of Russellville, Ind., High School in 1924 and the University of Illinois in 1928, Webster joined the Columbus school system in 1931 and was assigned to East where he served as head football and basketball coach.

In football, he served for 27-years and won or tied in 11 City League championships. He relinquished the duties in favor of Jackie Moore after the 1956 season.

Moore asked to be relieved after last season and was recently transferred to Walnut Ridge as head basketball coach.

In basketball, Webster served as coach for 17-years and his team figured in five City League pennants. He resides at 835 S. Cassingham. The Websters have two sons, Lt. (j.g.) Eddie of Mayport, Fla. and Ralph, Jr. at home.

Webster gave up basketball coaching in 1949 in favor of Buzzy Walters.

Thomas, a former All-City League grid star from West High and later an All-American at Ohio State, is being promoted from an assistantship at Central to the head grid job at East as successor to Webster.

Best Baits For Bass Remains Prime Topic With Fishermen

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROD COCHRAN

I was asking Alan Ward, Madison County game protector, about fishing prospects the other day, and his advice was to go to Madison Lake.

"The bass fishing has been exceptionally good this year," said Ward, "and both live and artificial baits have been producing. Nightcrawlers are favorites of many anglers and are responsible for taking some of the largest bass. The small spinning-type lures have been producing for the artificial bait fans."

This brought up a topic I've been wondering about for some time—the effect of the small lures on the age-old practice of fishing with pork rind. For years a jar of pork strips or chunks was a vital part of every bass fisherman's gear. When he changed baits, he would unhook the strip from the old bait and hook it on the new.

By putting a wagging tail on his lures, the old bass fisherman enhanced their action in the water. There were big wobbling spoons, some with red and white stripes and others with a silver finish with two red eyes on top. Then there were big cigar-shaned plugs that wobbled and gurgled in the water. All of these got their pork rind tail and they caught fish.

Spinners Win Favor

But it seemed to me tthat the use of pork has just about gone the way of the split-bamboo rod. Ward confirmed this, and we both believe that the little spinning baits put pork out of business. The popular artificial lures of today are fast action baits—they don't wobble, they vibrate. Instead of wide oscillations, new lures move with a fast wiggle.

We won't argue with results, the tiny, new baits catch fish. But a certain amount of exactation has been lost to the sport of bass fishing as anglers learned that some of the old sayings were not true. Such sayings as, "The bigger the bait the bigger the fish," and "The large bass like a real mouthful." In those days when a fisherman tied on a big red and white plug about seven inches long, he had visions of catching the biggest fish in the place—and he often did.

Now, when you snap on one of the flashy little lures you are never sure whether you will catch a braggin' size fish or a four-inch sunfish. You'll get your share of large ones; but you also will pull in fish that look like they aren't weaned yet.

Perhaps it is best to forget yesterday. We all use the new lures, and if you are tempted by a wove of nostalgia to hook on a pork strip, don't do it. All you will do is ruin the action of the "fast wiggle" you have paid for. If you use lures as the manufacturer suggests you will catch fish. Trying to enhance their action with pork strips will send you home empty-handed. The only exception to this is spinners, of course. A lure that depends on the action of a spinning blade will not be affected by a strip of pork on the hooks.

Pandora Has Nothing On Our Big Swap Column In Hartley Newspapers

By BERNIE KARSKO

The array of articles that have been traded in the Hartley Newspapers' swap column in the two and one half years of its existence would leave Pandora's box looking more barren than Mother Hubbard's cupboard.

Boots, Beethoven, books, baby buggies, bees, butterflies, bushel baskets, balanced batons — everything, including a dozen kitchen sinks, has been offered for barter.

More often than not there'll be a taker. He or she in turn will relinquish items ranging from Dalmatians, dishpans, doorknobs, downspouts, dirt, drapes, and dogwood plants to den mother's uniforms.

Often times the reasons behind the interchange of goods is obvious.

There was the man for instance who had two left handed wood saw mandrels and exchanged one for a right handed one.

One boy was not only able to execute a swap, he was able to show his intelligence as well. He had obviously passed first year Spanish and wanted to swap the book he used in that course for a second year Spanish text.

Then there was the woman who wanted to trade some maternity clothes for a stroller.

Sometimes it takes a little calculation to figure out the trades — not too much though in the case of the woman who asked for a reducing machine or slenderizing course and offered in return a deep-fat fryer.

A man who offered a 22 fast-draw pistol, explained solemnly that he had first shot through the garage and then his bedroom floor.

"The wife went along after the garage incident," he quipped. "But the bedroom floor stopped this Wyatt Earp." He, and she, settled for a shotgun.

There have been cases where a couple of weeks prevented some-custom made deals. A man requested the use of a camping trailer for a vacation in exchange for storing it for the winter. Two weeks later another man wanted someone to store his trailer for the winter in return for a month's use. The two never got together.

When there is a potential "Manhattan Island for some beads" deal in the offing and it looks like a 10-gallon sauerkraut jug, for example, is a bit more valuable than 38 books on the Bobbsy Twins, trading stamps will make up the difference.

Ten tongues would have ran dry licking all of the stamps that have exchanged hands via the swap column.

The brand isn't too important. If a lady has been saving XYZ's the chances are good that if she gets an opportunity to pick up two books of JBQ's and 100 loose LMNOP's — with a couple of old postage stamps tossed in — she'll take it.

In the one to five book department — the bargain basement — you can find daschunds, an antique love seat, set of deer horns, five-foot redbud tree, four tickets to the Ruth Lyons show, a leather motorcycle jacket, clump of geraniums, three-quarters of a ton of coal, one dozen zippers, four hubcaps or 20 appliqued sunbonnet baby quilt patches.

If you have more than five books you can haggle, of course, for bigger objects. Perhaps you can use eight iron fence posts, 52 blocks of slate, a building on runners, a 30-foot extension ladder or 21 slightly used storm windows.

There's also the What-Have You type of trader. If you have anything you could possibly get in return; a gasoline driven post hole digger, 1955 Packard motor, 300 Scotch pines, a large box of "long hair records," four platform scales, a large TV set that doesn't work, a full can of lard, one gallon of green wall paint or a pair of size 8½ track shoes.

Or how about 30 "genuine" Indian arrow heads. And there are crocks available in both six and 12-gallon sizes.

A model "T" tire and tube is up for the asking.

ENCYCLOPEDIA FOR A GO-KART

Danny McGinnis illustrates another trade that was made.

Once in a while the prerequisites are a little more specific. But if you have a dozen rose bushes you can exchange them for a guitar.

Perhaps you have eight yards of turquoise polished cotton laying around the house and have been searching in vain for four yards of nylon and one of pink felt. A back issue of the swap column solves your dilemma.

A collie dog won't do much for keeping the grass in shape but if you want to forget the lawn he's yours for a lawnmower. Need a chord organ? Look around in your basement for a trailer hitch and brake and you've got one.

There are a few limits set by the newspaper on what can be traded. There is not supposed to be any exchange of money (who needs it anyway?). Offers of houses, cars and real estate cannot be accepted. And, oh yes, wives can't either.

Swap ads are FREE to any paid subscriber of a Hartley Newspaper. All such ads must be mailed or brought in person to Hartley Newspapers, 2465 W. Broad-st., Columbus 4, O., before noon Saturday.

Each ad will be limited to 20 words. Each must contain the name, address and phone number and no ads will be run unless the person sending it in indicates the name of the Hartley Newspaper to which he is a subscriber.

BACK YARD FUN FOR CANCER FUND

Quinn's Party Wednesday

SOME OF THE FUN that was had last year at the Quinn's annual party can be realized by the expression on the face of Susan Cable as she "clowns" around with Jeff Herman.

After last year's successful outpouring of funds for cancer "we really had a mob of youngsters on hand," the Quinns are getting ready to go again this year.

Who are the Quinns?

They are Mrs. Leonard Quinn and her youngsters.

What do they do for cancer? Usually at this time of year they drag out their imaginations and games and proceed to have a lively time in the back yard at 126 N. Roosevelt-av in Bexley—with the money donated going to cancer research.

Two years ago they netted $36. Last year, the amount totaled $125. This year they hope to do even better.

The money goes to the Dorothy Sadoff Memorial Club.

This year's event is slated for Wednesday, June 21, starting at 5 p.m.

New games and goodies will be on hand, for those who lend a helping hand to a worthy cause.

ALSO TAKING PART in the activities at 126 N. Roosevelt were Fisherman Robyn Rosenfeld, while Joel Topolosky, left, and Nancy Edelstein look on.

Judgment Severe About Moral Acts In Modern Society

by taylor gregg

Man acts and reacts every day to hundreds of situations; most of the time quite unaware of himself.

In a society however, there are always those men who study the group itself, and such a man is Soloman Rettig. His office, at 1601 W. Broad-st is called "social research" and is composed of himself, as head, and four or five "research assistants."

This office has just received another grant from the government. The US is giving Solomon Rettig, Ph.D. Psychologist-Sociologist $86.000 a year for the next two years.

Why? So that we might learn more about morality.

Morality in this sense, means simply, what actions men consider to be "right" and "wrong." Dr. Rettig's people are concerned primarily with how wrong (or right) certain acts are supposed to be in the eyes of you and me". Their studies to date have concerned statistical measurements of sample or test groups taken over a 40-year period at 10 year intervals.

Dr Rettig grew up in pre war Germany living before the shadow of Nazism to Palestine where he stayed until 1947 when his mother helped him get into this country. He recalls that "it was her Christmas present to me that year of come to this country." He met his wife, Judith an MD in Philadelphia. She is now the clinical doctor at Columbus State School.

The current study is not all his since it is based on available information from prior researchers.

With this information he has attempted to construct and present a statistical analysis of the relative moral severity of certain acts, the shifts or changes in moral values among college students; changes in moral values as a function of adult socialization.

More simply: how much worse is it to steal than to lie? Have ideas about which is worse changed in the past 40 years? How do ideas about which is worse change with the age of the individual?

The results of Dr. Rettig's study are of course of interest to all of us. Though speckeled here and there with a few staunch individualists, we are largely a society of "group conformists" in matters of morality.

What we think is right etc., will naturally give a more realistic picture of our moral behavior than the statement of any religious group about what moral judgement should be.

The greatest increase in severity of moral judgement occured in areas having to do with religious items.

Statements about "Disbelieving in God; seeking amusement on Sunday instead of going to church; not giving support to religion when able; seeking divorce because of incompatability," all received notable increases in severity over the 40 year period of study. Other religious-related situations also showed an increase in severity of moral judgment. What was not so bad in 1929 seems to be quite bad in 1959 in this area.

On the other hand, there is indicated a decrease in the severity of judgment about "more practical" or "everyday" situations. Negative results on such items as forging checks and failing to keep promises show that people tend to draw a distinct line between the secular and the religious. This is Dr. Rettig's conclusion, or part of it.

A second aspect of the study shows that the same things are true with in increase in age. Religious morality goes up in severity; the secular goes down as the individual grows older.

"Increased age seems to be accompanied by increased moral leniency in economic and sexual spheres of activity and in social responsibility."

When questioned about the possible implications of his study, Dr. Rettig shrugs and points to the statistical tables. He has written several papers in which there are "discussion" sections concerning the final results, but the phrasing usually is "this seems to indicate" or something similar.

For some discussion of the possible implications of Dr. Rettig's results, see the accompanying article on this page.

Religious Up: Secular Down

Moral situations are here listed in the order of their relative increase in severity over a 40 year period, with a scale of 1-10 depicting the degree of increase.

Disbelieving in God	10
Not Attending Church	10
Not giving to Religion	10
The use of Profanity	8
Perjury	4
Petty lying	4
Adultery	-1
Desertion	-4
Taking one's own life	-6

Go-Kart Proposal Up In Whitehall

Whitehall's planning and zoning commission has brought a go-kart proposition back from the dead and has acceded to a hearing on the question.

Some months ago, the owner and operator requested the issue to be "tabled indefinitely." It was.

But this week, William P. Lewis, representing Jerry Selby, asked that the go-kart proposal be brought up again, and thus the resurrection.

A hearing is scheduled to be set on the proposal. The site is located in the Town and Country area.

The MacRae Story: Pageboy To Star - - Then Family Team

By RON PATAKY and JOHN AUBLE, JR.

A missing cast had everyone on the edge of their seats in darkened Vets Memorial Auditorium Saturday afternoon.

Gordon and Sheila MacRae, in Columbus for the six-day run of "Bells Are Ringing" which opened at the hall Tuesday night, chatted informally with Hartley Newspaper reporters.

An occasional rumor interrupted the conversation . . . "they won't be in until tommorrow . . . one less day of rehearsal."

The "cast that didn't show," held over in Warren, O., due to fog conditions (the kind that give ulcers to producers, says Joe Vispi, associate producer of the Kenley Players), had created a tense atmosphere.

But, MacRae and MacRae seemed calm, cool, etc.

They chatted in an easy, relaxed manner about show business, the "hard times," their family, their love of doing summer stock and their professional careers.

The fact that the cast was late might have worried some performers, but not the MacRaes.

"Lady Luck has always been good to us," Gordon smiled, "and there's no reason to think she'll let us down now."

And, from the story they had to tell, their careers have, indeed, been sprinkled with "breaks." It's been that way from the beginning.

"Believe it or not, Horace Heidt discovered me when he heard me singing a song in the washroom at NBC in New York," Gordon commented.

"I was a page boy at the time. My dad always told me to sing when I felt like singing and that's what I've always done" (editor's not: And still does).

"And," he continued, "that's no press agent's 'pipe dream' either . . .that's actually the way it happened."

"That launched Gordon's career," pretty Sheila said. "And he was off and running—as a single. Then, Miss Luck stepped in again."

"We always wanted to work—and be recognized—as a team," Gordon said. "But, I was afraid that I'd been 'single' too long."

The many television shows and magazine articles helped. And now, they feel they've "arrived" as a team. It's Gordon AND Sheila MacRae—and they love it.

During the nearly-two-hour-interview, conversation drifted to the subject of their four children, presently finishing school in California.

"We feel that the children should be able to do what they want," Sheila said. "But, deep down inside, we kind of hope that they don't go into show business."

"That's their decision, though," she added. "They all seem to have talent and we won't stop them if they decide to be entertainers."

"That's true," Gordon agreed, "my Dad always encouraged me to do as I wanted. For awhile I worked in his machine shop in Syracuse . . . but I just didn't like it.

"I always knew that I wanted to sing and, somehow felt, that I could make it," he continued. "I'm glad he let me make my own decision and we want to give our kids the same break."

What's ahead for the MacRaes?

First, their children will join them when they're out of school—as they do every summer.

"From here," Gordon said, "we go to the Cocoanut Grove in Hollywood to introduce our new act." They'll be there three weeks.

"Incidentally," Sheila added, "we plan to do bits of our night club act throughout the run of 'Bells.'"

Then to Chicago, and will wind up the summer season in Hawaii on vacation with the family.

The MacRaes, just two of the many stars slated for the Kenley Players Productions this summer, lived up to their show-biz-wide reputation of being friendly, down-to-earth people.

GORDON AND SHEILA, who prefer to be known as MacRae and MacRae, check over the "Bells Are Ringing" script with Hartley Newspaper writer John Auble, Jr. The couple are shown pointing out parts of the script which include bits of their night club act. They opened Tuesday at Vets Memorial with the Kenley Players and will run all this week there.—Staff photo by Ron Pataky.

IDLE HOUR GUIDE

'Father's Day Party' On Ch. 6; Racing From Scioto Downs On 4

By Stan Robinson

Top entertainers and local personalities will be featured Sunday when Channel 6 presents, "Gene Fullen's Father's Day Party" from 11:15 p.m. to 12:30 a.m.

Among the special guests are the noted columnist Ben Hayes, with a Father's Day story or two, restaurant owner Benny Klein and the Roy Eldridge combo, nationally famous group, plus songstress Mary Ott who appeared last week as vocalist with Lawrence Welk during his Columbus appearance at the Coliseum.

Robinson

What you might term, "the frosting on the Father's Day cake," will be the Al Wahlon trio. Gene Fullen has worked for over a month to prepare this 75-minute show and still may add another famous entertainer to the guest list by Sunday. Happy Father's Day to fathers everywhere.

"RACING FROM SCIOTO DOWNS"... An expanded schedule of 12 telecasts, eight more than last season highlights WLW-C's second season of racing activity, the first one having gone this last Monday night. Clark Smith is working with track announcer Charlie Hinkle.

These telecasts, exclusive on Channel 4, are seen from 10:30 to 11 p.m. . . . Smith is handling all color and sidelights with Hinkle's familiar voice calling the action.

ALL STAR ACTION . . . Candlestick Park, home of the San Francisco Giants, will host the Tuesday, July 11 game, 2:45 p.m., and the second traditional All-Star event will come from Fenway Park in Boston, home of the Red Sox, Monday, July 31, 1:45 p.m. WLW-C will telecast both games exclusively in Central Ohio.

TIME IS RUNNING OUT . . . HAVE YOU VOTED? Three couples have been selected by the judges, and voting has been going smoothly in the "Second Honeymoon" contest presented by Ann Reider, weekdays at 12:15 on WBNS-TV. The couple with the most audience ballots after the midnight, Saturday, June 17 deadline, receive an assortment of gifts topped off with an expense paid trip to New York for a vacation.

The finalists who appeared in person on June 5th on the program, are Mr. and Mrs. E. Ross Lewis, 120 N. 24th-st, Newark; Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Lach, 241 Martin-av; Rev. and Mrs. Michael Marino, 2780 Baughman-av. All votes should be sent to Second Honeymoon Contest, WBNS-TV, 770 Twin Rivers-dr, Columbus 12, O. The two couples selected as runners-up will receive a TV set and the nominator of the winning couple will receive a floor model television. We understand the trip to New York for the winners is to be taken June 29 through July 2. "Appointment With Ann Reider" is seen weekdays at 12:15 p.m.

"IT COULD BE YOU" NOW ON WEDNESDAY NIGHTS IN COLOR ON 4 . . . The popular daytime surprise show with an equally popular host, Bill Leyden, is now being enjoyed at 10 p.m. Wednesday nights on Channel 4. This program is still a strong part of the NBC afternoon schedule since it is seen at 2 p.m. weekdays on 4. The show celebrates its fifth birthday this month and has seen various times at night in '58 and '60. "It Could Be You," nighttime, replaces "Peter Loves Mary' on NBC-TV.

BRENNER'S BACK AS SUMMER FEATURE ON 10 . . . Detective Lieutenant Roy Brenner, setting out to crack a numbers racket in the precinct or a fellow officer, antagonizes his policeman's son and blights a budding romance in the "Thin Line" the first story in the "Brenner" series to be rebroadcast as a Channel 10 summer feature, Monday, June 19, 10:30 a.m. "Brenner" stars veteran actor Edward Binns as Detective Roy Brenner and James Broderick as his policeman son, Ernie.

IN VIEW FOR THE FUTURE . . . Louis Nye and Bill (Jose Jiminez) Dana will be re-united as regulars on the ABC-TV, "Steve Allen Show," which debuts Wednesday, Sept. 27, Ch. 6 in Columbus . . . An NBC film crew will spend the next month color filming a report on Baptist missionary activities in Hong Kong. The program will be seen in about 30 days . . . Don DeVore, featured as "Thorney" the next-door neighbor on "Ozzie and Harriet," has landed the role of George Baxter, head of the house in "Hazel," a new situation comedy with Shirley Booth, starts Sept. 28, Thursday nights on NBC.

"Rescue — With Yul Brynner," will be repeated on CBS-TV Thursday, July 6, replacing the previously scheduled re-run, "Crossroads Africa-Pilot for a Peace Corps" . . . Peggy Lee, Vic Damone and LaVern Baker have signed to stay in "Happy With the Blues," a musical tribute to Composer Harold Arlen, set for Sunday, Sept. 24, NBC-Ch. 4.

LARGEST STUDIO IN NEW YORK CITY to accommodate "Garroway Today Show" . . . Effective this week, Channel 4 viewers are noticing the depth and scope of the largest studio in New York's Radio City with the "Today" program now originating from studio 8H at NBC. This is a studio that covers the area slightly larger than the infield at Yankee Stadium. It has served as point of origination for many noted dramatic shows, the NBC Symphony orchestra back in early radio days, and most recently it was used as headquarters for NBC's award-winning coverage of the national election. This will be the third studio move in the show's nine-year history.

Open House Is Planned For Camp

Open house will be held at Girl Scout Camp Ken-Jockety Sunday, June 18, from 2 to 5 p.m. The camp is located on Hubbard-rd, which goes north from Route 40, about 12 miles west of Broad and High, between Alton and West Jefferson.

Camp Ken-Jockety is operated by the Ohio Trefoil Girl Scout Council and accommodates approximately 600 girls during four two-week sessions from June 25 to Aug. 19. The camp is used for troop camping during the rest of the year.

June 18 is the only visiting day during the summer The camp director, Dorothy Gamber, and her staff will be present to welcome visitors.

County Fair Memberships On Sale Now

Memberships in the Franklin County Agricultural Society for 1961 are now on sale.

The $3 tickets, which entitle holders to vote for directors of the society, may be purchased from any fair board member, or by writing Carl M. Crandell, secretary, 6547 Scioto-Darby-rd, or Vera Humes, 288 Crescend-dr, Hilliard.

Only members holding certificates prior to 12 noon on Thursday, Aug. 17, will be eligible to vote in the annual election of directors from 4 to 8 p.m. in the secretary's office.

The fair will run from Aug. 14 through Aug. 18, this year.

WHY NOT?

A reporter telephoned Little Rock Central High School in Arkansas to inquire about the school's litter bug campaign. "I don't know anything about it," the switchboard operator said. "Can I connect you with biology?"

German Village Area Tour Takes On Special Meaning

The second annual German Village Tour slated June 18 will take on special meaning this year.

The tour of Columbus' restored German South Side area will run from 1 to 5 p.m. and nine houses and one garden will be open for viewing.

The Village is taking special pains to spruce up the area and they're particularly proud due to a recent honor granted them by the Junior League of Columbus.

The German Village shared in first honors distributed by the Junior League PLAN project.

Selected by judges for recognition of good architecture, remodeling, landscaping and artistic detail are the many restored German Village buildings.

PLAN, co-sponsored by the League and the Columbus Landscape Association, is designed to encourage good design and landscaping in the metropolitan area.

The village was cited in the "Architecture — Remodeled Residential" category for "maintenance and improvement of an old residential area of a special architectural character."

Specifically, the houses cited were the home of Frank Fetch, 754 Mohawk-st and the residence of Bernard Clubb, 739-41 Mohawk-st for its landscaping and planting.

The home at 693 City Park-av was also cited for good remodeling.

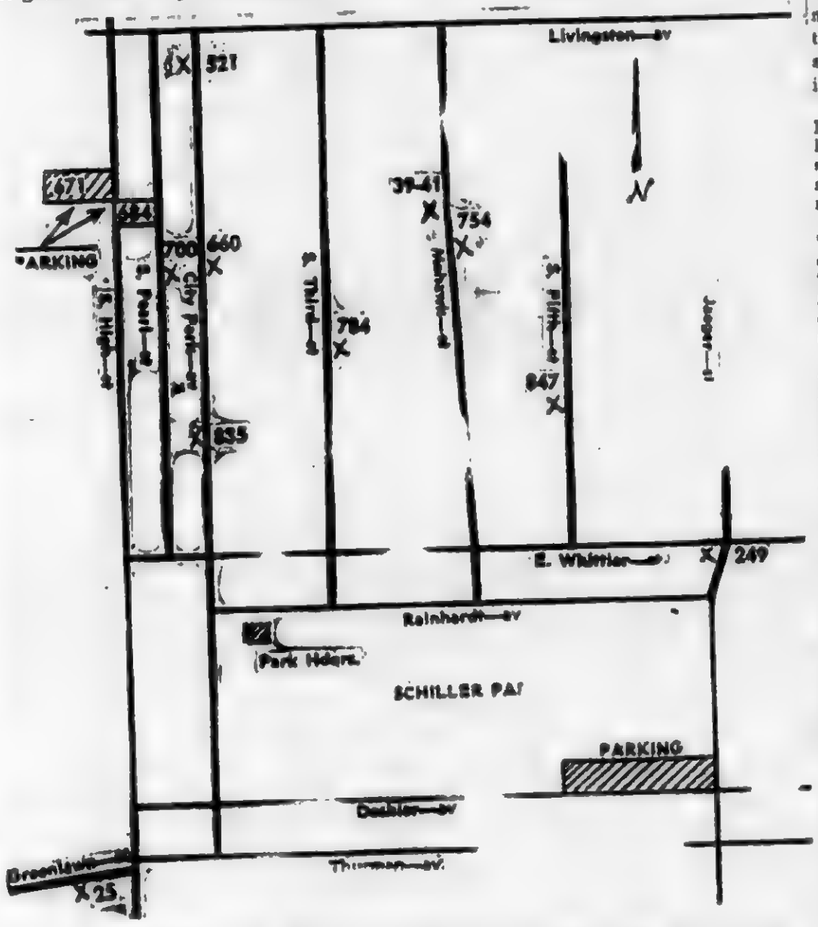
These, along with many other homes will be included in the tour for personal inspection.

The tour, entitled "Haus and Garten," will contain visits to the following homes:

Robert Corotis, 521 City Park-av; Mrs. Helen Irwin, 660 City Park-av; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Williams, 700 S. Pearl-st; Ralph Cromer, 835 City Park-av; Denver Wray, 784 S. Third-st.

Bernard Clubb, 739-41 Mohawk-st; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fetch, 754 Mohawk-st; Robert Olpp, 847 S. Fifth-st; Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Vandewater, 249 E. Whittier-st and Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Wentzel, 25 Greenlawn-av.

Buffet Luncheon Featured



As an added attraction, a typical German buffet luncheon will be served in the German Village Hall, 588 S. Third-st, from 1 to 6 p.m. Tickets for the buffet are $1.50 per person and can be obtained from members of the society, the German Village office, or by calling HI 3-9719 or CA. 1-9611.

Tour tickets are $1 per and will be on sale up to and including Sunday, June 18.

Besides the Haus and Garten Tour, there will be displays of antique vehicles and miscellaneous antiques, art exhibits, a German band and other entertainment in Schiller Park and in various locations throughout the village.

From 3 to 4 p.m., the Maennerchor Male Chorus will entertain with a concert in Schiller Center.

Reports say that free parking will be available and shuttle buses will travel in and around the village for the convenience of the public.

HERE THEY ARE. This is the map that shows the houses which will be visited on the second annual German Village Tour slated for this Sunday. The homes include those of Robert Corotis, 521 City Park-av; Mrs. Helen Irwin, 660 City Park-av; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Williams, 700 S. Pearl-st; Ralph Cromer, 835 City Park-av; Denver Wray, 784 S. Third-st; Bernard Clubb, 739-41 Mohawk-st; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fetch, 754 Mohawk-st; Robert Olpp, 847 S. Fifth-st; Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Vandewater, 249 E. Whittier-st and Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Wentzel, 25 Greenlawn-av.

Scioto Basin Is Topic

Engineers To Hold Hearing

For over a year now the Huntington District of the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers has been preparing a survey report on the Scioto River and its tributaries.

District Engineer Col Steven Malevich announced last week that a public hearing will be held in Columbus on Thursday, July 6, so that, "the final survey report may fully cover the needs for flood control and allied purposes."

The hearing will be conducted in Room 2, Ohio Departments Building, 65 South Front-st at 9 a.m.

One of the items that should come up for discussion is the feasibility of creating a reservoir on the Big Darby Creek near West Jefferson.

The engineers have recommended that a flood control dam be built somewhere in the Scioto Valley basin which encompasses territory from Kenton in Hardin County to the north, to Portsmouth in Scioto County at the southern extreme of the state.

The Big Darby location is one of seven prospective sites.

Others being considered are: Mill Creek, one and one-half miles west of the Scioto in Ostrander; Paint Creek, a few miles upstream from Rocky Fork Creek; Deer Creek, 20 miles upstream from the Scioto; Salt Creek, 15 miles north of the Scioto; Rocky Fork Lake and Roundhead Dam, near Kenton.

Flood control is not the only factor considered in the survey. All phases of water resources development will be investigated. These include water supply, low flow augmentation, hydroelectric power, general recreation facilities and fish and wildlife conservation.

Col. Malevich points out that because of the multi-purpose features of the reservior projects being considered, other Federal agencies are participating in the survey report.

Among these are: U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service; National Park Service; U. S. Public Health Service and U. S. Soil Conservation Service.

Representatives of each of these agencies will be present at the July Columbus hearing.

All interested parties including representatives of Federal, State, County and Municipal agencies, and those of commercial, industrial, civic, highway and railroad interests as well as any individuals who may be concerned are invited to attend the hearing.

They will be afforded full opportunity to express their views according to Malevich. He stressed that they not only consider projects that have already been proposed but to make suggestions concerning new ventures.

Malevich urges that proponents of suggested improvements present factual material bearing upon the projects. He asks that opponents be prepared to do likewise.

Oral statements will be heard but Malevich points out that, "for accuracy of the record, all important facts and arguments should be submitted in writing. These can be given to him at the meeting or mailed beforehand.

Malevich requests that all persons wishing to make an oral presentation notify him by letter or card to facilitate the presentation of testimony.

Howard Johnson Plans W-Broad Lodge

The sign on West Broad-st which advises, "34 miles to the next Howard Johnson Restaurant," won't be of much by next spring.

That's the completion date the restaurant chain has announced for a new one and one-half million dollar motor lodge to be constructed on a five-acre plot to the east of the Ternstedt plant.

Two corporations, Your Host of West Columbus, Inc., and the Highway Corp., will finance and operate the motel.

The building will have a 550-foot frontage on Broad-st and will include a luxurious 100-room, two-deck lodge, built of glass and pink Tennessee brick.

In addition, plans call for a gate lodge, a 140-seat restaurant with a cocktail lounge. There will be a Shell Oil service station adjacent to the lodge.

Special and unique features will include:

A permanent 50-ft. oval swimming pool with sand beach and glass sides and roof for year-round use. Other recreational facilities will be a putting green, surfaced tennis court.

Covered walkways will prover to the gate lodge and restaurant.

All lodge rooms will have direct dial and automatic phone service, the newest installation of its kind. Direct communication with 100 other Howard playground area and plastic-Johnson Motor Lodges throughout the nation will also be available.

There will be special facilities for conventions and group meetings.

William R. Smith and William Pennell, spokesman for the two development corporations said that construction will start this summer.

State Song Still Before Committee

Mrs. Elizabeth Bevington, 1635 Rose Hill-rd, co-author of "Ohio," a new song presently being considered for adoption as the official state song, reports interest is mounting in the state capitol.

Mrs. Jacquelyn T. Kahn, 141 Sierra-dr, Gahanna, partner in the writing of the composition, and Mrs. Bevington, have been kept quite busy making the official rounds supporting their song.

Presently before the Interstate Cooperation Committee of the lower house of the Ohio General Assembly, the song will be performed for a second time in the near future and if approved by the committee will be sent to the House of Representatives for their approval.

The two authors are teachers at the Ohio School for the Blind and wrote the song in response to a call put out by the Ohio School for the Deaf for an appropriate song for commencement exercises.

Brought to the attention of Lt. Governor John Donahey, the song was submitted for legislative action in a resolution made by State Rep. Lytle G. Zuber, R-Franklin.

Police Capture Robbers

It took only 12 minutes for Reynoldsburg police to apprehend two suspects believed involved in a strong armed robbery at Idlewild-dr and Main-st Monday night.

Reynoldsburg police were notified at 11:30 p.m. that a robbery was in progress at that intersection and upon arrival witnesses told officers a man and woman fled east on Main-st.

The victim, Walter Thorp of Columbus, was badly beaten according to officers.

Whitehall and Columbus police joined local officers in a search of the city and about 11:42 p.m. the two suspects, identified by Police Chief Charles Fine as Donald Bartley and Catharine Curry, also of Columbus, were apprehended as they left the Reynoldsburg Bowling Lanes by a side exit.

Officers Tom Chesser, Chief Fine and Auxiliaryman McElhatton arrested the pair who had called a taxi from a phone booth in the bowling alley.

'HOME—WHERE THE HEART IS' AND THE POISON IVY AND THE VINES AND THE . . .

THE "ENTRANCE" to the "house" is through a thicket of brambles and vines. Take a slight left jog down Serpent-ln, file through a short-cut at Poison Ivy-blvd and there you are —right in the middle of nothing. But for the J. P. Kurgis family, of 1764 Sycamore-av, that "nothing" means home—someday, that is. Mrs. Kurgis last week took some youngsters, her own and relatives, on a "hike" to explore the place where, next Spring the foundation of a new home will be laid. It is located just past the Bexley city limits, East of Gould-rd, South of Fair-av. Kevin Kurgis and Cindy Stout can be seen wending their way through the "foyer." In the middle pix, Mrs. Kurgis tells her young audience "this would be a fine tree to save," while Kevin does a shinny job up the tree for a better look-see. After pointing out where the living room will be ("by that log"), and the kitchen, ("near that mound of dirt"), Mrs. Kurgis and the kids join in a "this is mine, all mine," act. For all of the Mrs. Kurgis' everywhere, it is hoped that the realization of a dream is as fun and as fascinating as the anticipation. For even in a vacant, jungle-like setting, it can be assumed Mrs. Kurgis was right at home, in her heart.

'Battle Of Writ'

In A Suit Against Capital University, Bexley Library Seeks To Find On Which Side A Flip Of The Legal Coin Lands

By JOHN POEPPELMEYER

A "battle of writ" is shaping up between Bexley Library and Capital University.

The library is willing to go to court against the university to get a home of its own on property of its own.

A declaratory judgment has been filed in Common Pleas Court against the university to clear up conditions surrounding the recent renewal of a 30-year lease. The library owns the building along E Main-st in Bexley. Capital owns the land and rents it to the library at $1 a year.

Under an attorney general's ruling, however, capital improvements cannot be made upon leased land, except under long-term lease agreement.

Thus the library is stymied from expanding its facilities or building a new one in another location unless it can buy the present property outright or break the lease.

At present, the library has $275,000 in its building fund, according to James Hengst, attorney representing the library board of trustees. He said a pre-trial hearing is slated the week of Sept. 5.

The writ under which the suit is filed, a "declaratory judgment," means, Hengst said, "an application to a court as to the rights of a party in advance of an actual happening—which means that the library would like to know where it stands before making any future plans."

"At the time the library renewed its contract with Capital," the attorney related, "it had not anticipated the speedup in services and circulation which is now coming to be. In view of this, we would like to know if we can be held to our lease for 28 more years.

"We are asking whether or not Capital will sell us the ground, and if not, can the library relocate elsewhere?" He added that it is up to the court to decide the legal definition of what "long-term" explicitly implies.

Hengst said that under the conditions the attorney general set down, the library couldn't even add a third story, when it becomes necessary.

Honniker Gets $1700 To Fight Rate Hike

Amid a soothing, yet sometimes bruising, pow-wow of Whitehall's chieftains this week, that included 25 items over which to smoke a peacepipe, there emerged blood-brother agreements to hire a "great white father" to do battle with the Ohio Fuel Gas Company and to do away with "firewater" sales on the day of the sun, effective in one moon.

Translated, this means that James Honniker, a gas rate expert from Louisville will stand up for Whitehall when the gas people attempt to raise their rates. He will be paid $1700 for his efforts.

And it also means that some 15 night club operators will be expected to close their doors at 1 a.m. Sunday. But the bill is not due to go into effect for 30 days, giving the club permit holders to go into effect for 30 days, giving the club permit holders time to place the issue on the ballot this fall, if they so desire. At present, Whitehall night spots remain open until 2:30 a.m.

Plans Submitted

Mayor Walter Meling Tuesday night presented council with plans and specifications for the new city hall building. The Mayor estimated the cost of the project at $300,000.

Councilman Ken McIntosh stated the city's side of the matter explicitly:

"We have an influx of people from Columbus taverns after they close at 1 a.m. giving the city, traffic and policing problems. The tavern owner has no control over this situation — the law has to.

"Even if no bad situation exists now, the potential for one is still there. This is but a type of preventive legislation.

"If the owners have the welfare of the city at heart, they can't object to this legislation.

Gimre, Throop Among Winners Of Top Council Scout Honors

For sustained, outstanding service to boyhood—" that was the introduction to tributes paid last week to two Bexley men, C. A. Gimre, 267 N. Ardmore-rd and Glenn Throop, 733 Vernon-dr.

They were among six who received the Silver Beaver, the highest honor of the nine-county Central Boy Scout Council. More than 300 people witnessed the surprise awards Saturday evening at the council's annual meeting at Camp Lazarus, Delaware.

Other recipients were Herbert J. Hammers, Harker Hittson, Lauren D. Secoy and Bob Miller.

Gimre, who owns and operates Firestone stores in Columbus and Marysville, has taken an active part in Scout work here for 20 years. He was a troop committeeman for five years, executive board member for 15 years and has many assignments, including Scout-O-Rama and council camping and activities chairmanships.

"Bud" as he is widely known has been busy in many other civic works. A Kiwanian since 1949, he was president of the

Bexley Schools Millage Hike Inkled By Jarvis

With a budget calling for expenditures of $1,180,900 during the next school year, it would appear that Bexley Schools are been setting pretty, financially.

"Not necessarily so," says Superintendent Emerson Jarvis. "We have got to start watching our money."

He even hinted that it would be necessary for the board to ask for an increase in operating millage "within the next two years."

The reason, as Jarvis forsees the situation: "Apparently the district has reached the top of an increasing curve in the tax duplicate. This year's duplicate," he said, "shows an increase of only $400,000 more than last years. Whereas in previous years, the returns had been in jumps of millions."

The board, he feels, must be conservative in its spending during the ensuing year since income is becoming static and costs keep climbing.

At present, Bexley's operating funds come from a 17.7 millage rate.

"Even so," Jarvis points out, "there will be certain items that the schools must have" even

At Krumm Park — Fourth Fuse Sputters

What is the Fourth of July like without fireworks?

Those attending the Krumm Park observance a fortnight hence will soon be in the know.

Mrs. Herbert, Pierce, president of the East Columbus Civic Association has the unenviable job of preparing a program without the Gossamer atmosphere of exploding rockets.

The reason; no funds.

From where Mrs. Pierce sits, it looks as if the success of the program will be up to the local boy and girl scout troops.

"Last year," she recounted, "we had our biggest turn-out."

Also last year, she made the rounds of the merchants and raised $200 for a fireworks display. This year she hasn't asked and the civic club funds are at a low ebb.

She mentioned that if Bexley has trouble getting its fireworks off the ground, she would be glad to "combine efforts. They could use our park." (Some Bexley residents have threatened to file an injunction against the Bexley Celebrations Association if the BCA attempts to set off the fuse to aerial bombs).

So far, on the agenda at Krumm is a recognition ceremony for six youths of Boy Scout troop 75 of St. Paul's Church who were paramount in efforts in rescuing people in Buckeye Lake when the "Queen of the Lake" sunk.

Also on hand for the evening will be the Diehlers for round and square dancing tunes.

The program is scheduled from 7 to 10 p.m. All Eastern Columbus scouts, boys and girls, are requested to be at the park, corner of Alton and 9th-avs, at 6:45 p.m. sharp to parade.

Mrs. Pierce also mentioned that help will be needed at the various concession stands.

ALL ON A SUMMER'S DAY

LAST 'KALL' for kool-aid, says megaphonist Mike Neff, and the rest of the Pleasant Ridge-av, neighborhood kids fall in to make sure he is right. It all happened Monday when Debbie Sells, of 832 Pleasant Ridge-av, Bexley, the "owner" of the stand decided to make some money. The rest of the kids wanted to help out, especially when the Eastern Review photographer appeared. Gathered 'round for a final toast, in any kind of order you care to assume, can be seen Mitchell Smith, Timmy Sells, Mark Krantz, Cam Orr, Billy Birch, Scotty Smith, Chip Smith, Randy Ritter, Bruce Neff, Mark Orr and Debbie. What to do with the profits? Debbie: "Just keep it."

Conflict Nears Climax

Bexley Board Takes Library Trustees To Task

Jones Fills Vacancy

The conflict between the Bexley Board of Education and the Bexley Library trustees appears to be heading for a climax.

The board of education this week in a carefully worded three-page statement criticised the trustees for not notifying the board of a vacancy which had existed within the library group for five months.

The board also declined to enter into an agreement with the library that would have the schools pay for library services already rendered free of charge.

The trustees also came under fire from the board for failing to state whether the library "anticipates using the funds which it had requested" to maintain branch offices in the four Bexley schools.

In addition, the school board called for an urgent study of the qualifications of the present high school librarian "in relation to his further adequacy."

To clear up the vacancy on the trustees, the school board named Bexley High School Principal C. W. Jones to fill out the unexpired term of Paul Schact who had resigned in January.

For all of its admonitions, the school board did state that it was "anxious to join in serving the people of Bexley by continuing the library service."

On the question of the contract to have the schools pay for library services, at the rate of $3 per pupil, the board stated it "had not been persuaded that such a contract is legally required. Certain clauses are incompatible with the policies and responsibilities of the board."

On the matter of a state auditor's finding of $1076 against Mrs. Mary Zimmerman, head librarian, for the sale of books to the library, the board commented that in the absence of action by the prosecuting attorney, "the school board is the only public body to question the expenditures of the library."

The trustees failed, the statement said, to transmit a report of activities during the past fiscal year, as required under law.

In a concluding statement, with sarcastic overtones since the school board appoints the

Gypsy Rose Lee As "Auntie Mame"

Opening Of 'Auntie Mame' Delights Columbus Audience

Columbus play-goers got a second straight shot in the arm Tuesday night as the Kenley Players' production of "Auntie Mame," starring Gypsy Rose Lee, did justice to the good name that the Kenley group has established throughout Ohio the past few years.

As a play, "Auntie Mame" has some great moments . . . and as "Mame," Gypsy established once again that she can indeed act, in addition to her other, perhaps more famous talents.

A slow first act, sprinkled with the usual opening night technical difficulties, didn't seem to detract from the delight which the nearly-full Veterans Memorial audience experienced.

Once the opening kinks were ironed out and the play got on its feet, action moved swiftly, with Gypsy supplying the deft touch required in the transition from moments of rollicking merriment to more tender, heart-warming moments.

From the opening curtain, the star demonstrated the vitality and warmth needed to put a play like "Auntie Mame" across.

A most capable supporting cast, led by Mark O'Daniels as Beauregard Burnside, Jane Van Duser as Vera Charles and Gerald Metcalfe as Brian O'Banion, are deserving of praise for their part in the evening's fun.

A particular bright spto, for the second straight week, was the clever handling of the Mr. Babcock and Claude Upson roles by Matthew Tobin and David Doyle, respectively. Both men, each a master of comic technique, nearly stole the show in certain scenes.

An additional treat was the success of a local lad, Gary Tomarkin, in the role of the adult Patrick Dennis. Tomarkin, well-known as a fine student actor at Ohio State University, performed quite capably in his first professional performance.

Ann Sullivant as the lovable Norah, Eugene Moon as the servant, Ito, and Betty Carr as Agnes Gooch scored heavily in supporting roles. Miss Carr particularly made the most of the hilarious "Gooch" role, for which Peggy Cass received her Oscar nomination in 1958. Terry Soggs, as the child Patrick Dennis, performed like a seasoned trouper.

Frequent scene changes and 19 costume changes by the star help keep the play moving swiftly, while Gypsy's curtain speech delighted the audience. Numerous references to her more-well-known talents provide a fitting conclusion to a delightful evening.

The show will run through Sunday. For those of you who like to laugh, "Auntie Mame" should be a natural.

Hartley Lists Its Officers downtown club in 1958, and has organized the Foreign Student Exchange. He is a member of Humbolt Lodge 476, Scioto Consistory and Aladdin Temple Shrine., United Appeal committee, and Columbus Country Club.

He lives with his daughter Ann, now attending Ohio State. A son, Chris, is a graduate of MIT.

Throop, an adjuster for Nationwide Insurance, also has an impressive record of service. He was born in Soochow, China, the son of Dr. and Mrs. Frank Throop, Presbyterian missionaries. He was schooled in Columbus, however, and later was graduated from Robert Jones University.

Since 1925 as a boy of 12 he has been affiliated with Scouting in the Central Presbyterian Church, he worked his way up to Eagle rank and one year was chosen to make the Annual Report to the Governor of Ohio. He was given the National Life Saving award and a citation by President Roosevelt.

As an adult leader he has served as committeeman, scoutmaster of Troop 135 and is now district commissioner of the Southeast District. He is a member of the Order of the Arrow, and holds the Scouter's Award, and Scoutmaster's Key.

During World War II he was a flight engineer and flew to all parts of the world with contact carriers. While stationed at Wright-Patterson Field he helped organize two scout troops of 100 and 120 boys.

Throop is a 32nd degree Mason, past master of Goodale Lodge, a Shriner, and is an elder in Brookwood Presbyterian Church. He is also affiliated with the National Campers and Hikers and National Magicians associations.

He and his wife, the former Dorothy Herbert, have taken children.

Mrs. W. C. Harrison, president of the Bexley Board of Trustees, added that the board was requesting the judgment so as to "clarify a portion of the lease" that she termed "ambigious. We would like to know, if there are certain conditions that apply to the first 30-year lease that would also apply to those of the renewal."

She admitted it was a "possibility" that the library trustees are seeking another location along E. Broad-st.

"We are stymied where we are as far as future growth potential is concerned. At first we had plans for remodeling our present building, but under the law," she added, "we can't even do that."

Ted Horst, attorney representing Capital University, declined to comment on the matter. Dr. Harold Yochum, president of Capital University, is out of town.

Honnicker—

This is my unwavering stand."

Joseph Ralston, representing the Whitehall Permit Owners Association, asked for more time so the owners could present their side of the issue. He also chided council for the "speed-up" manner in which they tried to force the legislation through.

Ralston said the people he represents are "entitled to some idea as to what they are doing wrong.

"We had no notice on this measure until Monday. It looks like a pretty fast moving operation. It also looks like you people have taken an arbitrary stand without hearing the other side."

The First Ward's Richard Hyatt cast the only dissenting vote on the final measure.

Hyatt stated: "We've had beer back since prohibition was repealed. Waiting another 30 days won't hurt."

On the hiring of the fuel rate expert, City Attorney James Maxwell, Jr., said that council planned to hire Honniker, specialist who has appeared in other cases in Franklin County.

The Ohio Fuel Gas Co. is seeking a penny hike in rates. A Whitehall offer to set rates at the same level of those in Columbus and Bexley was recently rejected by the company.

In other matters council: created a petty cash fund of $50 for the fire and police departments; prohibited parking on either side of Beechtree-rd between Broad-st and Abbey-ct; banned left turns from Fairway-blvd onto Main-st; okayed a change in the zoning map to allow for the establishment of a VFW home at 4100 E. Main-st; rejected placing a full-time traffic control signal at Hamilton-rd and Fairway-blvd; authorized a 20-year contract with Columbus for sewage disposal; appropriated $2500 for a dog warden; approved a $2000 air conditioning unit for the police station; permitted auxiliary police to live outside of the city.

Jarvis—

in the face of costs that have increased $30,000 to $50,000 over the past several years.

Of the $1,180,900 in the newly adopted budget, Jarvis said $821,000 will go for teacher salaries.

Last week, the board found it necessary to abandon its cafeteria remodeling project. Jarvis said that $30,000 had been set aside for the remodeling, but the low bid amounted to $40,000, more than the board had anticipated.

In other action, the board okayed an increase in use of its student teacher quota from Ohio State University from eight to 16.

If a Child Lives With . . .

We are indebted to Rev. Calvin Didier of Hoge Memorial Church for the following fine item. The author is Dorothy L. Law.

If a child lives with criticism, he learns to condemn.

If a child lives with hostility, he learns to fight.

If a child lives with fear, he learns to be apprehensive.

If a child lives with pity, he learns to feel sorry for himself.

If a child lives with ridicule, he learns to be shy.

If a child lives with jealousy, he learns to feel guilty.

If a child lives with tolerance, he learns to be patient.

If a child lives with encouragement, he learns to be confident.

If a child lives with praise, he learns to be appreciative.

If a child lives with approval, he learns to like himself.

If a child lives with recognition, he learns that it is good to have a goal.

If a child lives with honesty, he learns what truth is.

If a child lives with fairness, he learns justice.

If a child lives with security, he learns to have faith in himself and those around him.

If a child lives with friendliness, he learns that the world is a nice place in which to live.

With what is your child living?

Trustees—

trustees, (but from then on apparently has no power over their actions), the board said it would "appreciate, if you will let us know what your course of action will be."

Mrs. W. C. Harrison, president of the trustees, admitted Wednesday that as far as not notifying the board of a vacancy was concerned, "we were definitely at fault."

"But," she added," we had hoped that our future plans would have crystallized before this." Mrs. Harrison added that the trustees had hoped to have somebody appointed who had some knowledge of building and construction.

On the matter of the high school librarian, Mrs. Harrison related that he has a provisional library certificate and plans to take added courses.

And Mrs. Zimmerman's position has been backed by a resolution.

According to the auditor's report, Mrs. Zimmerman had received advanced copies of juvenile literature for reviewing. She subsequently sold them to the library at half price. When made aware that the law prohibited her from being involved in any contract with the library board, Mrs. Zimmerman made arrangements with a bookstore to handle the transaction.

Whitehall — 'Street Busy'

That Whitehall is busily 'fixing up" its streets can be seen by the accompanying photographs to be the understatement of the year.

At present, crewmen are working on McAllister-av, from Bernard-av to Ross-rd at a construction cost of $16,085; along Pierce, Westphal and Bernards-av, total construction cost $76,864; and a Yearling-rd, from Broad to Main, construction cost $240,000.

As Mayor Walter B. Moling said at the beginning of the year, "we'll be street busy."

It is also evident that the people in Whitehall are getting something for their money. See for yourself.

Defendant Says Mayor Prejudiced

School's not out yet in the trial of nursery school owner Mrs. Kay Woolcott on a charge of disturbing the peace.

Mrs. Woolcott, operator of the ABC Playschool, Tuesday was granted a week's continuance in Whitehall mayor's court, in order to file an affidavit of prejudice against Mayor Walter Moling.

The charge against Mrs. Woolcott stems from an incident June 11 at the school, 126 Pinewood-dr, following which she and a companion, Richard Robinson, 33, of 4038 E. Mound-st, were arrested.

Mrs. Woolcott has said that she and nine other persons, including Robinson, were decorating the school for a graduation exercise that Saturday night and early Sunday.

Robinson, an Auxiliary patrolman in Whitehall, was fined $15 and costs Tuesday but was granted a week's stay pending a motion for a new trial.

Earlier Tuesday Mayor Moling dismissed a charge of spying against Patrolman Jack Ebright for lack of evidence. Mrs. Woolcott filed spying charges against the patrolman and Alfred Molnar, 45, of 138 139 Pinewood-dr, after she was arrested by Ebright.

Molnar was found not guilty after several witnesses testified.

Ethel Banks Rites Held

Services were held Friday for Mrs. Ethel Jones Banks, 71, of 2835 Bexley Park, a prominent member in Columbus women's groups.

She was graduated from Ohio State University in 1910 and was a member of Women's Association, Broad Street Presbyterian Church; Sorosis Club and Jesse March Powell Cancer Ray.

Service was at Schoedinger State Street Chapel, burial at Green Lawn.

She is survived by two sons, a daughter, a brother, two sisters and 10 grandchildren.

Seven Handicapped Area Youngsters At Delaware Camp

Seven handicapped youngsters from the Eastern Review area are now enjoying a two-week period of camping experiences scaled to their special needs thanks to the combined efforts of the Franklin County Society for Crippled Children and the Salvation Army.

John W. Walden, 1377 Clifton-av; Michael Bristle, 723 Robinwood-av; Lois LaTella, 1584 Bryden-rd; Lessann Mack, 1360 Hawthorne-rd; Kathy L. Shook, 1377 Clifton-av; Kathryn Bellis, 4646 Dundee-av and Linda Nutter, 161 Beechcreek-av; are among 59 crippled children enrolled at Greenwood Lake, the Salvation Army Camp located north of Delaware.

Walnut Ridge Gets Gas Line

Work is expected to begin by July 1 on a pipeline construction project to extend natural gas service to the new Walnut Ridge High School, announced Wilbur T. Collins, Columbus, Central District manager for the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. The work will cost more than $14,000 according to Collins.

Construction of over a half-mile of six-inch diameter line will be along Livingston-av from Hamilton-rd westward to the school location on Lattimer-dr. The new school is now under construction and will use gas for space heating, water heating, cooking and incineration.

The line will also provide gas for future residential expansion near the school.

Whitehall — 'Street Busy'

That Whitehall is busily 'fixing up" its streets can be seen by the accompanying photographs to be the understatement of the year.

At present, crewmen are working on McAllister-av. from Bernard-av to Ross-rd at a construction cost of $16,085; along Pierce, Westphal and Bernards-av, total construction cost $76,864; and a Yearling-rd. from Broad to Main, construction cost $240,000.

As Mayor Walter B. Moling said at the beginning of the year, "we'll be street busy."

It is also evident that the people in Whitehall are getting something for their money. See for yourself.

Defendant Says Mayor Prejudiced

School's not out yet in the trial of nursery school owner Mrs. Kay Woolcott on a charge of disturbing the peace.

Mrs. Woolcott, operator of the ABC Playschool, Tuesday was granted a week's continuance in Whitehall mayor's court, in order to file an affidavit of prejudice against Mayor Walter Moling.

The charge against Mrs. Woolcott stems from an incident June 11 at the school, 126 Pinewood-dr, following which she and a companion, Richard Robinson, 33, of 4038 E. Mound-st, were arrested.

Mrs. Woolcott has said that she and nine other persons, including Robinson, were decorating the school for a graduation exercise that Saturday night and early Sunday.

Robinson, an Auxiliary patrolman in Whitehall, was fined $15 and costs Tuesday but was granted a week's stay pending a motion for a new trial.

Earlier Tuesday Mayor Moling dismissed a charge of spying against Patrolman Jack Ebright for lack of evidence. Mrs. Woolcott filed spying charges against the patrolman and Alfred Molnar, 45, of 138 139 Pinewood-dr, after she was arrested by Ebright.

Molnar was found not guilty after several witnesses testified.

Ethel Banks Rites Held

Service was at Schoedinger State Street Chapel, burial at Green Lawn.

She is survived by two sons, a daughter, a brother, two sisters and 10 grandchildren.

Seven Handicapped Area Youngsters At Delaware Camp

Walnut Ridge Gets Gas Line

Work is expected to begin by July 1 on a pipeline construction project to extend natural gas service to the new Walnut Ridge High School, announced Wilbur T. Collins, Columbus, Central District manager for the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. The work will cost more than $14,000 according to Collins.

Construction of over a half-mile of six-inch diameter line will be along Livingston-av from Hamilton-rd westward to the school location on Lattimer-dr. The new school is now under construction and will use gas for space heating, water heating, cooking and incineration.

The line will also provide gas for future residential expansion near the school.

'Holiday Lodge,' New On 10; WLW-C Features Zoo-O-Rama

By Stan Robinson

Camels to cockatoos, moose to monkeys, they all find their place in the sun and a place in front of the Channel 4 cameras Sunday at 12:45 p.m.

Dick Simpson and son, Dennis, are making a weekly trip around the Columbus Zoo meeting the animals and their keepers. People who have made the Zoo not only an entertainment mecca in central Ohio but also an unparalleled educational experience for the whole family, will be seen on this entertaining and informative quarter hour.

Robinson

The WLW-C Public Affairs Department in conjunction with the Columbus Zoo are combining all efforts to present the story of the hundreds of animals housed in the Northwest Columbus attraction.

A BRIGHT NEW COMEDY series on Channel 10 . . . "Holiday Lodge," is the title of a new Sunday night series which moves into the Jack Benny 9:30-10 p.m. period for the summer. Wayne and Shuster, Canadian comics with many guest appearances under their belt in the U.S.A., portray harried social directors of a retreat named "Holiday Lodge."

This comedy team with triple-threat talent including not only humor but also song and dance will add to the other characters such as a comic handyman named Woodrow, the hotel's one-man disaster squad; Dorothy Jackson, desk girl; and J. W. Harrington, the pompous manager of "Holiday Lodge." The first show is this coming Sunday and would seem to shape up as a fast moving half hour to enjoy ever. Sunday while Jack is away, probably counting his money for fall.

SUNSPOTS CAUSE FREAK TV RECEPTION . . . Lately many televiewers, while changing stations, have stumbled upon exotic programs coming in on some of the "unused" TV channels reserved for out-of-town use. Surprised watchers momentarily confused by strange names, places and unlisted shows coming in on the usually vacant channels have asked, "How come?"

According to WLW-C engineers, Bob Kries and Chuck Widney, the uncommon long-distance, daytime TV reception from Texas and the southwest is caused by "sporatic skip" an on-and-off again phenomenon related to auroral displays and sunspot activity.

Oddly enough, the regular 11-year-long sunspot cycle, which was first observed by Chinese astronomers thousands of years ago, has been on the decline since March 1958 when it hit an all-time high. But this year's unusual weather fronts have been spawning abnormal numbers of atmospheric inversions that help duct strong TV signals into our area for the past month.

These usually rare occurences act as a two-way path, carrying the low-band TV channels to such faraway points as Nova Scotia, Cuba, California and to ships in the Gulf of Mexico.

CH. 4 WELCOMES "PIP THE PIPER" to Saturdays . . . 9:30 a.m. "Pip," a fantasy series concerning a wonderland, (Piperland) in the clouds where happy people frolic and musical instruments grow on trees, now joins the NBC-TV and Ch. 4 Saturday morning lineup of Shari Lewis at 10, King Leonardo at 10:30, Fury at 11, and the Lone Ranger at 11:30 a.m. Jack Spear and his wife, Phyllis, creators of the characters will again appear as "Pip" and "Miss Merrynote" along with the regulars.

MANION FORUM ON WVKO RADIO . . . The Manion Forum is now a weekly WVKO feature each Sunday at 12 noon. It is a 15-minute commentary, dedicated solely to conservative, anti-socialistic thought and action. Guest speakers include former President Herbert Hoover and other well-known speakers against communism as it is today. WVKO-FM is also carrying the program.

IN VIEW FOR THE FUTURE . . . "On Your Mark," a new game show for children makes its debut on ABC-TV Saturday morning, Sept. 23 with Sonny Fox as MC. Winning contestants will be given a chance to realize one of their ambitions in life. . . . NBC-TV has confirmed "Car 54, Where Are You?," for its Sunday night roster next fall. It will be the replacement for the Tab Hunter show on the schedule beginning Sept. 17. Nat Hiken, creator of the Phil Silvers Show, "Sgt. Bilko," is the producer of this comedy package built around two New York City policemen.

The Gertrude Berg—Cedric Hardwicke series for CBS-TV has a new title: "Mrs. G. Goes To College." . . . Judy Garland is scheduled to be interviewed on Ch. 4's "Here's Hollywood," Friday at 4:30 p.m., NBC-TV . . . "Margie," a family comedy series about a teen-ager's experience in the roaring 20's will be the lead-in program for "The Untouchables" on ABC-TV's Thursday night slate next fall.

UNDERGROUND STORAGE helps Ohio Fuel serve you better!

Huge, natural rock formations — thousands of feet underground in Ohio — are used by the Ohio Fuel Gas Company to store tremendous volumes of natural gas you need to heat your home in winter. These underground storage areas once contained supplies of "native" gas. This gas was used up several years ago. Now, gas piped to Ohio from Texas and Louisiana is pumped into the underground storage areas during summer. In winter it is withdrawn as needed to heat homes. On cold days as much as 55 per cent of the gas you use may come from storage. Nine out of every 10 Ohio Fuel customers have gas for heating their homes today because of underground storage — another step in Ohio Fuel's constant program of progress to serve you.

THE OHIO FUEL GAS COMPANY

READY . . AIM . . OOPS!

HE NEEDS HELP! . . . no doubt about that . . . and Craig Merideth is just one of the thousands of kids who will find it during the coming summer months in local kids' baseball leagues. In most of these leagues, Craig and his buddies will find spirited booster groups and the kind of competent coaching that turns foul balls into home runs. Sign-ups for most of these programs are in progress now throughout local communities. Staff photos—Ron Pateky.

Hilliard Family Prepares For Coming Horse Show

Competition seems to be the spice of life for the Bailey Bradley family, Amity-rd, Hilliard. All of the Bradleys, with the exception of four-year old Kay, are avid horse exhibitors.

Right now they're preparing for the Mid-Western Horse Show and Rodeo at the Fairgrounds Coliseum from June 30 to July 4.

The family competes in three different classes. Bill and Clark in reining; Coralee and Mary in horsemanship and Dad Bradley, better known as "Stretch" in cutting horse contests.

"Stretch" has been active in saddle clubs and breed associations for a number of years. He is a past president of the Ohio Western Horse Association and has held offices in the Ohio Quarter Horse Association and Palomino Exhibitors Association of Ohio.

He is also a member of the Franklin County Fair Board and the Mid-Western Horse Show and Rodeo.

The children seem to be following in their father's footsteps. All hold memberships in the Triple "T" 4-H Club of Franklin County.

The Mid-Western five-day show will feature halter and performance classes for Appaloosas, Arabians, Morgans, Palominos, quarter horses, western horses and ponies. There will be a generous sprinkling of calf roping and cattle cutting contests, a girls' barrel race and rodeo events in addition.

In keeping with its interest in youth, Mid-Western is devoting the entire performance Monday afternoon, July 3, to the 4-H classes.

Free tickets for children under 12 can be obtained by writing to the show secretary, Marie McDonald, 5847 Sunbury-rd, Gahanna.

Over $10,000 in cash, prizes and trophies will be awarded to winners in the different categories.

More than 700 entries from 22 states will be trying to cop some of the loot.

A unique feature on Saturday afternoon will be a horse auction. A dance in the Youth Center Building is planned for Saturday night.

ONE OF FIVE BRADLEY RIDERS
Family will compete in Mid-Western Show

We Celebrate For Freedom's Best Helper

July 4, 1776 is a most important date in the history of the world.

And July 3, 1886 is another very important date and one that deserves some celebration on this long holiday week-end.

Seventy-five years ago the first typesetting machine was set in operation in the composing room of Horace Greeley's New York Tribune.

This marked the liberation from 400 years of hand-setting of type and gave the gift of wings to the printed word.

It is interesting to note that while we celebrate our liberty on July 4, that the machine that has done more than anything else to aid in perpetuating this liberty was first successfully used on July 3, just 110 years later.

Will You Be Alive On July 5?

A long week-end is coming up.

Everyone has a notion he or she should go somewhere.

And everyone wants to get there in a hurry.

But in the hurry, it is a foregone conclusion, that a lot of lives will be lost.

Nothing is more important than to remember we all want to be alive on July 5.

News Notes From Around About: General Tires will be opening a fine new store on the East Side this week . . . County Auditor Thatcher has sent out an informative bulletin listing 10 reasons why Gov. CRUISE NOTE

Because of commitments on the part of the Hartley Newspapers, 12 noon on Friday, July 7 has been set as the latest time to accept cancellations for the July 16 Great Lakes Pleasure Cruise aboard the S.S. Aquarama from Cleveland to Detroit and return.

Until that time, full refund will be made if cancellation is necessary. No refund can be made after noon on July 7, however.

Remember, chartered Lake Shore buses will leave the Great Western Shopping Center at 4 a.m. sharp the morning of Sunday, July 16. And, if you are driving, keep in mind the time change between Columbus and Cleveland.

U. S. COUNTERSPY PHILBRICK
"Zero Hour For America"

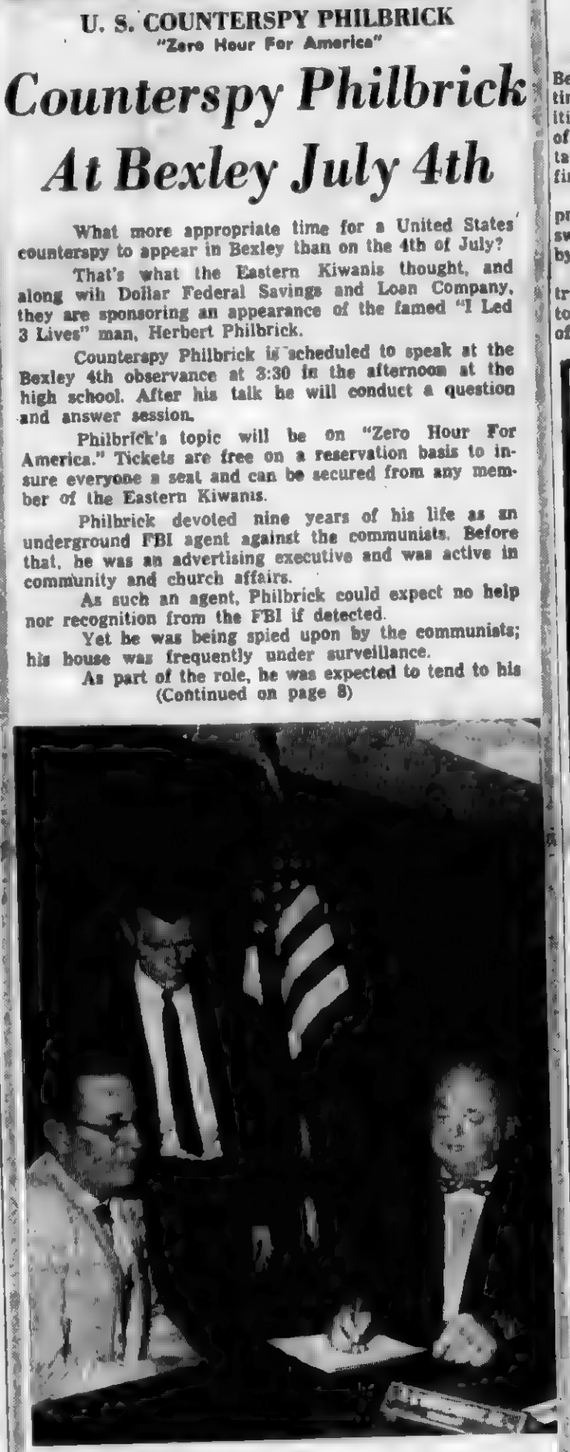
Counterspy Philbrick At Bexley July 4th

What more appropriate time for a United States' counterspy to appear in Bexley than on the 4th of July?

That's what the Eastern Kiwanis thought, and along wih Dollar Federal Savings and Loan Company, they are sponsoring an appearance of the famed "I Led 3 Lives" man, Herbert Philbrick.

Counterspy Philbrick is scheduled to speak at the Bexley 4th observance at 3:30 in the afternoon at the high school. After his talk he will conduct a question and answer session.

Philbrick's topic will be on "Zero Hour For America." Tickets are free on a reservation basis to insure everyone a seat and can be secured from any member of the Eastern Kiwanis.



Philbrick devoted nine years of his life as an underground FBI agent against the communists. Before that, he was an advertising executive and was active in community and church affairs.

As such an agent, Philbrick could expect no help nor recognition from the FBI if detected.

Yet he was being spied upon by the communists; his house was frequently under surveillance.

As part of the role, he was expected to tend to his

Trustees Proffer Rebuttal

Last week, in a list of admonitions directed at the Bexley Library Trustees, the Bexley School Board (1) flayed the trustees for failing to state whether they would continue maintaining the school libraries; (2) declined to enter into a contract charging for library services in the schools because "certain clauses are incompatible with policies and responsibilities of the board"; (3) challenged the qualifications of the present high school librarian.

The trustees met Friday afternoon to decide their stand on the issues involved. And this week:

• Bexley Library Contends That The School Board Should 'Delineate Clearly' Areas Of Authority

By John Poeppelmeyer

It's been a week now that Bexley's Library board has had time to digest the stern admonitions registered by the Board of Education dealing with certain areas where the two boards find themselves in conflict.

This week the trustees have prepared a written set of answers to the issues brought up by the school board.

In a letter dated June 27, the trustees challenged the board to more clearly define the "areas of authority and responsibility of the two boards. The trustees claim they have never been informed as to "which clauses are incompatible."

In answering the statements concerning the future policy of the trustees in relation with its "branch offices" in the schools, the library noted that it was not "our immediate intention to change the existing arrangements for the service to the schools," adding an "if—"if the requested budget is granted."

The president of the trustees, Mrs. W. C. Harrison, has indicated, however, that the library may some day want to make a change in the services, but added hat no such plans are for the "immediate future."

The library has requested that service to the schools, heretofore given free of charge, but amounting to a cost of $30,000 per year to the library, be supplied at the rate of $3 per child.

In its letter, the trustees noted the school board had declined to enter into such a contract, adding "we are sure you understand the possible implications."

The library this year has set the budget at $300,800, according to Mrs. Mary Zimmerman, had librarian.

Of this, she points out, a total of $195,000 only goes for operating funds. Of the rest, she says, $75,000 is allocated for capital improvements and $30,000 for school services.

The same amount, for capital improvements and school services, was included in last year's budget totaling $289,500, Mrs. Zimmerman stated.

As for the proposed contract between the library and the schools, Mrs. Harrison points out "there has never been an authoritative opinion about a need for such a contract. The law has been interpreted in different ways."

The trustees told the board they "appreciated calling attention" to the need to study the qualifications of Richard Smith, the high school librarian, but reminded the board the trustees have the responsibility for the Parking Ban Vote Coming For Bexley?

Into the valley of 600 rode six Bexley councilmen.

That's the number of signatures William Born claims he has been promised to place a council-enacted "alternate days on alternate sides of the streets" parking ban up for a possible referendum this fall.

Born, of 2773 Bellwood-av, told reporters he has 600 names "from all over the city" promised for a petition. Asked if he contemplates putting the issue up for vote, Born replied, "I'm going to try."

Solons unanimously endorsed the parking ban this week after hearing Born's objections to the measure.

Born said he represented citizens in the north section of Bexley. He called the ban "unnecessary therefore unconstitutional." He claimed the group he represents is "strongly opposed to this or any other ordinance of this type."

He charged council with a "breach of faith" by not having a traffic engineer called in for a survey to determine the proper amount of legislation. "We thought council would go along with the stipulation made at that time.

The ordinance calls for prohibiting parking three days of the week on the north and east sides of city streets from 2 to 6 a.m., and on the south and west sides the other three days, Sunday excluded.

Born claims the measure neither expedites traffic nor helps in the removal of snow.

Council President Charles Kurtz, Jr., hastily reviewed minutes of a previous meeting which showed J. Roth Crabbe stating the consulting of a traffic engineer should be considered and Harrison Sayres adding he would "like the idea of getting experts in."

Kurtz refuted Born's statement with "council cannot be held to commitments on such suggestions, and even if council had made commitments, we have the right to change our mind."

Tuesday night, Sayres added it "was and is the intention of council to hire a survey."

"Action taken tonight does not preclude a more thorough survey. We will be guided by an engineer's survey if any changes are necessary.

"Such an ordinance," Sayres went on, "is in effect in other cities. It doesn't provide a hardship on anyone immediately.

"This is a sincere effort to meet a situation and we are ready to add amendments as soon as we can find a better way of approaching it."

Crabbe, who along with Roy Stage submitted the parking ban plan after referring to other ordinances, said his committee had been unable to find a competent engineer. He added that

BEXLEY 4TH — ALL SET!

Trophies For Floats

The Bexley Celebrations Association, unmoved by the threat of a possible injunction, are all set for a gala July 4th fete.

Mayor William Schneider has said some Bexley residents have complained of previous "high flying" aerial bombardments and have indicated they may try to stop the fireworks part of the program.

But the parade plans, the constructing of floats goes on in anticipation of the crowded day of activities in the city. Trophies are being shined and counterspy Herbert Philbrick is coming to town.

Competition is expected to be keen in the float entries for the "best neighborhood" entry, "the best" organizational entry and the "best youth" entry, according to Howard Mauger, BCA president.

The Bexley Lions will present the "best youth" award. First Federal Savings and Loan trophy goes to the "best organizational." Dollar Federal Savings and Loan will hand out the "best neighborhood."

The theme of the day long events is "Democracy in Action." Parade Chairman Chuck Brubaker finds "residents very enthusiastic" and he has promised "several surprises."

The parade is scheduled to get under way at 9:30 in the morning from the Maryland Avenue School.

Paraders will wend their way along Maryland-av. to Roosevelt, to Mound to Cassingham back to the school.

At 10:30 a.m., games at the high school will occupy the youngsters.

At 1 p.m., a film, "The Right Man," will be shown at the high school.

At 3:30, Herbert Philbrick is scheduled to speak at the high sch

From 8 to 9:30 p.m. an evening program and the fireworks agenda will be at the high school.

Garnon Objects To State Contract

Whitehall's Hamilton-rd will be improved, but the 2nd Ward's Robert Garnon has made it known that he is not in favor of the way the contract is being handled.

The city's share of the project, on an 80-20 basis with the state, amounts to $7767, and that is the exact figure inscribed on the contract. Garnon would rather have the percentage designated than the exact amount.

His reasons: he has had dealings with the state before, he claims, and wonders if the city can get a rebate in the event the $7767 figure proves to be too much.

Garnon stated as much, despite assertions by City Attorney James Maxwell that he "could get any overcharge back. We must trust the state highway director that he will not ask for more," Maxwell added.

Maxwell said he doubted if the state would draw on the city money until the actual cost of the improvements is determined.

Engineer John Tilton said the latest estimates he had of the cost amounted to $26,000. The cost to the city also includes 100 per cent of engineering costs.

Ray Shipley said he feels that at $7700, "it's a good deal."

Donald Gorrell admitted the contract was "one-sided," but reminded Garnon that the state had 80 per cent in the deal.

Council then passed a resolution of necessity to assess property owners along Hamilton-rd for a major share of the city's costs.

Company Files For Liability Premiums

Home Indemnity Company has filed suit against Whitehall over premiums established in a general liability policy and City Attorney James Maxwell feels he has a 50-50 chance to win the case.

Council, to an extent, has failed to agree with Maxwell.

The solicitor wants council to authorize his hiring of a special counsel to prepare the case, admitting "I am in a field of which I know very little."

During the year extending from June 30, 1958, to June 30, 1959, Maxwell claims, Home Indemnity charged the city $3426.39 for the policy. Now, it appears the company wants its money plus $375.05 for interest. Walter Helber has refused to pay the amount requested.

Maxwell says at the present time the city has a policy with Nationwide Insurance calling for premiums totaling only $375 per year.

Maxwell says he has talked to Home Indemnity about settling out of court, but he said the company indicated it would not be willing to settle for any less than the amount it demands.

The policy was issued, Maxwell says, at the time that Joseph Ralston was city solicitor. Hutchison Agency, Inc., were agents for the policy, Maxwell points out.

Robert Garnon says the city doesn't have any axe to grind. "I feel we are wrong."

Ray Shipley said he doesn't feel the city has an axe to grind either, but "I'd like to

Boy Scout News

June 24, some 14 former Boy Scouts of Troop 234, Christ Lutheran Church, traveled to Lancaster, where they started a 13-mile hike along the Chief Tarhe Trail.

Sunday, July 2, the Scouts will leave for a one-week stay at Camp Lazarus. Attending will be Jeff Bloom, Fritz Laird, Steve Karr, Robert Karr, Roger Masten, Doug Smith, Dean Bright, John Main and Charles E. Bright, scoutmaster.

Krumm Park From Gloom To Boom

Mayhaps, the Krumm park fireworks situation will be solved.

Last week, Mrs. Herbert Pierce, president of the East Columbus Civic Association, reported things looked gloomy indeed for the 4th observance.

This week, she reports, the gloom may turn to 'boom' after all.

The Paul H. Lawrence Post of the VFW has come to the rescue and has promised to help contact area merchants. Some $250 is needed, according to Mrs. Pierce.

As things stand now, however, the fireworks kitty is bare.

The shooting display is slated to begin at 9:30 p.m. under the auspices of the East Columbus Civic group, following a parade of recognition for local Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts.

Six Boy Scouts will be honored for the part they took in rescuing people when the "Queen of the Lake" went down at Buckeye Lake recently.

The six: George Martz, Larry Moyer, Clark Gerbarent, Bruce Hamler, Albert Reinhart, Mike Folley.

The parade music sounds off at 7 p.m. Scouts are scheduled to move out at 6:45.

At 8 p.m. music featuring the Diehlers takes over for square and round dancing.

Prizes, games and refreshments are also on tap.

A Russian scientist recently dug through 50 feet of ice in Siberia, and found a stable built of roughly - hewn logs, shaped by very crude axes. In it were the frozen bodies of 10 horses, saddled and bridled.

Whitehall Will Open Bond Bids Next Month

Bids for the issuance of bonds for the proposed new school in Whitehall will be opened July 26 at 11 a.m., Superintendent Robert Crabbs has reported.

Crabbs also noted that the school's budget hearing will take place July 11.

In a short agenda this week, the board okayed the purchase of a sorter and counter to handle $300 to $400 in coins taken in each day in the cafeteria.

Crabbs said the board discussion centered on the "possibility" of hiring a school psychologist, but no action was taken.

The board was notified that students in Whitehall schools average a month advanced over the national norm in reading.

High school language instructor, Sue Rian, submitted her resignation. The board employed Sandra Betts as an elementary teacher and Ruby Neylons for elementary art.

So when the Maxwell request came up for a vote, Richard Hyatt, along with Garnon, voted "no." Loren Mason abstained.

Maxwell concluded: "Unless four councilmen approve, I will not hire anybody," and indicated he would be ready to take charge of the case himself.

100 YOUNGSTERS ENJOY YMCA DAY AT BLACKLICK WOODS

The hollering and meanderings of 100 excited and active little boys from Whitehall, Reynoldsburg, Bexley and East Columbus will vacate Blacklick Woods Friday as the first two weeks of YMCA Day Camp come to a close.

For the past 10 week days, six YMCA counselors have found themselves in the middle of a small boy's world which included hikes in the woods (testing their immunity to poison ivy), nature study trips to the woods' zoo (disturbing the noon meal of the cub foxes), crafts (which is a test in sitting still), swimming (and drowning the instructors), and games (beating the instructors at kickball being the prime objective).

Exercising due restraint while atempting to organize and control the hit and miss world of small boys were Dave Goodrich, camp director, John Fields, head counselor and a teacher at Fulton School, Barbara Clark and Jeanne Archer, both seniors at North High School, and Jay Watkins and Don Douglas.

From Blacklick the counselors shift their headquarters to Blendon Woods where a similar program for youngsters in North Columbus will be conducted by the YMCA.

Youngsters participating do not have to be members of the YMCA and a $10 registration fee covers costs which include bus transportation to and from the camp site.

HIKES AND VISITS TO THE PARK ZOO are a daily part of the schedule which keeps nearly 100 boys from Bexley, Whitehall, Reynoldsburg and East Columbus busy. Watching a penned coyote are group leader Don Douglas, Jim Blake, Jim Green, Jack Ragland, Tom Collins, Brian Sinnett, Larry Johnson and Carl Loucer.

KICK BASEBALL is just one of the many games played in the YMCA Day Camp which completed a two-week stay at Blacklick Woods Friday. This frustrated player has just missed the ball during a game between the group leaders and the top kickball players attending the camp.

GOAL SET

St. Vincents Orphans' Fete Set Saturday

There's something different about the St. Vincent's Orphans' Picnic this year.

It's hard to define. Maybe it's because the youngsters are thinking about what has gone on in other years and the good that has been done.

Maybe it's because they are thinking about what will take place this year.

The only factual difference lies in the time of the event. The 80th annual picnic date has been changed to July 1. In previous years the event has taken place on the Fourth.

A goal of $33,000 is being strived for this year by the orphanage.

Last year the picnic provided $29,566 in funds. During 1960 108 children were taken care of by the orphanage at a cost of $2.93 per day per child. Total operating cost amounted to $84,234.

The orphans' picnic is one of the oldest and most widely supported charities for little children.

The orphanage is located at 1490 E. Main-st. at the corner of Main and Kelton. The Saturday festivities are scheduled to last from 11 a.m. to midnight.

Entertainment includes a traveling zoo, amusement rides, pony rides, the Jack Sherick Dancers at 3 p.m. Casper the Camel at 5 p.m., and a variety review at 7 p.m.

A ham dinner will be served from 3 to 8 p.m. at a cost of $1.25 for adults, 75 cents for children. Those attending may bring their own lunch as family picnic grounds and tables are available.

Fifty grand prizes totaling $10,000 will be awarded. Winners of any of the prizes need not be present to win.

Top award will be a 1961 Ford V-8 station wagon; second prize is a 1961 Falcon; third prize is $1,000; fourth prize $500; 10 prizes of $100 each, 15 prizes of $50 each, 21 prizes of $25 each.

St. Vincent cares for homeless youngsters, ages two to 16. Some are separated from their parents temporarily because of sickness, desertion or death of one parent.

These make up the greatest number of those who come to the orphanage and will eventually return to their parents when the family has been rehabilitated.

Other children, separated from their parents permanently are few in number and will be found other homes into which they will be adopted.

Another of man's headaches is this: We have about one acre of decent farm land for each person now living in the world. The population of the entire world is increasing some 100,000 per day (excess of births over deaths) and our productive lands are being taken by factories, roads, homes, and washing away. What will another hundred years bring?

Carl J. Arend

Weir-Arend New Name Of Area Funeral Home

It was announced today by Carroll Weir that the Carroll Weir Funeral Homes will now be named Weir-Arend Funeral Directors. Weir stated that this change was made in recognition of the management and association in the firm of Carl J. Arend.

A life-long citizen of Columbus and a funeral director since 1916, Weir has owned the funeral home at 637 E. Broad-st since 1939. Prior to that he was associated with his uncle, the late Edward E. Fisher, one of the pioneer funeral directors of Columbus whose father founded the business in 1870. In addition to the Broad-st Chapel, the firm now operates a North Chapel at 4221 N. High-st.

Weir is treasurer of the North Broadway Methodist Church, past president of the Downtown Lions Club, past chairman and presently a director of the Franklin County American Red Cross, and a charter member of the Franklin Post 1 of the American Legion. He is also a member of Masonic bodies, Executive Club, the Northern Shrine Club and a director in the Columbus Humane Society.

Arend joined the firm in 1947 after his graduation from Ohio State University. Prior to that he attended Harvard University and served with the 17th Airborne Division in Europe in World War II. Arend attended the Cincinnati College of Funeral Directing and is a licensed funeral director and embalmer.

Arend is a nephew of Ernie Godfrey, football coach and assistant athletic director of Ohio State University. Arend and his wife, Pat, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Weir have one son, Thomas, and have resided in Upper Arlington for the past 11 years.

An active member of the OSU alumni club, Arend is also on the board of trustees of Beta Theta Pi Fraternity at Ohio State and a member of the Beta Theta Pi Central Ohio Alumni Association.

At the present Arend is serving on the board of deacons of First Community Church, is vice-president of the Northwest Kiwanis Club and a member of the Upper Arlington Civic Association, past president of Tri-Village Shrine Club, Young Business Men's Club, and the University Club.

'Vive Les Foreign Femmes!'

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

I fell in love Tuesday with 19 charming girls. But, our relationship was purely platonic—mostly, patriotic.

Along with Hartley Newspaper photographer Bernie Karsko, I met a busload of international students enroute from Pittsburgh, Pa.

We were told the students are touring the United States. They spent six months attending schools in Pittsburgh. The bus-load included 35 students—19 girls and 16 boys representing 22 countries.

"Some how, I have trouble believing how wondeful and big your country is," Miss Gabriella Baldini from Italy said. "Everything is so beautiful here."

"Are you fellows from the newspaper," a young lady from Brazil said. Her name tag read "Miss Maria Victoria DeMesquita e Bomfim."

"Yes," we answered.

"Everyone's making such a fuss over us in this country. We find it hard to believe that everyone's so kind and willing to help," she said.

"What about homesickness, though," we asked.

"No time for that," said Beatriz L. Leal-Ozan from Argentina. "There's too much to do to really think of home. Our minds are mostly on learning to speak your language."

"There's so much to do and learn," stated Daoud M.L. El-Zik from Egypt. The lad said that they had to learn to eat differently (most of them had never eat sandwiches) and change their dating habits.

The students are co-sponsored on their tour by Altrusa, Eastern Kiwanis, Northwest Kiwanis, Sor-optimist, Southern Kiwanis, Whitehall Lions and Quota Clubs here in Columbus.

Miss Baldini, who is technically from Forli, Italy, was, perhaps, most impressed with this Capital City.

And, she had good reason to be. One of her own countrymen, Christopher, founded this land and is the namesake of the city. She insisted on seeing the large statue of Chris Columbus in the City Hall court yard.

A LITTLE BIT of Italy took a long look at one of her countrymen Tuesday. Pretty Miss Gabriella Baldini, 18, from Forli, Italy, is in Columbus this week with a group of international students. The group is being hosted by the Franklin County Chapter of the American Red Cross Society. Here, Gabiella is looking up at Chris Columbus in the City Hall courtyard. Old Chris is, of course, from Genoa—and that's not too far from the lovely lass' home.

The following families hosted the international guests:

Miss Leal-Ozan from Argentina is staying with Mr. and Mrs. Sexton, 386 Main-st, Groveport. Miss Henrike Mayerhofer from Vienna is staying with Mr. and Mrs. William T. Gillis, 26 Nottingham-av.

Jacques G. Gosselain, Hainaut, Belgium, is staying with Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Moody, 2460 Dover-rd. Victoria De Mesquita e Bomfim is with Dr. and Mrs. Ollie M. Goodloe, 2532 Brookwood-rd.

Jaime J. Grandados-Giralt, from Costa Rica, is staying with Mr. and Mrs. Bertrand Japikse, 2363 Bexley Park. Jane Nielsen, from Lyngb, Denmark, is staying with Joe Morrow, 250 Bexford-pl.

Marja-Liisa Ristola, Helsinki, Finland, is staying with Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Davies, 2398 Berwick-blvd. Renee Martinez de Poso, from Pyrences, France, is staying with Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Thomas, 3854 Hillview dr.

Francoise D. Sapede, from France is staying with Mrs. Paul D. Frost, 175 Webster Park-av. Odile Thevenin, also from France, is living with Mr. and Mrs. Moore, 23 E. Hutchinson-av, Worthington.

Juergen K. W. Braune, Bavarm, Germany, is with Mr. and Mrs Robert Self, 130 S. Cassady-rd Bernd Peukert, Trier-Mosel, Germany, is staying with Mr. and Mrs. Osborne Fuller, 4914 Olentangy-blvd

Hans J. Reuther, Duesseldorf, Germany, is with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jones, 2061 Ellington-rd. Bettina Schmidt - Ehrenberg, Frankfurt, Germany, is with Mrs. George Manning, 2178 Yorkshire-rd

Manfred Schulz, North-Rhine-Westfalia, Germany, is staying with Mr. and Mrs. James Johnson, 964 S. Warren-av. Virginia Economou, of Athens, is with Mrs. L. Chapdelaine, 795 Kim-

BEXLEY CHEERLEADERS: ALL-AMERICAN—ALL WAYS

By John Poeppelmeyer

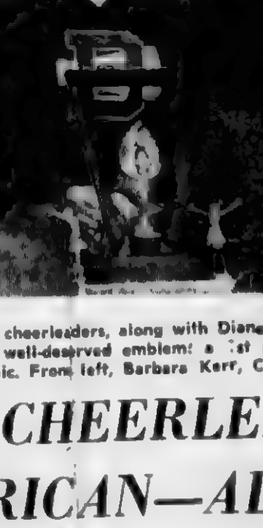
That good lookin' gal on the front page is jumping for a reason — and the reason bespeaks good for the entire community of Bexley.

The gal is head cheerleader Pat Miller. She along with five of her cheerleading "buddies" came in for top notch performances at an All - American cheerleading camp near East Lansing, Mich., last week.

Not only did the Bexley "yell" contingent come up with a handsome 1st place trophy as a team, their first time at this particular camp, but Pat won individual honors as the top cheerleader out of 174 others from over the country.

Pat's teammates consisted of Diane Kearns, of 2430 Brentwood-av; Barbara Kerr, of 739 S. Cassingham; Claire Baas, of 2747 Bryden-rd; Dody Schwartz, of 967 S. Cassingham; Sue Helmick, of 845 Pleasant Ridge-av. Pat resides at 371 S. Gould-rd.

The standards under which the trophies were rated, however, did not come from direct competition from other groups. The ratings were based on spirit, leadership, cooperation, and fitness. The judging took place under informal conditions.



One of the Bexlevites noted they were watched even "while eating soup."

Of the 174 at the camp, Pat said, only one was a boy.

This is Pat's rendition of the trip:

"We left the morning of June 18 by Greyhound, had a stopover in Toledo, arrived at the camp around 4 that afternoon and unpacked.

"We were housed at Cromaine lodge along with 75 other girls. We got to bed at 10:30 and arose the next morning and each succeeding morning at 6:45 for flag raising ceremonies."

PAT'S TROPHY
"The Lion Is King"

During the day the Bexley cheerleaders dressed uniformly, either all red or all blue outfits. Pat says Bexley was the only group to do so and feels this was a prime consideration in the judging.

At camp "we learned new cheers, tumbled around on a trampoline and took part in mass cheerleading which stressed rhythm in yelling."

Sample cheer:

"The lion is the king of the jungle. The Bexley Lion will never stumble . . ." with the appropriate sounds of clapping.

They were also expected to exchange cheers with other schools.

For the judging, Pat feels they were watched for "efforts to learn new cheers, enjoyment, helping other schools, accepting criticism, making friends, participating in camp activities."

She admits she felt as if "Big Brother were watching," but adds "our girls would have done as well if nobody had been checking." Proud and triumphant the Bexley girls arrived home.

But the conquest, if it can be called that, of these six Bexley girls is a symbol not only of their stamina and dedication, but it could also be said the same thing holds true for the youngsters and teen-agers of the community-at-large.

Rambelaires To Play At Park Of Roses

The Rambelaires, Dixieland combo, from Whitehall, will play July 4 at the Park of Roses.

This group has been in existence for about a year. It is composed of Bill Flowers, director and trombonist; twins Don and Ron Smathers on clarinet and drums respectively; Dan Clark on the bass, Wes Orr with the trumpet (a state-wide contest winner for several years) and Sylvia Orr at the piano.

Bexley—

Mauger says he is not worried about an injunction, noting that a recent BCA survey in the vicinity of the high school showed 58 out of 64 residents were in favor of the fireworks display.

Mayor Schneider has mentioned however, that those who have threatened to file an injunction could wait until the last possible moment, and by the time a hearing could be arranged, the 4th of July would be over.

But as of this moment, Bexley is preparing for a joyous 4th, in the grand and glorious tradition.

HOWARD MAUGER, president of the Bexley Celebrations Association, stands by the display of trophies to be awarded for the best floats during the Bexley 4th of July observance. From left, Bexley Lions' "best youth" trophy First Federal's "best organizational" trophy Dollar Federal's "best neighborhood" trophy.

Paul and Vic Hairdressers say:

Speaking of Beauty

VIC PAUL
A FRIZZ — OR A FRAZZLE?
Lately a lady said to me, "I stopped going to the beauty shop 15 years ago . . . my hair got so frizzy." We couldn't help smiling behind our brushes. There was nothing "frizzy" about her hair — but it certainly looked lank, limpid and unloved! During the years she had struggled to be a "home handywoman," she had missed all the marvelous improvements in the world of beauty—and she looked it.
WE'LL SET YOU STRAIGHT
Today, the only lady who leaves our salon with too-curly is the woman who asked us to give her an extra-tight permanent wave! Lots of women request lots-of-curl—and that's their privilege. We feature waves to please every personal taste and every personal budget! But a young-at-heart lady who requests "just the barest bend of curl" can have it—"permanently!" Her finished hairdo will never whisper that its natural-looking lines weren't born in. Yet, damp from its heavenly salon shampoo, that same magic wave is a sea of curls!
FROM UNDER THE DRYER:
Nobody gets their toes stepped on—unless they're standing still.

Father Of The Bride Officiates At Lange-Vogt Wedding June 24

Christ Lutheran Church was the scene of the marriage ceremony of Miss Marilyn Lange, daughter of the church's pastor, and Mr. Richard Vogt, June 24.

Rev. Charles Lange and Rev. Richard Sutter officiated at the 3:30 p.m. service.

The bride is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Lange, 2325 Sherwood-rd, and her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Berthold Vogt of St. Clair Shores, Mich.

The bride chose for her marriage a princess gown of white peau de soie over silk organza designed with a bell-shaped skirt and wide, elbow-length sleeves.

Her tiered veil was caught to a peau de soie crown accented with a bow in back, and she carried a cascade of white Easter lilies.

Miss Barbara Carlson served as maid of honor and Mrs. Aaron Best of Chicago, as bridesmatron.

They wore identical gowns of tree green silk and carried bouquets of white feathered carnations gathered with white bows.

"I don't think a prior discussion on conducting a survey should be labeled a commitment," he added.

Council also moved to prohibit parking on public and private property but noted that the area must be posted with proper signs designating the prohibition.

When the resurfacing of Broad-st begins July 25, parking will be banned from 7 to 9 a.m on the north side of the street, and from 4 to 6 p.m. along the south side.

Council entered into a contract with the state highway department for the resurfacing at a cost to the city of $6790, plus the cost of rearranging utilities.

When he was able to go home, he spent more hours hidden in his attic filling in detailed reports to the FBI.

With the exception of the FBI, his wife was the only other person who knew of his activities.

There were times, Philbrick said, when he feared the "sheer power of the party leaders with whom I worked would break my will, and I would actually become a communist."

Based upon his experience, he warns that "anyone, no matter how innocent, can unwittingly become a dupe of the communists."

Philbrick gradually rose in the Party ranks until he was made a member of the top group that matermind-ed communist strategy in the area of Boston.

Philbrick now owns and operates a country store in New Hampshire.

Hyatt Bid Hits Wall Of Stone

Whitehall's First Ward Councilman Richard Hyatt ran into a stone wall when he requested an appraisal on property occupied by the Whitehall Garage and surrounding area "to determine a fair market value."

The opposition came in the form of his fellow councilmen — and money. Council failed to elicit a direct "yes" or "no" on the proposal from Service Director Robert Mickey.

Mickey did say the cost of an appraisal would come to around "$200 to $300."

Hyatt stated, however, he thought the time was now, to look around for a location for maintenance equipment, although it may not be necessary to acquire one for another year.

City Attorney James Maxwell told council that they have obligated themselves to the point where possible deficit financing might occur. "There is a need to tighten the city purse strings."

"We are," Maxwell commented, "rapidly approaching the maximum amount of money the city can borrow without a vote levy;" $645,000 is the maximum the city can borrow, Maxwell said.

Present and future city commitments, Maxwell outlined, include $150,000 for the improvement of Yearling-rd; $300,000 for a new city hall; the extension of Etna-rd and improvements along Collingwood-av

"First," he added, "let's find out where we stand before we pledge ourselves to any future capital improvement."

The Hyatt resolution was given a first reading only by council

Honor Old Glory on Independence Day—July 4

Display The Flag Proudly . . . and Properly
In these critical times when the future of our nation—our way of life—is in jeopardy, all of us should show our patriotism by displaying our national emblem—the Stars and Stripes. When displayed either horizontally or vertically against a wall, the union should be uppermost and to the observer's left. When displayed in a window, the flag should be displayed in the same way; that is, with the union, or blue field, to the left of the observer in the street.

WARNING CONCERNING COPYRIGHT RESTRICTIONS

The copyright law of the United States (Title 17, United States Code) governs the making of photocopies or other reproductions of copyrighted material.

Under certain conditions specified in the law, libraries and archives are authorized to furnish a photocopy or other reproduction. One of these specified conditions is that the photocopy or reproduction is not to be "used for any purpose other than private study, scholarship, or research." If a user makes a request for, or later uses, a photocopy or reproduction for purposes in excess of "fair use," that user may be liable for copyright infringement.

This institution reserves the right to refuse to accept a copying order if, in its judgment, fulfillment of the order would involve violation of copyright law.

Materials within the collections of The Ohio Historical Society may be subject to the Federal Copyright Law. The Society permits use and copying of such materials only to the extent authorized by Sections 107 and 108 of the Federal Copyright Law. Any person or organization making, ordering or using a copy of such materials from the collections of The Ohio Historical Society warrants to The Society that his, her or its use of such copy is authorized by the Federal Copyright Law.
